Pacific University, Forest Grove, Or., June 19.—Baccalaureste Sunday was observed at Pacific yesterday by union services at the First Congregational church. In the morning the baccalau-reate sermon was delivered by Presi-dent Ferrin. The topic was "The Call to Service." The speaker developed the truth that to every man there is a call to use his powers in active service to the state, to society and to his fellow-man. The movement towards establishing a world's peace court for the setablish thing of national disputes, so as to make war unnacessary, was referred to as the most important political question of the time.

The anniversary of the Christian associations was observed in the evening by a strong address by Dr. Arthur H. Smith, of China. Dr. Smith pointed out Falls, Lakeview, Silver Lake and other towns of southern central Oregon. A Wonderful Record

Every Intelligent Oregonian Should Know This:

Orcgon life Orcgonlife is the only life insurance company which accepts no risks on men who have passed the age of 55. Orcgonlift writes no policy for more than $10,000 on one life.

Notwithstanding this conservatism Orcgonlift wrote more policies in Oregon in 1909 than any other life insurance company; wrote more policies in 1910 than any other life insurance company; is in 1911 surpassing its own wonderful record.

Camp Creek Ranchers and the Sheriff of Crook Outwitted by Two Gangs.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Princyllie, Or., June 19.—All efforts to obtain trace of the horse rustlers who made a big raid in the Camp creek country in southeastern Crook and northern Lake countles last week, have been of no avail. More than 20 head of horses belonging to Randolph Gibson, Alex Ammon, the Mays ranch and Harvey Barnes, were driven off by the marauders, the ranchers finding left hardly enough saddle horses to begin pur-suit. Some considered themselves fortunate still to have their barns.

Sheriff T. N. Balfour of Creek county-rushed to the scene of the rustling, but rushed to the scene of the rustling, but his party was delayed in getting mounts and a heavy thunder storm and cloud-burst obliterated the tracks of the horses. It is believed, however, that two gangs operated so as to mislead the officers, and that they were successful in getting across the Cascade range into the Williamette valley with most of the band. That the rustlers moved fast is indicated by the fact that moved fast is indicated by the fact that part of the animals, being draft horses and unable to travel rapidly, were cut out of the band and left be-hind. These were found by the sheriff and his posse.

Maury mountain was surrounded by one posse and closely watched, but no clue to the thieves was obtained there. It is believed that a different crowd now has the horses in its possession to those who gathered them up at the various ranches on Campa care. rious ranches on Camp creek. Several men in the vicinity of Camp creek are under the surveillance of the authorities of Crook and Lake counties, Authorities in the Willamette valley counties have also been notified to keep on

CAUSED PAINE'S DEATH

(Special Dispatch to The Journal 1 Madras, Or., June 16.—After hearing most exhaustive evidence relating to the cause of the death of A. A. Paine, of 3959 First avenue, Seattle, who was killed by a falling derrick yesterday morning, the coroner's jury brought in a verdict declaring that Paine's death was due to the negligence of Edward Meyers, in that Meyers had abandoned his post of caring for the guide ropes that govern the derrick. It was while Meyers was gone that the steel was picked up which, swinging wild, caused the overturning of the derrick car, Paine's death resulting when he was caught under a piece of the failing steel? No arrests were made following the verdict, but the matter has been ton interests of both the north and brought to the attention of the district south. It is hoped by those concerned attorney, and any criminal prosecution

LOGGING CAMPS WILL NOT CLOSE DOWN

ions are that logging camps on Grays Harbor will not close down for the summer, as was suggested by the lumper combination on Puget Sound. Most of the camps will shut down for about ten days to include the Fourth of July, but owing to the disorganization of business and the expenses connected with a shut down, the managers prefer to keep running, especially as better lumber trade is expected this fall. Although there are at present plenty of logs, cutting will continue, and reserves will be held.

One logger said in regard to closing' "Suspension of work simply means that we lose the result of long organization. The men scatter, and when work is resumed it takes a long time to get into shape again. We have tried closing down before, and each time we close our expenses."

Fall River Cotton Carnival, Fall River, Mass, June 19,-A celesary of the establishment of the cotton mill industry in New England was opened in this city today and will continue through the week. The celebra-tion was ushered in with the formal opening of a historical exhibit and a trades display. During the week there will be an automobile parade, an aviation meet, a horse show, a trades par-ade and numerous other attractions, President Taft will attend the celebration Friday. The city is elaborately decorated and is already filling with

It is just one hundred years since the cotton manufacturing industry in New England was inaugurated with the erection of a cotton mill in Fall River by Colonel Joseph Durfee. About six years later the first power weaving looming was started here. The total number of employes engaged in the industry in Fall River up to 1819 probably did not exceed 35. There are now in this city 45 incorporated cotton mill companies, owning 111 mills, with incorporated capital of $32,960,000. There are 3,936,944 spindles, or about one-seventh of the total number in the United States, and 93,904 looms.
