

GIVE ORDERS TO EJECT ALLEGED RAILROAD FAKER

"C. W. Clark" Flashes $380 Check and Is Lavish With His Gifts of Cigars—Mysterious One May Have Help

C. W. Clark, who for 16 days has been posing as chief traveling mechanic for the Baldwin Locomotive works of Philadelphia, and who has visited all the round houses in the city and has informed the foremen that soon he would go to work setting up some new engines is still carrying on the deception despite the announcement in The Journal two days ago that he is a faker. Yesterday morning Clark called on Master Mechanic Berg at the North Pacific terminal yards and asked him to lunch with him. Mr. Berg, knowing him to be a fraud, accompanied him merely for the novelty of the situation. Before the meal was finished, however, Clark produced a check for $380 on a La Grande, Or., bank with the signature of an electric light company of La Grande affixed. He did not ask Berg to endorse the check, but stated that he stopped over at La Grande on his way to Portland from Philadelphia and after doing a little work for the electric company he was given that check—for the trifling sum of $380.

Lavish With Cigars. During the conversation with Berg while at luncheon Clark handed Berg a handful of cigars. "Take 'em," he said. "I have a pocket full which were given me at the banquet last night. After the banquet I went up to the club and drank four bottles of wine and got more cigars," he said.

"What club?" inquired Berg. "Why, the American club," replied Clark. Although Berg knew there was no club of that name in the city, he refrained from saying anything as he wanted Assistant Superintendent Graham to meet him. Later when Mr. Graham came to the round house in response to a telephone message from an employee, Clark hurried away and has not been seen since.

A visit to Clark's room at a lodging house on Russell street by A. William Hinger, the Baldwin Locomotive works representative at Portland, and a Journal reporter yesterday, disclosed the fact that the man is entirely without baggage and that he owes for a week's lodging. Nothing was found in his room but two empty bottles of brandy, a pair of underwear and some cigarette stubs.

The landlady said the man was frequently called to the telephone and that she had occasionally overheard his conversation. Many times, she said, he was apparently being called to the round houses to look over an engine or to explain the workings of an intricate piece of machinery. But since the foremen at all the round houses have been warned that Clark is a faker, it is believed that the man has a confederate who calls him on the telephone in order to aid him in duping the lodgers at his rooming house.

"Mrs. Wilson" who was supposed to have left the city and drunk from Mr. Hinger and others that Clark was a faker, is now believed to be in the city. She gave her name as "Mrs. Minnie Parrish," and later as "Mrs. Collins." However, the landlady at Clark's rooming house, believes that the name "Mrs. Parrish" is the correct one and that the woman and Clark first met at Wichita, Kan., about three years ago, and that both are playing a game of some kind. The landlady apparently has some knowledge which she will not divulge at present, although it is believed that she knows nothing of Clark. She seems to be well acquainted with the Parrish woman, however.

Master Mechanic Stout of the Terminal company, while employed on the Oregon Short Line in Idaho, says he met Clark about nine years ago at Glenns Ferry, Idaho. Clark was then a machinist. He says Clark explained that he had risen from the ranks to his present position with the Baldwin people.

Master Mechanic Stout at the Albina yards yesterday gave instructions to his foremen to eject Clark from the premises if he came to visit round houses. Similar instructions have been issued to the foremen of other yards in the city.

Clark has no cards, his clothing is shabby and his appearance not at all reassuring. It was believed for a time that he is insane, but the bringing to light of the $380 check has caused the railroad men to change their minds. So far as known, however, he has not defrauded anyone out of money.

SEEKING INFORMATION LOWREY FINDS JAIL

While William G. Lowrey was asking for directions in the court house this morning he inquired of Detective Hellyer where he could find the police court. "My name is Hellyer," said the detective. "May I ask yours? I am on my way there now."

"Lowrey is mine," replied the man. "Oh, fine," said Hellyer. "Just come with me, the chief of police wants to see you about that little affair back in Carthage, Ill., where you are wanted for bamboozling a woman out of $5,000." "Well, what do you know about that," said the prisoner, "and me asking a 'fry' where the station was?" Sheriff McAdams, of Carthage, wired to Portland last Monday, asking that Lowrey be arrested. This morning Lowrey declared that he met the woman at Hot Springs, Ark., and she became infatuated with him. "She had $17,000 and just made me a present of $5,000," he said. "But no more talking for me until I get a 'mouthpiece'."

32D DEGREE WILL BE CONFERRED ON CLASS

An interesting address was made at the Scottish Rite Cathedral this morning by E. G. Jones on "The Higher Philosophy of Scottish Rite Degrees."

At 11 o'clock the thirty-second degree will be conferred under the direction of F. S. Malcolm, at the head of Scottish Rite Masonry in Oregon, and L. G. Clarke of the local consistory. Mr. Malcolm will make the address of welcome to the class, which will be responded to by Judge William M. Calk. After the degree has been conferred, an elaborate banquet will be served at the banquet hall of the Cathedral.

It is expected that more than 500 Scottish Rite Masons will attend the presentation of the thirty-second degree on the class of 1912. Nearly all the members of this class have petitioned for admittance to the Shrine on Saturday night, when the Shriner will initiate a large class. The Cathedral class numbers 23.

The officers chosen last evening are: W. H. Hobson, president; Stanton, H. S. Dudley, vice president; Medford; T. W. Alexander, secretary; Portland; Judge William M. Calk, class orator; Portland; E. G. Jones, honorary member, Portland.

