While gay Rose Festival crowds have been thronging the streets the Congregationalists of the Pacific coast are holding one of the most successful conventions of their history at First Congregational church where Dr. Luther R. Dyott is pastor.

First Unitarian church—Rev. H. C. Mason, Rev. L. D. Rathbone.

This is the first time the Pacific Coast Congregational congress has ever met in Portland. The leading Congregationalists of the United States and a number of well known missionaries from abroad are in attendance.

A mass meeting will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Heilig theatre under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association. Dr. Henry E. Atkinson, one of the leading Congregational pulpit orators of the United States, will be the principal speaker, his subject, "Church and Labor." Music is to be furnished by the Y. M. C. A. quartet. Concerning Rev. Mr. Atkinson a recent publication contained the following:

"With southern parentage, western boyhood, eastern training, a broad and liberal education and a cosmopolitan culture, it was only natural that Mr. Atkinson's reputation should speedily outrun local boundaries.

Mr. Atkinson believes that brotherhood is the fundamental fact of life, that the development of antagonistic classes in American life is to be deplored. In his personal relations with men he has gone a long way toward bringing together the representatives of capital and labor in the cities where he has lived. He has maintained the friendship and support of those who employ and he has been welcomed as the champion of the rights of those who toil. He has a genius for friendship. He belongs to the new civilization of brotherly men."

When he left Springfield, Ohio, for Atlanta, the Trades and Labor Assembly sent ahead to their associates in Atlanta news of Mr. Atkinson's coming. The Journal of Labor in Atlanta records the attitude of its readers in that event:

"The Journal of Labor is proud to record the fact that there are many men occupying the pulpits of the churches whom we are free to call friends; men who know and feel the heart throbs of the people; men who, though not always agreeing with labor in all of its demands, recognize that behind it all is a yearning for a better and higher life.

"In this connection we are glad to announce the coming of the Rev. Henry A. Atkinson from Springfield, Ohio, where he has had charge of the First Congregational church."

The following clipping from the Springfield Morning Sun bears testimony to the love and esteem in which he was held by organized labor in that city:

"A committee consisting of T. J. Creager, William Dase and George McKenna was appointed by the Trades and Labor Assembly last night to draft a testimonial for the Rev. Henry A. Atkinson, of the First Congregational church, to be presented to him before he leaves the city.

"Rev. Atkinson has won his way into the respect and esteem of the laboring men of the city by his fairness on all public questions, and they are taking this means of showing their appreciation of his friendship. The testimonial will be something that any man may be proud of, especially since it will bear the indorsement of 2000 workingmen."

Many public organizations and churches are continuing the celebration of the tercentenary of the King James version of the English Bible through the summer and autumn. Sunday schools throughout the country are finding the story of the tercentenary most stimulating and helpful in their work. A service for use in the Sunday schools commemorating the three hundredth anniversary of the King James version of the Holy Bible, with music and various exercises, has been prepared by the American Bible society, which will be provided for all tercentenary Sunday school gatherings in the country at the mere cost of the printing of the same.

PROMOTER MUST EXPLAIN PART IN REVOLUTION

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, June 10.—Richard Ferris, amusement promoter and actor who recently turned down an offer to become permanent president of the "Republic of Lower California" is "in bad" today with Attorney General Wickersham. The attorney general wants to know to just what extent Ferris has been forwarding the movement of establishing an independent republic there, and Ferris has been served with a subpena to tell the grand jury all he knows about the movement.

The government fears that Ferris may have violated a few neutrality laws, and it wants further information concerning an advertisement Ferris inserted in various newspapers calling for 1000 armed men to aid in the work of taking Lower California from Mexico. Ferris must tell all he knows about the movement to the grand jury. He will be questioned by a United States District attorney. In a statement today Ferris said that the government will not be able to prove anything against him.
