The failure of the United States government to recognize fittingly the services of the veterans was, in conquering the Indians of the northwest, conming session of the Twenty-sixth anqual grand encampment of Indian war veterans in Woodmen's hall this morn-

Unwritten history was disclosed by the men who helped save Oregon to the United States. A. L. Coffey of Washougal, Wash., an ex-grand commander, said passionately that John Jacob stor was given credit for "making" the Oregon country when as a matter of fact it was the unnamed and frequently unhonored pioneer who with-stood perils and steadfastly labored to subdue the soil who had won the hon-ors accredited to Astor, honors about to be graven on a monument for the perpetuation, said Captain Coffey, of un-

DEGLARES MORRIS

Claim That Stock in O. W. P. & R. Co. Was Given Former General Passenger Agent, Denied-$75,000 Involved.

Whether or not 1000 shares of stock of the Oregon Water Power & Railway Co., issued to W. H. Huriburt and in-dorsed, "authority F. S. Morris," were really issued with the authority of Morris is the main question to be decided by Circuit Judge Kavanaugh in the case of Huriburt against Morris Brothers, for an accounting, which was concluded yesterday aftermen.

The case involves a claim for about $75,000 on the part of Huriburt, who was formerly general passenger agent of the O. R. & N. Co. Huriburt quit this position, he says, to enable to make a success of the O. W. P. & R. Co. prior to its sale to the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co. He was made president of the company, which Fred S. Morris and his brother, James H. Morris, were the chief stock nolders and promoters.

Arguments Set for July. For nine days the taking of testimony ontinued before Judge Kavanaugh. I was agreed yesterday by W. D. Fenton chief counsel for Hurlburt, and Wirt Minor, attorney for Morris, that some day early in July shall be set for oral argument, Briefs will also be filed by the attorneys dealing with the questions involved. In November, 1904, stock certificate 41 in the O. W. P. & R. company was issued in the name of Huriburt for 1000 shares and certificate 42 for an equal number of shares to George I. Brown, engineer for the company. both appear the words "Authority F. S. Morris," identified as the handwriting of F. B. Pratt, bookkeeper for Mor-ris Bros. The Brown certificate has been recognized and paid, but Hurlburt's claim was rejected. Morris said he never agreed to give Hurlburt any interest in the corporation, Hurlburt being employed as president at $4000 per year and his salary later raised to $6000. The Hurlburt version is that he was to have 1000 shares of stock as additional compensation for his services with the com-

Muir May Sue.

It is also asserted by the plaintiffs that W. T. Muir was to receive 1000 shares, the same as Hurlburt and Brown, but no certificate was ever is sued to him. It is possible another suit will be brought by Muir for the $65,000 alleged to have been realized at the time of the sale to the Portland Railway, Light & Power company.

Just before the sale was consum

nated by Morris Bros. to the Clarks of Philadelphia, representing the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, Hurlburt indorsed to Morris his certificate No. 41, as well as another certificate for 1000 shares which Hurlburt had purchased at $50 per share. This was done, Hurlburt testified, by request of Morris, who said he desired to show the buyers of the plant that he held control of the stock and would be able to turn it over. Morris was to account for him to him, he said, for all the profits on the sale of both blocks of stock. Pinkham Jr. of Spokane.

The books of the company show that
The degree of bachelor of music will Hurlburt received $15,000, the profits he had purchased outright at $50, the sale being made at $65 per share.

Morris Claims Stock. At the same time the books show $10,000 credited to Hurlburt, which Morris declares was a gift in recognition of his services to the company, but not any payment of obligation.

Another $10,000 was credited to Hurl-burt for a tract of land in Clackamas county which had been turned in on Question for Court.

Morris testified he kept Hurlburt advised as to the progress of negotiations for the sale of the company's interests. Hurlburt denied it. The latter asserts that through the financing of the Morris Bros. a bond issue was floated which allowed them to come out more than even, and the stock was left as "velvet." The main question for the court is the interpretation of the issuance of certifi-cate No. 41 to Hurburt, "authority F. S. Morris," and its indorsement by Hurl-burt subsequently to Morris. If the court finds from the testimony that this was really issued by authority of Morris and later turned over to him by Hurlburt merely to facilitate the sale of the properties, Morris will be called on to pay $55,000.

A lesser question is the deal affecting the Clackamas county land, for which Hurlburt, received $10,000 and claims $35,000. The case will not be decided until after the argument and submission of briefs next month.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Roseburg, Or., June 20 .- The con er's jury which investigated the death of Alexander McNabb, the lone rancher, who was found burned beyond recognition in the charred ruins of his house, near Brockway, 13 miles southwest of Roseburg, last Friday evening, returned verdict of murder. They believe that he died by means of violence," and that he was "unlawfully and feloniously killed by some person or persons whose names are unknown to the coroner's jury,"

Thinking his death accidental, it was decided Saturday that no inquest would be held, but after District Attorney Brown and Coroner Jewett made a visit to the scene of the crime Sunday an inquest was determined on. Both Mr. Brown and Mr. Jewett incline strongly toward the murder theory, and in this they are supported by most of McNabb's neighbors, Sheriff Quine returned last night frem Yoncalla, where he has been leading the search for the Shasta robbers since early Saturday morning, and left this morning for the scene of the tragedy. There is not the slightest evidence so far to connect any person with the crime. The sheriff's efforts at present are directed toward locating three strangers who were seen lotter ing in the vicinity of McNabb's home last week. One is said to be a halfblood Indian. It is reported the men went toward Myrtle Point. McNabb's brother, at the request of the sheriff, has left for Myrtle Point in the hope of apprehending them.

Three Hundred Knights and 100 Pythian Sisters Arrive at Astoria; Legislative Matters Come up Tomorrow.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Astoria, Or., June 20,—The steamers T. J. Potter, and Hassalo arrived about o'clock this morning, bringing to this city the delegates to the Knights of Pythias grand lodge. Previous to the time of leaving Portland last night if was thought that the Potter would be sufficiently large to carry the crowd, but it was found necessary to press the Hassalo into service, and both were well filled.

About 800 knights and over 100 Pyth About 300 knights and over 100 Pythian Sisters were in the party. According to grand lodge officers, this session is the best attended of any yet in Oregon. The grand lodge was called to order shortly after 10 o'clock this forencen by Grand Chancellor D. E. Yoran and the morning session was devoted principally to the initiation of past chancellors into the grand lodge rank. The committee on gredentials also submitted its report. mitted its report.

At the afternoon session the reports of officers are being submitted and the election of officers will be held. The various standing committees will do the work allotted to them, as the sessions tomorrow will be legislative in char-acter. The dramatic order of Khorassan will have this evening all to itself and a grand parade will be a feature of the evening, followed by a session at the hall, at which some 100 tyros will be fed to the tiger and a general good time and jinks will be indulged. This order is similar to the shriners and is purely social in character.

There were 66 past chancellors initiated into the grand lodge rank, the largest class in the history of the Oregon grand lodge. One of the most noteworthy personages in attendance at the sessions is George W. Hochstedler of Portland, past supreme representa-tive, who was a member of the grand lodge of Oregon at its formation 30 years ago, and has been in attendance at every session held since that time. Mr. mochstedler is a member of Laurel louge of Albany, but resides in Port-land. A. R. Shumway of Milton, who was appointed grand prelate in the absence of W. W.
