

COURT WILL HEAR ABOUT LIFE INSIDE OF SEE'S TEMPLE

High Priestess of Cult Will Testify Concerning the Horrible Life of Girls Under Faker's Malign Influence.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, June 17.—When the trial of Evelyn Arthur See, charged with abducting and contributing to the delinquency of Mildred Bridges, 17, a high priestess of his "absolute life" cult, resumed Monday, it is expected that life in the "house of the Lord," See's temple, will be described from the standpoint of one of the girls who lived there, horrified.

Assistant State's Attorney Burnham said today that one of the women who had been high priestess in the cult had agreed to testify. Whether this was Mildred Bridges, Mona Rees or some other girl, Burnham would not say. The fact, however, that it had been announced that the two girls had refused to testify against See has aroused the belief that the girl who will take the stand is some other connected with the case and whose name has not yet been given out.

Confessions to Be Used. Burnham said today that the confessions made by the Rees and Bridges girls to the police when the "junior commonwealth" was raided and See was found living with them will be introduced and it is expected that the defense may put the girls on the stand to repudiate the statements.

It is believed that this effort on the part of the defense will be blocked by the action of Judge Honora, who has decided to put the girls on as witnesses for the court. The court will himself conduct the direct examination, bringing out any points that he thinks the jurors should hear. The court's witnesses will then be subject to cross examination, both by the defense and the state, but the cross examination will be confined to the points covered in the direct examination.

Girl's Father to Testify. Stephen Bridges, a wealthy jeweler, Mildred's father, once a follower of See, will be the first witness for the state. Bridges has sued See for $200,000 damages for the alienation of his wife's affections and for the abduction of his daughter. Mrs. Bridges, Mildred's mother, knew of and sanctioned the girl's connection with the "junior commonwealth."

Mildred Bridges is now under the care of the juvenile court. Mona Rees, a strikingly beautiful woman of 24, has been conducting the "commonwealth" since See's arrest. In his opening address Assistant State's Attorney Burnham excoriated See as a "religion and high ethical philosophy."

See had debauched and debased little girls placed in his keeping. He declared that Mildred Bridges had been delivered into See's keeping when only 15 years of age, by her mother, who knew of the purpose for which the child was sent to the "junior commonwealth," but was so completely under See's sway that she thought the action proper. After Burnham had completed his statement, court was adjourned until Monday.

CALLS ROOSEVELT NAMES

"In that trial the state has rights as well as the accused. Colonel Roosevelt was unmindful of his own claims to reputation for standing for the square deal when he rushed, unsoftened, to the defense of suspected and indicted dynamiters by doubting—no whether they committed the act charged, for he had a right to do so—but by doubting whether any dynamiting of the Times had been done by anybody; for that is what his 'I' means.

Kowtows to Labor Vote. "Of course Colonel Roosevelt must be aware of the fact that he does not even begin to state fairly the true attitude of the editor of the Times or the Times newspaper on the subjects in dispute. His clearly apparent effort to appeal to popular prejudice by aligning the Times with the interests—with capital as against labor, is worthy of him and wholly indefensible.

His latest position on the union labor question as announced in the last issue of The Outlook is that of unconditional and abject submission to those monopolies. He sits at the feet of Gompers, casts adoring glances at him and kowtows to the labor vote, which is a delusion, a sham and a bogie man which no brave man need fear.

Colonel Roosevelt, disappointed politician and virtuous vaunter, is steadily reversing and reversing himself downward."

Improvements at Hot Lake.

Despite the fact that various newspapers and news associations throughout the west have attempted by the use of printer's ink to close the Hot Lake sanatorium, the place continues to be in business at the old stand, and improvements are constantly being made.

At present a force of men is engaged in laying a new steel six inch water main from the Hot Lake sanatorium plant to the 13,000 gallon cement reservoir, and engineers are doing the location work for the construction of a gravity water system. This means that several large springs which for years have been allowed to go unharmed, will be brought to the sanatorium and made to furnish water for the institution.

Another mineral spring is also being connected with the main building, and a handsome fountain will be installed in the beautiful office lobby.

