PASTOR, KNEELING IN PRAYER, DIES

Bend, Or., Minister's Hands Yet in Reverent Pose When Found.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Bend, Or., June 14.—Kneeling in prayer beside his bed, Rev. J. Anthony Mitchell, a Presbyterian minister, died suddenly some time Wednesday morning of acute chronic dyspepsia and heart failure. The body was found several hours later with hands still clasped in a reverential attitude. Though death came peacefully, life had been a surging battle with Rev. Mr. Mitchell. At 17 he enlisted as a soldier in the Civil war and was with Sherman in his famous marches. Five years ago he came to Bend and took up a homestead. His wife and children refused to leave Los Angeles and join him, and at the last commissioners' court at Prineville he was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion. He was 54 years old, and the oldest of his five living children is 18.

Shot in Leg, Saved by Woman.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Bend, Or., June 14.—Thirty-five miles out on the desert from Bend with a 22 caliber pistol ball in his leg, William Everett, a homesteader, formerly of Seattle, feared Monday morning for his life, but today he is in the hospital here on the road to recovery. He was saved largely by the foresight of a woman.

When the man, accidentally shot by a pistol with which he had fired at a jackrabbit, reached the Milligan ranch in a wagon, Mrs. Ada B. Milligan saw that he needed quick attention. It was 28 miles to town and 18 miles to the nearest telephone, and she immediately dispatched a horseman to the telephone to summon an auto from Bend. Record time was made by both courier and automobile, and Everett was being cared for in the hospital a few hours after being shot.

EUGENE-CORVALLIS SURVEY RENEWED

Line Believed Permanent One for P. E. & E. Electric Railway.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Eugene, Or., June 15.—What is said to be the permanent survey for the proposed electric railway between Eugene and Corvallis is being made by a corps of engineers in the employ of the Portland, Eugene & Eastern Railway company. The surveyors arrived from Portland yesterday and left immediately for the outskirts of the city, where the survey was begun, following the preliminary survey made by the company's engineers last summer. The survey extends out West Eleventh street to the city limits, thence in a westerly direction to a point five miles out, turning north and proceeding in an straight line as possible to Monroe, where the Corvallis & Alsea railway is met. This line, which has been bought and paid for by this company, will be used as a link in the through line and will be electrified.

Part of way for a good part of the distance between the two cities has been secured, the deeds specifying that construction work must begin before September 1, 1912, or the deeds become null and void.

WESTRUMITE PEOPLE SEE BREAKERS AHEAD

St. John's city recorder, F. A. Rice, was served with a summons yesterday to appear in court to show why an injunction should not be issued against the city preventing the laying of Westrumite paving on Jersey street, the main thoroughfare of the town. Several property owners who desire other pavement laid have filed suit against the city of St. John's. They have received the idea that the Westrumite is not quite up to the standard of other companies and as the plans are for paving nearly a mile of street, they seem desirous to secure competition.

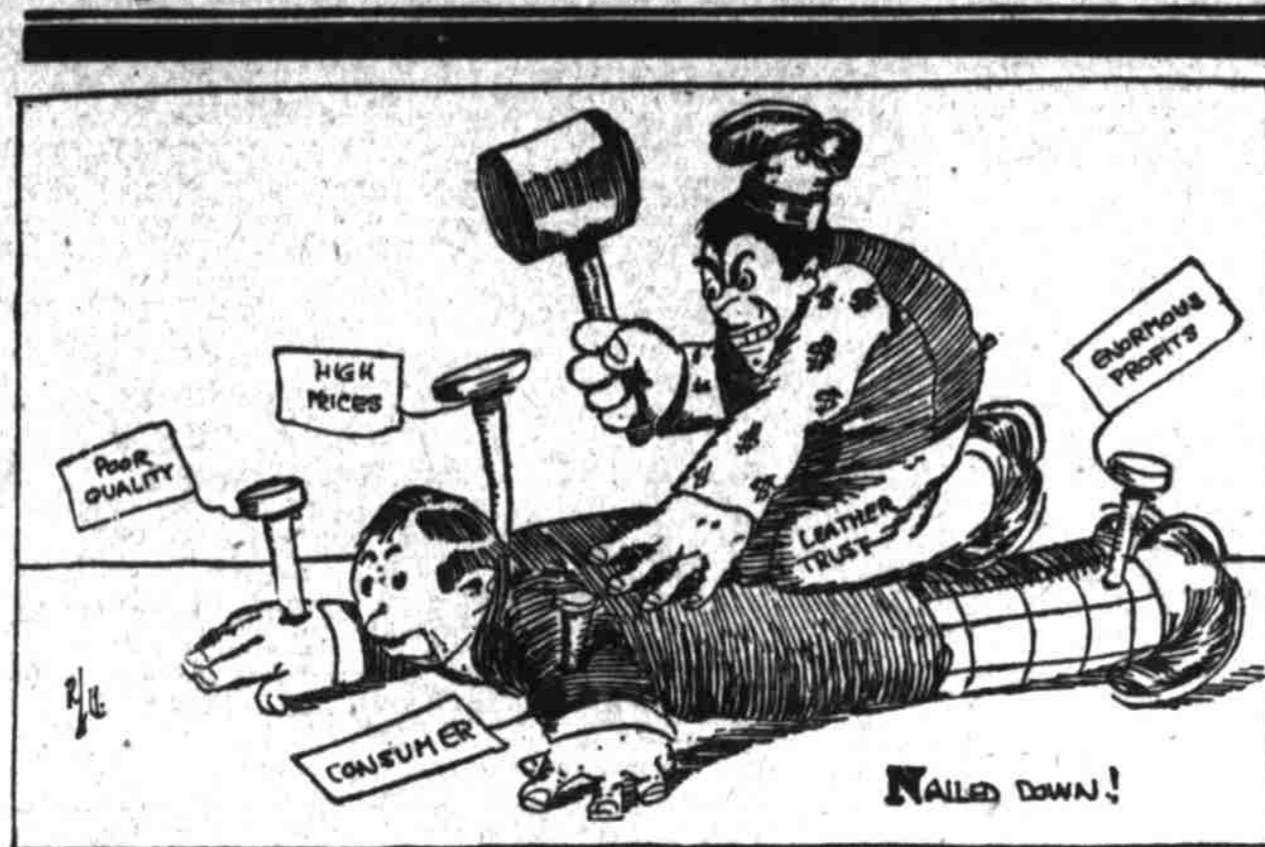

The contract was given to the Pacific Coast Westrumite, a new paving concern, which recently completed its factory at Kenton. This company had promised the city that its pavement would be the first of its kind laid west of the Rocky Mountains, but now it looks as if the city may have to let the contract to some other company, as the Westrumite people have been enjoined by Warren Brothers, who contend that Westrumite pavement infringes upon their patents. The case will be heard in the circuit court on June 24.

CINDERS FALLING ONTO HER BED TELL WOMAN HER HOUSE IS ON FIRE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Poede of Horse Heaven, living six miles south of here, realized the house was on fire. Mrs. Poede was at home alone with her baby, and rushed from the house with clothing smoking. She escaped harm herself, but the house and contents were totally destroyed.
