

HARVARD'S SENIORS READY TO RELIEVE THIRSTING WORLD

Melancholy Occupation of Exchanging Photographs Leads Up to Day When Great Minds Will Appear.

Boston, June 21.—The senior class of Harvard is now engaged in the melancholy occupation of swapping photographs. Tomorrow, class day, will break upon them; a week later commencement, and then the class of 1911 will pour itself upon a thirsty world.

For tomorrow's class day functions, Lethrop Withington, of Housatonic, has been voted the highest honor—first marshal. Withington is one of the greatest athletes who ever went to Harvard. Captain of the football team which played Yale to a tie last season, he is the idol of the college.

The second marshal is Reginald G. Foster of Charles River village, champion sprinter and captain of the track team, who was also voted the handsomest man.

Herbert Jacques, Jr., of Brookline, is first marshal. He is champion long distance runner.

The chairman of the class day committee is Richard Clark Floyd, who managed the track team and had charge of the intercollegiate championship track meet.

Class day will find the participants in its functions almost worn out from the strenuous events of senior week, which began Sunday when the seniors marched to the cathedral after the time honored custom to hear the baccalaureate sermon delivered by President Lowell. Monday and yesterday were comparatively quiet days, but today's senior spread and tonight's senior dance, lasting as usual until 3 o'clock in the morning put the seniors back into their strenuous pace.

Only Mothers Admitted. First thing in the morning are the exercises in Sanders theatre for the seniors to which, as a general rule, only mothers of the graduating men can obtain admittance.

The gates to the "yard" are opened at 2 o'clock and, from that moment, the "yard" is a scene of the most festive activity. Long lines of Japanese lanterns lighted with electric lights lead the "yard" a peculiarly festive appearance, especially with the many colored frocks and hats of the gentler sex.

The Ivy orator opens with his comic speech, which is the real feature of the stadium exercises. The orator this year is Alan Gregg of Colorado Springs, he

CENTRAL RAILROAD STILL UNPLEASANT

Railroad Commission Goes to Union to See Why Orders Are Not Obeyed.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Baker, Or., June 21.—The reason why the Central Railroad of Oregon has not complied with an order of the state railroad commission was the cause of a visit to Union yesterday by members of the state railroad commission, consisting of F. J. Miller, President Clyde B. Atchison and T. K. Campbell.

The Central Railroad of Oregon operates from Union Junction on the O-W, R. & N. to Union, Cove and other towns in Union county, and some time ago a complaint made to the commission by the city council of Union was ordered to make improvements in its equipment for the welfare of passengers.

R. England, general manager, agreed to the changes ordered by the commission, and was given 60 days to comply. Nearly 90 days have passed and no action has been taken, and now, according to President Miller, the commission proposes to learn why such is the case.

Among other things, the road is charged with not providing toilets and drinking water, and according to a complaint by the city council of Union, conditions on the line so far as the comfort of passengers is concerned are the worst imaginable.

Having received the highest number of votes, Mr. Wilson was elected to the position of author of the pageant review of historic days.

John Fleming Wilson, author, tells of fete to be staged at Carmel.

John Fleming Wilson, author of several novels and writer for the Saturday Evening Post and other magazines, is in Portland for a few days renewing old acquaintances, after which he will return to his home at Carmel-by-the-Sea, in California.

Mr. Wilson has been busy writing a pageant representing bits of the early history of California which will be given at Carmel July 4. Writing of the pageant and directing the rehearsals put him in such a frame of mind, he says, that when Captain E. W. Mason of the steamer Rose City met him in San Francisco just before the vessel sailed for Portland he was not a bit adverse to being abandoned by his friend the captain for the trip up here.

Carmel, where Wilson has a house built entirely with his own hands, is a literary community and among the celebrities there are many helping him in his pageant. Among them are Miss Helen Hill, leading woman, a granddaughter of Barton Hill; Mrs. Grace McGowan Cook, the novelist, and her daughter, Miss Helen Cook; John Kenneth Turner, former Portland newspaperman who is now engaged in magazine work; Fred R. Bechtolt of the Saturday Evening Post; Garnett Holme, director of the Berkeley Greek theatre; Perry Newberry of the Popular magazine; and Harry Leon Wilson, author of "The Spenders." In the cast there are also a number of professors from Stanford and Berkeley, 16 vaqueros and a large number of bona fide monks.

Mr. Wilson says the affair, which is annual, is the occasion of many thousands visiting Carmel and the descendants of the old Spanish governors and representatives of the old Castilian families attend in force. At this celebration everything is free, the actors donating their services. The entire expense of putting the pageant on this year he says will not amount to more than $200, a large part of the accessories having been acquired in previous years. Mr. Wilson expects to return to San Francisco on the steamer Rose City Thursday.

PRESIDENT IS AT YALE; VIEWS PROCESSION

(United Press Leased Wire.) New Haven, Conn., June 21.—President Taft was present today at the commencement exercises in Woolsey hall. The conferring of sheepskins was preceded, according to custom, by the historic procession, and the assembly and dinner followed in University hall.

The president was scheduled to hold a reception between 4 and 5:30 in honor of the graduates, their families and invited guests in Memorial hall.

Enroute to Washington President Taft expects to stop in New York and will speak before the New York State Bankers' convention and also at the Canadian club. It is understood he will discuss reciprocity in his address to the Canadians. President Taft will attend the Cotton Centennial carnival at Fall River Friday.

Honorary degrees were conferred on a number of prominent men. Justice Lamar of the supreme court of the United States was made doctor of laws, as was also President Vincent of the University of Minnesota and Liang Tung Yen, imperial Chinese councillor.

The degree of doctor of laws was conferred on John Muir of California.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.) Washington, D. C., June 21.—Senator Bourne's bill establishing fish culture stations on the Columbia River or its tributaries in the state of Oregon, yesterday passed the senate.

The department believes that the annual salmon output of the Columbia can be duplicated in proper proportion, and that the enactment of Senator Bourne's bill is the most important means of securing such a result.

WHEN BRIDE FAILS TO TAKE THE VOWS, GROOM TAKES STRYCHNINE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Hood River, Or., June 21.—A. Adams, who resides across the Columbia river from Hood River, and who has been working on an east side farm, attempted to commit suicide by taking a dose of strychnine. The timely arrival of a physician saved his life, however. It is stated that he was to have been married on the fatal day, and that because his intended wife refused to go through the ceremony he attempted to take his own life. Though in a critical condition it is expected he will recover.

WOMEN COME TO AID OF ORGANIZER LEWIS

The Portland chapter of the American Women's league held a rousing meeting last evening at the city hall and the chapter went on record as being in favor of keeping up its work and aiming at the downfall of the "interests" and the postoffice department which, according to the president, Mrs. A. Taylor, are conspiring to put E. G. Lewis, organizer of the "interests," in jail.

TO GROW HAIR ON A BALD HEAD

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair, who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any drugist. Buy Rum, 5 ounces; Lavone de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add half to one teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Do not apply to the face or where hair is not desired.

OLD COINS MINTED IN SIXTEENTH CENTURY

More old coins have been unearthed. George Hemmeter, 385 East Thirty-fifth street, has in his possession three English money pieces, and one presumed to be French. The oldest coin is believed to be from France because of the fleur-de-lis on one side of it. It was coined in 1617 and is brass. It is little worn. One of the English coins, minted in 1627, is copper. The other was coined during the reign of William III. The other two English coins are similar to the pieces already mentioned in these columns—copper, with the word "Britannia" on one side. Part of the opposite sides of the coins are so worn that but one word can be read, "Georgina." One was coined in 1732, the other in 1759.