Business at the Hot Lake sanatorium never ceased for one moment. No receiver was appointed, neither is there any possibility of Hot Lake sanatorium closing its doors. Patients will receive the same kindly care and attention in the future as in the past, and Hot Lake will continue to relieve suffering humanity.

COOS COUNTY GOES TO WISCONSIN CAPITAL

More Than 3500 Acres in Coos County Bought for About $200,000.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Marshfield, Or., June 17.—The Menasha Woodensaw company of Menasha, Wis., has bought the property here of the Oregon Coal & Navigation company of San Francisco. The announcement has not been officially made public but it is known that the deal has positively been made.

The Oregon Coal & Navigation company is owned by Goodall & Perkins of San Francisco and is one of the biggest holdings in this city. The company operated the steamer M. F. Plant from the city to San Francisco but recently sold the boat. The holdings now consist of about 3500 acres of land, which join Marshfield and extend to Libby, where the company owns a coal mine. The mine was closed down recently, as the property was offered for sale.

Much of the land is valuable as outlying city property and a great deal of it is underlain with coal. On parts of the land are about 15,000,000 feet of timber. It is said that the price paid was between $170,000 and $200,000. This is the largest deal that has been made here for a long time and when it becomes known locally will have a highly stimulating effect as it has been hoped that the property would fall into the hands of a railroad or some large firm that would develop it.

BOY BANDIT, NOVEL HERO

28. In May, 1907, I was sent from San Francisco to Ione and in nine months I escaped and was caught in San Francisco on a burglary charge and sent to Ione for one month, then back to San Francisco for trial. I was given one year in Folsom by Judge Cabaniss and came out February 25, 1910.

"I picked up with Henry Babar, a life term from Folsom and we were both arrested for a robbery in San Francisco in February. I was given a life sentence in Folsom from Judge Dunne. I was paroled April 24, 1910.

Worked for Months. "I worked every day for seven months at Greenwood. I was in San Francisco and at the Burgess ranch at Walnut creek, for several weeks. I worked in Los Angeles at different places. I left Los Angeles and went to San Bernardino. I went from there to Bakersfield. The second night I was there I tried to hold up a saloon in Kern. This was the twenty-first or twenty-second of May and the next night I went to the East side bar, intending to hold up that place, but changed my mind. On May 27 or 28, I masked and held up a crowd in the East Side bar and got about $30.

Then went to Fresno about the first of June. I stayed there three days. The next night I tried to hold up a car, but was interrupted, and I held up a man and woman at the school house at the end of the car line and got $4. Then I went to Stockton. Was Fought Off. "I held up the Toll-house about one mile outside of Stockton and started to hold up a car, but was fought off by the car crew. I held up the Sunny South bar twice about one week between the hold ups and got $120 the first and $10 the second time. I held up a saloon over on the car line the night before the second of July. I held up a car at the end of the McKinley Park line," he said. "The next day I took a Rambler bicycle. That night I went into Sacramento and held up a car at the race track. I then rode to Stockton in about seven hours. I had shipped the wheel that night and went to a saloon in Stockton to hold it up, but the bartender took a shot at me and I did not get anything. I then went to the Sunny South saloon and held it up and got $8 or $9. I left Stockton and went to Livermore. "This was a week ago Saturday. I held up a saloon and shot a man with my revolver. I then went to Walnut Creek and stayed at the Rogers hotel. I went to Concord the next day. I didn't do a trick there. I then went to Martinez and held up a saloon near the depot but did not get any money. I got a watch. This was my last trick.

Lost His Pistols. "I went direct to Fort Costa and to Benicia getting there about 1 o'clock in the morning. I got to bed and left for Vallejo about 11 o'clock the next morning. I went to Vallejo to do a trick, but when I lost my pistols I decided to quit."

Neighbors will be held at Fairfield until all the evidence is possible gathered. He will probably be turned over to the officers of Sacramento. Attorney Raines told him he should be ashamed of himself for holding up the man and woman in Sacramento. As Raines was leaving the jail he called him back and said: "I tell you, mister, I am sorry I held up that man and woman in Sacramento."

PHYSICIAN-MAYOR JAILED

that Dumas was the leader of and planned all the crimes committed. Last night the officers, lying in wait, caught two yegmen in the act of blowing up the safe in the postoffice at Puposky. The yeggs fought desperately and one of them, Martin Behan, was seriously wounded and captured. He was brought to Bemidji on a special train. The other was wounded but escaped and today is being trailed by bloodhounds.

