

APPLE OUTLOOK IS 50 PER CENT FOR LOCAL TERRITORY

Northwestern Fruit Exchange Issues Report on Growing Crop for Pacific Northwest and the East.

- 1911 Apple Prospects.
Hood River—50 to 60 per cent of 1910.
Rogue River—40 to 50 per cent
of 1910.
Milton-Freewater—35 to 50 per cent.
Wenatchee—Same as 1910.
Yakima—50 to 60 per cent of 1910.
Southwestern Idaho—Heavier than 1910.
Virginia—50 to 65 per cent.

The Northwestern Fruit Exchange gives the following report of apple crop conditions:

Since the date of our last bulletin, No. 24, issued June 5, no changes of special importance have been reported to the exchange. Statements in regard to the crops east of the Missouri river are conflicting in many ways, but the general tone confirms the previously reiterated advice that the yield in those districts will be much larger than has been harvested for a number of years. Many sections in the east have been visited with abundant rains which have helped strengthen the situation.
On the whole, the rains have been of exceptional value at this time, following the extremely hot weather and severe droughts. The June drop will be much heavier than was expected, while a number of localities report blasting of some varieties. It seems certain that New York and Michigan, at least, will have bumper yields, especially in the fall varieties. The Virginia promise a very fair crop, although smaller than that of 1910.

Information from New York state under date of the 10th shows heavier dropping than is considered desirable in some localities, while others report bleeding, but on the average conditions indicate an exceedingly large volume of tonnage.

Michigan reports are of the same general character. In some districts the summer varieties will be heavier proportionately than the fall apples, but the latter will of themselves exceed the product of the last several years.

Virginia reports are recent and comprehensive. The Shenandoah valley and eastern panhandle of West Virginia promise crops of unusually fine quality, but on the whole the quantity will hardly exceed 40 or 50 per cent of last year's harvest. The shortage is attributed to the late late frost, and the excessive drought lasting three weeks. The drip has also been abnormally heavy.
The falling off in the older orchards, which bore heavily last year, will be offset, to a large extent, by the great abundance of young orchards just coming into bearing. The Shenandoah valley was visited by severe hail, lightning and wind storms on June 6, the effect of which could not be determined at the time of our advice. Whatever damage was resulted in the southern parts of the valley may be equalized by the benefit of rain fall in the northern sections. The crops of 1910 in seven counties in the Shenandoah valley aggregated 1,000,000 barrels, or the equivalent of 5000 carloads.

No additional reports have been received from Colorado.

MILLS BUYING WOOL

The anxiety of mills to secure wool is causing a firmer tone locally and a further advance of 1/4c a pound is quoted in the price of Willamette valley offerings. Top is 17c a pound. Eastern Oregon rules are high as 14c.
A sale of 8000 pounds of wool is reported at Tacoma to Theodore Bernheim & Co., of this city.
