

STUDENT Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE IS ON

Delegates From Colleges of 4 States at Warrenton Number 135.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Northwest Student Conference, Warrenton, Ore., June 18.—The big north-west student conference of the Young Men's Christian Association has now gotten fairly organized. Not less than 135 students from all the colleges and universities of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana are in attendance, besides the 15 leaders of the conference. The principal speakers during the sessions are Dr. Robert Hume, recently returned from missionary work in India; William H. Lewis of Portland, an ardent layman in the Christian association work in the northwest; H. W. Stone of Portland; J. E. Rhodes, Gale Seaman, H. A. Edgell, P. A. Swartz of the northwest executive committee of Oregon and Idaho; Dr. Brooks, student secretary of Stanford university; George Irving, assistant secretary of Pomona college; Frank Bayley and Wilfred Lewis of the Seattle association, and Dr. D. W. West.

The entire morning is given over to Bible and mission study classes, at the close of which the daily platform address is given by one of the leaders. In the afternoon the various phases of the association field are studied, as well as methods which are discussed in conferences. From 1 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon recreation is indulged in by all. The semi-finals in tennis singles and doubles are now being played off, the finals to come later in the week. The baseball teams which are to represent the colleges of Puget sound, of the inland empire and of the Willamette valley are being chosen. The track meet of these three divisions will also come off Sunday. Dr. Brooks of the First Congregational church of Walla Walla gave two strong addresses on "The Positive Life."

At 8:30, daily life work addresses are delivered and at 7:30 vocational institutes are led by four of the leaders. On Sunday, Dr. Brooks of the First Congregational church of Walla Walla gave two strong addresses on "The Positive Life."

HUSBAND IS MISSING; WIFE OFFERS REWARD

Nathan Rogoway, whose disappearance is a mystery.

All efforts to locate Nathan Rogoway, the Albany hide-buyer who disappeared May 22 and from whom no word has been received since May 26, have been without avail. Mrs. Rogoway has offered a reward for information regarding him dead or alive. She is staying with her mother in this city.

N. P. TRAFFIC MANAGER J. G. WOODWORTH ILL

James G. Woodworth of St. Paul, traffic manager of the Northern Pacific railroad, is confined to his bed at the Powers hotel suffering from a severe cold and sore throat. He returned last week from a trip through central Oregon with other officials of the line and intended leaving for Seattle and St. Paul last night. He will resume his trip tonight, if able to. Mr. Woodworth's family has a cottage at Seaside for the summer and he expects to return to the coast later in the season to join them there. Mr. Woodworth has a great many warm personal friends in Portland and he and his family are very popular here. He is regarded as one of the ablest traffic men in the country and is in full charge of both freight and passenger traffic on the Northern Pacific.

MUSICAL MAIDENS ARE PANTAGES ATTRACTION

Eighteen pretty girls, all artistic musicians, comprise the Boston Fadettes, toplined attraction at Pantages this week. While music lovers have heard of the name and fame of the Boston Fadettes, this is the first opportunity they have had to see them here. Miss Carolyn B. Nichols has been the leader of the Fadettes since their organization in 1888, and she holds the unique role in the world of music of the female Sousa.

Supporting the Fadettes is a bill of vaudeville, good in places and inferior in others. Just why the author of "Before the Play" did not drop into the deep, dark oblivion before writing the act is a matter of mystery. Anna Jordan and her company are badly handicapped with the play.

Will Hart, who appears in blackface, has a voice well worth hearing. Fanny and Berman have a dancing act that is appreciated. As a sharpshooter, few if any can excel Frank McCrea, who shoots at marks from all directions.