Learns of Plot. A week ago officers learned of a plot to dynamite the Puposky postoffice safe and burn the building. They waited last night until the men began the work, then closed in upon them. Simultaneously they raided Mayor Dumas' office and assert today that they found nitroglycerine, fuses, drills, marked maps, magazine pistols, Colt revolvers and incriminating letters.

Detective Fielding asserts that on the special train today Behan confessed and told of plots involving Dumas and extending back over a year. The confession, Fielding says, told of a post-office robbery at Shevlin, Minn., two months ago, where one of the robbers, said to be E. B. Le Claire, stood off a sheriff's posse. Le Claire is now reported to be in Boulder, Mont.

CHARGED WITH SHOOTING MILLIONAIRE

Miss Lillian Graham, who is being held by the New York police for the shooting of the millionaire hotel man, W. E. D. Stokes, in the apartments of herself and Miss Ethel Conrad, who is also being detained. Stokes declares the young women attempted to blackmail him of $25,000 and that, when he refused to give them the money, they fired upon him. Their version of the affair is that he attacked them and they shot in self defense.

lay over in Ashland today. Grimes for The Journal described the affair as follows: "Two men entered the car at Drain, just as the train was pulling out, and covered the three clerks with revolvers, one of the robbers having one gun and the other two. We threw up our hands, and the pair went through the mail, taking eight registered pouches. Of these one was for Medford and the others were California points. One sack destined for Los Angeles was covered by empty equipment and was overlooked by the robbers. The pouches were all through ones and we have no knowledge of the number of packages or character of the contents. Some were half full or over and others had less in them.

"The robbers pulled the emergency air at Yoncalla, a small Douglas county town at which the train does not stop, and when speed slackened, escaped in the darkness. They were not masked. One was 27 or 28 years old, of medium height, probably 5 feet 8 inches, of slender build and wearing dark, rough clothes. Both were smooth shaven and both had dark hair. One wore a dark cap, the other a dark slouch felt hat and both had their headgear drawn low to hide their faces as much as possible.

MAIL CLERK'S UNTRUTH DITCHES ROBBERS MILES FROM SPOT THEY WANT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Roseburg, Or., June 17.—The mail car of the south bound Shasta Limited, the Southern Pacific's flat and exclusive train, was entered by robbers and two registered mail pouches stolen about 11 o'clock last night, as the train was running between Drain and Yoncalla. The robbers entered a party opened door of the mail car at Drain. Neither was masked. One of them kept the mail clerks covered with a gun while they secured two registered mail pouches.

They evidently intended to leave the train in the isolated Rice Hill section, as one of them asked when the train went up Rice Hill. The clerk told them they were going up it then, so the robbers then ordered him to "pull the plug" and stop the train. He did so, letting them off a short distance north of Yoncalla, instead of Rice Hill, or about five miles this side of Rice Hill.

The sheriff and a deputy left for the scene on a light engine shortly after the crime and now several posses are searching the surrounding country. It is thought the men took to the hills west of Yoncalla. A farmer, living about three miles south of Yoncalla, discovered two men asleep in his barn about 4 o'clock this morning as he went to feed the horses. They dressed and left. He did not know of the robbery then, but suspects they might be the men.

SHASTA PAIR THOUGHT TO BE PLUNDERERS OF DRAIN GENERAL STORE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Drain, Or., June 17.—A south bound Shasta Limited pulled out at 11 o'clock last night, two men boarded the mail car, held up the mail clerks at the point of a gun and escaped from the train near Yoncalla with two sacks of registered mail. The bandits had told the mail clerks to let them off at Rice

PAINT STORE LOSS ABOUT $15,000 BY FIRE EARLY TODAY

Pioneer Paint Dealers Lose Entire Stock and Building Is Badly Damaged; Fire Likely From Combustion.

The entire stock of F. E. Beach & Co., a pioneer paint company, was destroyed and the two story building occupied at 100 Front street, near Stark, was gutted by a disastrous fire which occurred at 5 o'clock this morning. The building will be rebuilt at once. The fire started in the rear of the store and had gained considerable headway before being discovered by Special Officer Childers, who hurried to report to the fire station on Second street adjoining the police station. Streams were soon turned on the blaze, including one from the fireboat.

