

TRACY IMITATOR, WITH HIS RIFLE, EVADES POSSES

Armed Stranger Demands Food of Farmer, While Of- ficers Scour Neighborhood for Bill Byrd, Murderer.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Spokane, Wash., June 10.—That Bill Byrd, desperado, already with the price of double murder to pay, perhaps a third, an imitator of Tracy, expects with a rifle, coolness and cunning to escape scores of armed searchers who are bounding his trail is evident today.

While dogs and posses serving this morning picked up the slayer's trail southeast of Spokane, a swarthy stranger answering in detail the murderer's description, calmly entered a farmer's kitchen near the village of Mica and demanded breakfast.

Though the stranger was seen to secret a rifle beneath a fallen log at the edge of an undergrowth several rods from the house, the farmer and his wife complied with the demands, entertaining the stranger as he ate, not daring to raise alarm or take possession of the hidden gun. The stranger thanked the farmer cordially for his hospitality, recovered the rifle and disappeared in the underbrush of the ravine. The sheriff's office was notified and deputies hastened in the direction, fourteen miles southeast of Spokane, in answering the slayer's description and carrying a repeating rifle was seen by Henry Dewitt slinking across the latter's farm three miles east of Chester at 3 o'clock yesterday. At the sight of Dewitt the man disappeared among nearby trees. Sheriff Stone, is personally acquainted with Byrd, was directing the search of the posse in the immediate vicinity at the time.

Justice of the Peace Meisner, of Dishman, who was shot down while following the slayer after the double murder, is very low today.

EFFORT TO GET SALOON RENEWED AT SCAPPOOSE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Houlton, Or., June 10.—A question that is interesting Columbia county and vicinity, is now occupying the attention of the county court at St. Helens. G. B. Milloy of Scappoose, an unincorporated town of this county, has petitioned the county court for a license to sell liquor in less quantity than one gallon, and secured over 200 names to his petition. Milloy is in the general merchandise business in Scappoose. The prohibition element, headed by Watts and Price, local rival merchants, circulated a petition of remonstrance, and secured the names of 58 voters. The court has spent two days in deciding the status of the petitioners, as qualified voters of Scappoose precinct. There are names on the remonstrance that also appear on the petition for a saloon and it has been a hammer and tongs exhibition on the part of the opposing attorneys in endeavoring to eliminate the names of signers. This is the fourth petition this year on the part of different Scappoose parties, who have endeavored to place that town on the liquor circuit.

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY WILL EXTEND FIELD OF STUDY

Representative of Pioneer In- stitution Tours Northwest Telling of Work Done.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Pacific University, Forest Grove, Or., June 10.—Special efforts are being made by the authorities of Pacific University in extension work. William M. Proctor, who has recently come to Pacific to fill the chair of Biblical Literature has been giving the greater portion of his time to work in the high schools of Washington and Oregon. He has spoken before student assemblies of 12 of the leading high schools as a means of making the college better known. Honor scholarships have been offered to the graduates holding the highest standing in their respective classes. Through this offer gratifying responses are evident. Not only the high school authorities but the students who have received scholarships are showing more than ordinary interest in the work done by the college.

Practically all of the present faculty will retain their places. Additions will be made, a fact that will assure an increase in the number of instructors for the coming year. In the public speaking department, Professor Harrington has arranged several new courses, one in the study of oratorical composition as distinguished from the essay; another will be a more advanced course in drama. The intercollegiate debating schedule for next year will be increased by at least two more debates. A dual debate with the University of Idaho has been arranged and an effort will be made to take up debating relations with the universities of Oregon, Washington and Montana. Pacific holds an enviable reputation in debating, having defeated the University of Idaho in two debates this year, as well as Whitman college, Willamette university and the Oregon Agricultural college last year.

The university hall in Seattle was carried over by furnishing student orators from the advanced classes for county gatherings of various kinds. Another course in the science department, a study of comparative anatomy, as an advanced course in zoology will be offered. The university hall in Seattle has enjoyed a most successful year. Additional assistants have been added for next year to care for the increase at Forest Grove as well as at the branch studio which is to be established at Hillsboro this summer. The annual contest will be held in the hall in September and the contest will be open to piano, violin and vocal students who have not previously studied at Pacific. The first prize will entitle the winner to tuition in piano, vocal, or violin department for one year, college or academy tuition for one year, board and room at Hick hall at one-half rates for one year. The second prize will consist of college tuition and tuition with an assistant in any of the three departments for one year.