BANK MAKES $500 MONTHLY BY SUBLET

By subletting the three story building at the northwest corner of Second and Washington streets at an increased rental of $500 a month, the Merchants National bank will make a profit of $66,000 for the 11 years that the lease runs. This building is now occupied by the Merchants National and was leased by the bank four years ago for a 15-year term at a monthly rental of $1000. Yesterday afternoon the bank sublet the building to the Northern Brewery company for the remainder of its leasehold for $1500 a month. The deal was negotiated by Gilbert H. Durham for the bank and Adam Mueller, president of the Northern Brewery company. The brewery's lease is to become effective January 1, 1912, by which date, the new home of the Merchants National bank at Fourth and Washington will be completed. Mr. Mueller said today that the building will be overhauled and modernized as soon as the bank vacated. It is probable that the general offices of the Northern Brewery company will occupy a portion of the ground floor.

WILL GIVE PRACTICAL TALK ON GOOD ROADS

The practical building of good roads will be demonstrated by Phil S. Bates, director, and Carlos T. Prall, president of the Oregon Association for Highway Improvement, at the monthly meeting of the Rotary club, 8:30 o'clock this evening.

The way in which permanent highways are built to meet varying conditions throughout the country is illustrated by a quantity of views recently obtained by Mr. Bates from the good roads department at Washington. Mr. Prall intends to tell the Rotary club concerning the policy of the newly organized good roads association. A glass club will furnish the music.

KEEPING WATCH FOR FOREST FIRES

Rangers Out in Mountains Doing Good work as Dry Season Begins.

The dry days that have compelled the snow line to retreat up the mountain side have also had their effect in making the forests for the Cascade mountains extremely dry. The beginning of the forest fires which the forest service and private organizations fear this summer has been reported as running south of the Clackamas river and in the neighborhood of Dialle Butte. So far but little damage has been reported. Rangers have been sent to the scene of the fire. Lookouts have been established on the high points. Hundreds of campers have located along the streams of the Cascade mountains and are enjoying the opening of the trout fishing season. From these is the greatest fire danger. Camp fires are found built under logs and carelessly extinguished. Such blazes at first spread, slowly working their way frequently underground, only to burst out in some unprotected place with sometimes uncontrollable violence.

Automobile parties have also been causing trouble. It has become a custom for automobiles to back into the undergrowth by the roadside, where members of the party lunch. Many times the fire built to heat coffee is forgotten and its spread causes loss of thousands of dollars.

To guard against the carelessness of campers, automobilists and others both national and privately owned timber lands have been heavily posted with warnings against leaving unextinguished camp fires. The forest service of the government, the Oregon Forest Fire association and the Western Forestry and Conservation association have united to prevent a repetition of last year's heavy forest fire losses.

HAINES MURDER HUNT IS GIVEN FRESH START

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
La Grande, Ore., June 20.—That Frank Miller has knowledge concerning the murder of Ed McColloch, Haines, Ore., bartender killed by a shot last winter, is a theory on which Baker, Or., officers have been working for several days. Miller has a long penitentiary and crime record, and was convicted here last night of boxcar robbery. The theory was given impetus here when the marshal of Haines positively identified Miller as a man he had seen at Haines 15 minutes before the murder was committed, for which poses secured eastern Oregon, and on which detectives are still at work, prompted by big rewards. Among the things of which Miller has been accused is the shooting of Officer Hammond of Grants Pass, for which he did two years. He has done three years besides in Oregon and three years in Walla Walla. He broke jail at Pocatello recently.

PACIFIC NOW HAS MODERN BUILDING

Old Courthouse 1-2 Miles Out; New $150,000 Structure Only 2 Blocks.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
South Bend, Wash., June 20.—After waiting a year and a half, Pacific county is now in full possession of its new and thoroughly modern courthouse, which has just been completed at a cost of $150,000. The removal from the old to the new began Saturday afternoon and was completed Sunday, and yesterday superior court opened in the new hall of justice. The building is constructed of reinforced concrete, is two stories high, has a full size basement, is highly ornamental both as to interior and exterior; is well furnished throughout, and has every utility required by a strictly modern courthouse. The old courthouse is a mile and two thirds from the business center of the city, while the new one is barely two blocks distant.

Trouble with Russia has only been narrowly averted due to this year, and Italy, England and Montenegro are becoming nervous over the situation.