CIRCULAR ISSUED ON DOUGLAS FIR

Growth and Management of Trees Discussed by Forest Service.

"The Growth and Management of Douglas Fir in the Pacific Northwest" is the title of a circular just issued by the forest service, which will be of live interest to the lumbermen and timber land owners of western Washington and Oregon. This is one of the first publications of the government which deals solely with a forest problem of the Pacific northwest, and it goes at the very most important topic of the region, namely, how to manage Douglas fir timber land so as to get a second crop. The publication is the result of a thorough study of virgin forests, "second growth" stands and logged off lands of the foothills of the Cascades of western Washington and Oregon, made by foresters from the Portland office of the forest service, in which 1807 trees were analyzed and over 250 sample acres measured.

The circular presents in its 27 pages tables showing the rate of growth of this tree and the yield of "second growth" stands. Some of the figures show a yield that will be surprising to those who do not realize the wonderfully rapid growth that Douglas fir attains in western Oregon and Washington. The table shows that the average tree from 10 to 20 years old grows 48 inches in diameter and 2.58 feet in height each year and that when it is 50 years old it is adding to its volume 12 board feet a year and that when it is 140 years old it is adding 19 board feet each year. The table showing the yield of average stands of "second growth" shows an equally astonishing result. One hundred year old timber has 79,000 feet per acre, which is equivalent to a growth of 800 board feet of merchantable timber on that acre every year.

U. S. SWATS INDIANS' AFFINITY MARRIAGE

Brig Jim and Sarah Weeks are the first of the Klamath tribe of Indians to suffer because of the divorce ideas of the white man. In the United States district court this morning Judge Bean sentenced each to 30 days in jail and directed the interpreter to explain to them that an affinity existence would no longer be tolerated when they return to the reservation.

Brig and Sarah received the sentence with stolid bearing and said not a word. Previously each had made known a preference for a fine rather than a jail sentence. Brig Jim said he would rather sell his cattle and pay a fine than go to jail, and Sarah, who has many cattle, also preferred to pay the penalty in money. But the Indian agent recommended a short jail sentence as the most effective means of telling the Indians that Uncle Sam is in earnest in this reform wave.

BOY CAUGHT STEALING BOTTLES IS ARRESTED

Shirley Shields, a 17-year-old boy, was arrested this morning by Patrolman Hennessey while in the act of stealing bottles from a display case in the front of a saloon at 144 Second street. He admitted that he broke into a show case at the Dekum building and stole beer valued at $30 earlier in the evening. Harry Thomas, alias Harry Tracy, his room mate at the Stratton hotel, was also brought to the station, and when questioned admitted stealing a flash light several days ago. He is held on a larceny charge.

Sound lumber, 25 years old, has been proved by a German government test to be materially stronger than new stock.

VISITORS TO GUNBOAT WILL BE ENTERTAINED

Showing its appreciation of the honor the United States government has conferred on the Oregon naval militia by entrusting the gunboat Boston to the care of Captain J. Speler, commanding officer of the organization, the city council this morning voted an appropriation of $150 to be used by Captain Speler for the purpose of entertaining visitors to the gunboat before it leaves Puget sound and after its arrival in Astoria after having been navigated to that port without the aid of government officials.

The Boston will be manned exclusively by officers and men of the Oregon militia. This is the first time that the federal government has permitted a state militia to bring a federal man of war from its dock to the home waters of the militia.

Berger Makes First Speech. Washington, June 14.—Victor Berger the Wisconsin Socialist in the house, today made his first oratorical effort, speaking on the Underwood wool schedule bill. He pledged his support to the measure as one that tended "to destroy tariff superstition." He denounced the protective tariff as a fallacy saying: "At any time the tariff will erupt. Fearful retribution will overtake the capitalistic class as a class and the innocent will suffer with the guilty."

At Grinnell College. Grinnell, Iowa, June 14.—Commencement exercises of Grinnell college were held this morning. United States Senator William S. Kenyon delivered the class address and President John H. T. Main conferred the degrees on the graduates.

Druggists at Tampa. Tampa, Fla., June 14.—The annual meeting of the Florida Retail Druggists' association began in this city today, with headquarters at the Tampa Bay hotel. Many leading members of the trade throughout the state are in attendance.

Meeting of Nurserymen. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

St. Louis, Mo., June 14.—Several hundred men who conduct nurseries for baby trees in various parts of the United States and Canada, are attending the annual meeting of the American Association of Nurserymen, which assembled in this city today.

Honor Memory of Payne. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Schenectady, N. Y., June 14.—A memorial gateway in honor of John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home," was unveiled today upon the campus of Union college, where he spent his student days a little more than 100 years ago.

Beginning of Protection. The first official convention attendance favoring protection to American industries was contained in the platform on which Andrew Jackson ran for president in 1823.

INDEED A GREAT STORE

We might fairly put our heading in quotation marks—the phrase has been uttered so often by visitors here as well as by the customers of experience. If this store is great—as we believe it to be—its greatness is surely the result of no accident. SERVICE has made it great—nothing else. Service in price, service in quality, service in style, service in credit—all these have combined to make this establishment what it is. Yet one thing more—not only is this store a store of service—it is a store of GROWTH. Established 1866. Carefulness, reliability, candor and courtesy are the four posts of this business. The public is well safeguarded in such a store. If anything is chosen wrong, redress is easy. No transaction is made at POWERS' beyond unmaking.