ATTEMPT MADE TO BURN FACTORY, IS BELIEF

What is believed to have been an attempt at arson, or else the result of the work of an incendiary, was discovered this morning by Patrolman Sig Myers at 248 Waidler street, in a fruit preserving factory conducted by W. P. Ripley. While passing the store this morning, Myers saw a gas jet burning with a blaze about 10 inches high, gradually licking up against the wall which would have caused fire in a very few moments had not the patrolman arrived when he did.

After shutting off the jet, Myers called Ed Goddard, of 291 Cherry street, who owns the property, and H. L. Malnes, who sleeps in the front part of the building.

No one could explain how the jet had been left burning, but all indications point to the fact that it was deliberate. A gas extension hose that had been connected with the jet and ran to a pipe had been pulled off and thrown on the floor. No damage was done.

He was about to milk the bovine when she split him from his stool with a well directed kick in the side with such force that the third and fourth ribs were broken. He was brought to Centralla for treatment. The action of the cow surprises her owner, as she has hitherto borne an exemplary name for gentleness as well as generous milk yielding.

WAPPENSTEIN JURY LIKELY TO DISAGREE

Lengthy Deliberation Has Not Resulted in Verdict in the Seattle Case.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, Wash., June 10.—The belief is general here that the jury in the Wappenstein case will be unable to agree. The members have been trying to arrive at a verdict since 10:45 yesterday morning.

Judge Main left word that he would receive a verdict up to midnight yesterday, and while the jurors knew that they would have to spend the night without sleep if agreement be not reached, they gave no indication of arriving at a verdict.

The public has been excluded from the court room adjoining the jury room and only a favored few are permitted by the bailiffs to remain within several feet of the place where the 12 men are deliberating as to what fate to mete out to C. W. Wappenstein, ex-police chief. At times their voices could be heard in animated discussion. Occasionally they would burst out in loud laughter. The noise would then subside, another ballot would be taken and another disagreement found.

A rumor is current that two of the jurors are holding out for acquittal against the other ten, who stand for conviction.

It is pointed out that the jury had been selected in quicker time than was expected and that the defense had accepted the jury while it still had three peremptory challenges. The state had used all of its challenges.

Not once did the jury come out for further instructions, nor have they intimated thus far that they cannot agree.

BOOKS FOR TOWNS AT STATE LIBRARY

Collection on Municipal Gov- ernment Has Just Been Added.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., June 10.—By the addition of a number of volumes on municipal government, the state public library has been materially strengthened. The most important volume just received is "Municipal Franchises," written by Deane F. Wilcox, Ph.D., and containing a thorough discussion of the nature and significance of public utility franchises.

State Librarian Cornelia Marvin is putting the new books in place. It is the policy of the state library to acquire books according to a set plan, not promiscuously as in general public libraries. For instance, all available reference material on one subject is obtained before books in another field are purchased. The books received this week on municipal government practically complete the library on that subject.

Recently the state library collected a valuable list of books on modern methods of conducting Sunday schools. These books may be borrowed by any town in the state. Miss Marvin reports that the Sunday school library has been a parade on the streets this afternoon at the library on municipal government will be of great value all over the state.

BEAUCHEUX GIRL BELIEVED STOLEN

Japanese Says Lady Friend Was Kidnaped by Chinese Slave Dealer.

The Portland detective department, the local district attorney's office, the United States immigration office, and the police of San Francisco have been enlisted in a search for Miss Tamara Beauchoux, a beautiful Japanese girl, who has been stolen away from her sister, Mrs. Y. Aoki of 43 North Second street, by a Chinese slave dealer, and is now on her way to San Francisco with him where she will be sold into slavery, it is said.

The Chinaman and the Japanese girl left Portland on the early morning San Francisco train yesterday and with the girl is a purse containing, it is believed, $500 belonging to the Japanese girl's sister.

John E. Kishima, a prominent Japanese of the city, living at 48 Fourth street, this morning learned the story of the kidnaping of his beautiful friend by the slave dealer to Deputy District Attorney Page, who, unable to act on the case in the kidnaping feature of it, issued a warrant for the arrest of Miss Kiyooka on a charge of larceny and immediately had the warrant for her arrest telegraphed to Chief of Police Seymour of San Francisco, requesting that she be held until further action could be taken on the case.