The inflammable nature of the stock of oils and paints made the blaze stubborn and it was not until the store was practically destroyed that the fire was finally conquered. The stock was valued at about $15,000 and was insured for half its value. The building was owned by Mrs. Frank C. Savage and was said to be the first brick erected in Portland.

While the origin of the fire is unknown, Mr. Beach believes it to be due to spontaneous combustion, resulting from the drying up of paint-soaked cloths. Adjoining buildings were but slightly damaged.

BLOODHOUNDS ON TRAIL

establish where the bloody deed came from that was found on the Willabus road near the Delk house the morning of the killing of the four Hills and, second, the course taken by the man who has frightened Ardenwald people and attacked a farm hand Thursday morning.

It had been sixty hours since the man attacked Gus Orlist, the hand on the Dyle place, but McDermott and Bradford are certain their dogs will pick up the trail through the woods across the road from the Dyle house. The dogs hold a record for following a trail 192 hours after a man had escaped, and of having captured him. They are said to have worked successfully on numerous occasions where a trail was four days old.

Dogs Well Known. The two dogs taken out this afternoon were brought to Spokane from San Antonio, Texas, by Harry Draper, eight years ago. They figured sensationally in the Steunenberg, Harvey Brown, and other widely known murder cases and were used in Portland in 1905 in the chase of Frank Smith, the murderer of Sheriff Shaver of Clackamas county, a hunt that ended in the killing of Smith by Draper as he lay behind a log, the two dogs at his throat. The hunt extended from a point near Oregon City to New Era, where Smith was killed as he attempted to shoot Draper from behind a log.

Brady, one of the dogs, was shot in the face with a shot gun by Smith and is badly scarred as a result. Sam, the other, was cut by a criminal he was hunting following the Astoria bank robbery seven years ago. The dogs played a prominent part in the chase of Harry Tracey and followed the outlaw in spite of his efforts to put them off the trail by wading in rivers and by the use of cayenne pepper. Tracey said he feared the hounds more than all the posses that were after him.

Captured Bill Miner. The dogs captured Bill Miner, the famous British Columbia stage coach and train robber, found the body of Fred Klobner, who was lost in the Cascade mountains back of Green River Hot

PENITENTIARY HOUNDS START FOR YONCALLA AT 11 O'CLOCK TODAY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) COKE MEANT TO BE FAIR IN ROSEBURG CASE, HE ASSERTS

Used in McClallen Instructions His Interpretation of Decisions by Supreme Court on Similar Points.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Marshfield, Or., June 17.—Judge John S. Coke was informed today by The Journal correspondent that recall petitions, gotten up on account of his instructions in the Roy McClallen murder case, were in Roseburg for circulation. He said he understood there was some feeling in Douglas county over the outcome of this case, which he tried recently at Roseburg, but that he had endeavored to try the case fairly and impartially under the laws of the state as he understood them to have been interpreted by the supreme court of this state.

News that the recall petitions were to be circulated in Roseburg was received here with much surprise by members of the bar and others acquainted with the court work, as during the terms that Judge Coke has served on the bench he has made a reputation for fairness and impartiality.

Roseburg, Or., June 17.—The Judge Coke recall petitions were placed on the streets of Roseburg this morning and are being freely signed. Attorney Cannon, who is managing the recall campaign, says they will be freely signed in both this county and in other parts of this judicial district. He says he has interviewed residents of both Lane and Coos counties. According to Mr. Cannon news is being subscribed freely to finance the petition campaign, some contributing $5, $10 and even $25.

Found in Swamp.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Marshfield, Or., June 17.—William D. Henley, prominent society man, is under the care of physicians here today, following his discovery in a swamp after an absence of 86 days. During this time he had little to eat and when found he was in a terrible state of exhaustion. He is unable to explain his disappearance, and says that during his long stay in the swamp he appeared not to be able to call for help or to find his way out. Henley disappeared April 20, shortly following his marriage, and the fact caused a great sensation. His mind was supposed to have become unbalanced as a result of an attack of the grippe.