Mr. Kishima was then directed to the United States immigration office where he will tell the details of the kidnaping to the chief of the department.

Not once did the department succeed in recovering the girl and prosecuting the woman.

The slave dealer is known to have been actively engaged in traffic with both white and yellow women and has a reputation all along the coast. He is a looking man, about 35 years of age, style in the American fashion, and is well supplied with money.

Miss Kiyooka is about 24 years of age and has been in this country about four years. She is very fair and can hardly be distinguished from a white woman. Her beauty has been a great asset to the American slave dealer.

Mr. Kishima is frantic about the girl. "The Chinaman will take her into a basement of a China house and keep her there for 10 years," he said. "She is so beautiful that she will bring a fortune to the man who takes her to China-town like that ever comes back."

CALIFORNIA WILL SEND EXCURSIONS TO ASTORIA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
San Francisco, Cal., June 10.—San Francisco will send excursion trains to the Astoria centennial and special rates will apply on the Southern Pacific from all points in California. Stopover privileges at Portland will be granted under usual restrictions. This assures for the centennial a large representation from all the wide territory south of the Willamette valley.

Frank L. Brown, chairman of the San Francisco 1915 fair publicity committee, enthusiastically pledges support of his organization. A special meeting of the good people of California, whatever you may do to help us will be more than repaid by this state when we are called upon to assist in carrying to a successful conclusion the Panama-Pacific exposition.

FIRE BRINGS DAMAGE AMOUNTING TO $10,000

The third fire within three days occurred last night at 10 o'clock when a defective flue in a bake shop on the third floor of the King building at Fifth and Stark streets started a blaze that resulted in approximately $10,000 damage, divided between the Flow and Soule Piano company, the Peerless cafe and the Sealy-Lowell Grocery company, which conducted the bakery shop.

The loss by fire will not exceed $500, but the damage by water is responsible for the balance of the loss. To avoid a panic in the Pantages theatre, which is just back of the burned building, the management announced that an accident had occurred which would prevent the last act, and before anyone in the theatre was advised of the fire the building was emptied.

Many roomers in the Perkins hotel, which adjoins the King building, fled with their belongings and did not return until after the fire was under control.

On the night before, the O-W. E. & N. company freight sheds burned, and the day before that a fire destroyed the Hanover apartments on King and Washington streets.

HIGHLAND MINE UNDER EXAMINATION FOR SALE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Baker, Or., June 10.—Miners from the Highland mine say three mining engineers have been at the property several days making preparations for an extensive examination, one of them stating that within a few days they would have a corps of men at work, which inquiry might result in the largest mine transaction, except one, that of the Rainbow, in eastern Oregon in years. Those at work at the property are secretive as to what company is behind them. The Highland is one of the most widely known properties in the state, and was exploited extensively in the wildcat days, when very little development was done, most of the same being on paper. About two years ago it was taken over by the Highland Gold Mines company, of which Robert R. McLaughlin is manager, and under development on a businesslike basis has produced lots of ore. John Arthur, mining engineer of this city, has been consulting engineer for the property since it came into the hands of the present owners.

SEYMOUR TANGLE IS KNOTTED ANEW

Police Commissioner, Acting Under Court's Decision, Adds to Snarl.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, June 10.—Acting under the decision of the state supreme court in the case of the San Francisco school commissioners holding that the mayor could not oust members of any city commission without formal charges and trial, Alfred D. Cutler, police commissioner, appointed by Mayor Taylor, today tied another knot in the tangle of San Francisco's police affairs.

When the police board met this morning for the stated purpose of hearing charges against Chief Seymour, notice was served by attorneys representing Cutler demanding a seat on the board. Cutler was removed by Mayor McCarthy January 27, a short time after he had been inducted into office. Cutler holds this office in light of yesterday's decision, was illegal and ineffective, and that his commission signed by Mayor Taylor is still in force.

The trial of Chief Seymour was not held. The injunction against the board taking up the case is still in effect. The commissioners instead listened to the Cutler demands and then decided to adjourn until Monday.

Still another twist was given the police case when Superior Judge Sewell announced that during the day he would sign a modified writ of prohibition against the commissioners, permitting them to name an acting chief. Since the new writ will not permit them to suspend Seymour, however, it seemed certain that before night San Francisco would have two legally appointed heads of the police department.

WEIGHING FRAUDS BEFORE COMMITTEE

District Attorney Wise Tells Investigators Full Penalty Should Be Given.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, June 10.—Admitting that the full penalty should have been inflicted in the sugar trust weighing fraud cases, Federal Attorney Wise of New York discussed the sugar prosecutions before the house committee on expenditures in the department of justice.

"The policy of the government," he said, "in those cases was fixed before I became district attorney. I do not wish to reflect upon anyone, but I may say that I have exacted my pound of flesh in every instance in which I have been concerned."

Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, former United States district attorney in New York, preceded Wise. He said that H. O. Havensmeyer had undoubtedly known of the frauds, and if he had lived would have been indicted and convicted.

GARRARD DENIES RACE FEELING

Makes Reply to President's Charges That He Discrim- inated Against Hebrew.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, June 10.—Denying any anti-Jewish sentiment and asserting that the papers in the case of Frank Bloom had been stolen from Fort Myer, Colonel Joseph Garrard, commandant, reprimanded by President Taft because of his comment on the case, today defended himself. The reprimand was based on statements by Garrard delivered when he reported adversely on Bloom's application for permission to take examinations to secure an army commission.

Garrard said today that the regulations required expressions of opinion in cases like Bloom's, and that he merely believed that his application for permission to take examinations should not be granted.

"Taft could do nothing else but make the public reprimand," said Garrard. "I do not resent the president's attitude, based on the statements by Garrard, and I am in the same position and prefer to say nothing."

Garrard asserted he had never expressed any objection to Jews as a class.

SEATTLE BANKS BEGIN MAKING FREER LOANS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, Wash., June 10.—Deposits in Seattle banks increased nearly $1,500,000 and loans gained about the same proportion between March 7 and June 7, according to statements made in response to a call from the comptroller of the currency and the state bank examiner. A large increase in loans was anticipated as the banks are loaning more freely in response to the active demand for money.

The Seattle National deposits increased three months from $14,478,461 to $14,783,150 and this institution now has the largest deposits in its history and the largest of any local bank.

WHOLE CREW IN FIGHT WITH INSANE STOWAWAY

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, June 10.—After a terrific battle the crew of the steam schooner Gualala today overpowered Charles Long, a stevedore, found hiding on board. One of the crew grappled with him and was almost overpowered when other sailors came to his assistance. It took a seven deckhands to subdue Long. A second battle occurred when officers came to take the demented man ashore. He is held at the detention hospital.

CHIHUAHUA CITY FACES OUTBREAK

Federals' Refusal to Permit Rebels to Enter May Bring Hostilities.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Mexico City, June 10.—Appeals were received by the war department today from the commander of the federal garrison and city authorities at Chihuahua, asking that steps be taken immediately to effect an adjustment of the difficulties which have arisen there and which threaten to cause a renewal of hostilities.

General Orozco, with 5000 of his soldiers, is camped outside the city and threatens to attack the federal unless permission is granted him to lead his men into the city. The reason given by the federal commander for excluding Orozco's men is the fear that if they are allowed to enter the city with their arms, they may take advantage of the occasion to settle some old scores against certain individuals and interests.

The situation at Chihuahua is represented to be extremely critical and the federal authorities here are urged to take immediate action to prevent threatened clashes.

A strike of miners has been in progress there for some time and while no details of the riot have been received, it is supposed that the strikers clashed with the police.

OLD MINNEAPOLIS MAN GETS SEATTLE FIRE JOB

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, Wash., June 10.—Frank L. Stetson, formerly chief of the Minneapolis fire department, gets charge of the local department, succeeding John H. Boyle, dismissed six weeks ago. Mayor Dilling determined to find a capable man to reorganize the department and enforce discipline. Satisfied he would be unable to find such a man in the Seattle department, he began negotiations with outsiders.

Stetson has been a resident of Seattle several years, having left Minneapolis in 1890. He is 45 years old, single, and a choice finally lay between him and W. D. Freeman, assistant secretary of the board of public works, but the latter has been offered the position of executive secretary of the fire department. Stetson was in the Minneapolis department 15 years, retirement being due to political intrigue. He announces he will be chief in fact and will eliminate politics and reorganize to the best of his ability. The position came unsolicited and the appointment gives general satisfaction.
