FIFTY CALIFORNIANS ARE ARDENT BOOSTERS

Probably California never had a better booster for his clime than Dr. C. S. Stoddard, president of the chamber of commerce of Santa Barbara, who is in the city on his way south. Dr. Stoddard and a party of 50 loyal Californians made a trip to Banff Springs in a body. There they separated and each is seeking his own route toward home. Dr. Stoddard and a few friends decided to visit at Portland for a day or two.

The trip of the Californians at this time was for the purpose of more closely cementing the already existing reciprocal relations between the northern cities and Santa Barbara.

Dr. Stoddard makes strong claims for Santa Barbara as a winter resort and says he is fully prepared to back them up. He says with the improved conditions in his city, better hotel facilities and a bigger city, there is no legitimate excuse for the tourist seeking a better resort for the winter.

More Oregon and Washington people are visiting Santa Barbara each year, he says, and in turn, Santa Barbara is spending at Fremont, both in Portland and Oregon and Washington. They are just learning, says Dr. Stoddard, that the north has some mighty fine advantages, too.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, the former wife of Colonel John Jacob Astor, who has written her relatives in Philadelphia that she will desert London shortly to return and "have a little of the old life." J. R. Barton Willing, her brother, has given orders that the Willing homestead in South Broad street, Philadelphia, be reopened, renovated and prepared for the arrival of Mrs. Astor. "I am sick and tired of English society," Mrs. Astor is quoted as writing. "The women of the present English court so dislike American women and everything American that there is absolutely no enjoyment there."

Do Portland Women Paint Their Faces?

To the Editor—I have been in Portland several months and am greatly pleased with this delightful western city, but there is one thing which amazes and disgusts me more and more, and that is the makeup of the Portland women. Almost every other woman one meets or passes on the street has her face so tinted with powder and paint that it is visible at the most casual glance. In the east this would be considered positively vulgar, and such a woman would be tabooed from the society of decent, refined people. Surely it is to be regretted that in many cases naturally pretty women should cheapen themselves by the use of such cosmetics, and it is a habit which should be strongly denounced, instead of encouraged. And yet one of your leading stores is at this very time demonstrating a so called "beautifier," trying to tempt even the young girl to ruin a natural complexion and cheapen her whole appearance. More is the pity!

Freckles

Freckle-Face! Freckle-Face! Freckle-Face! FRECKLE-FACE! How Do You Like It? If you have freckles you need Kintho! That's as sure as freckles! Hot summer winds and sunshine bring them out in all their hideousness, and Kintho is ready for you at Woodard, Clarke & Co.'s or wherever toilet articles are sold. A two-ounce package of Kintho is enough for most light cases, but the most obstinate freckles are easily and quickly removed, under a guarantee of money back if it fails. Use Kintho Soap, too. It will not only help give the freckles a push, but it is delightful for toilet use.

WHY MEN DON'T MARRY

Written for The Journal by Darra Mora. By Darra Mora. EVERYBODY is asking everybody else why the young men do not marry, why there are so many "bachelor girls" and why all the young women are seeking employment in the business world. The chief reason is set forth by a Chicago pastor, who says he dare not marry because of his small salary. That's the nigger in the fence—the small salary and the tremendous financial responsibility in marriage.

Rev. William Bostick has refused to wed his fiancée, Miss Alice Johnson, because he cannot support her properly on $1000 a year, his present salary. Furthermore, he has resigned as pastor of the Western Avenue Baptist church, and is on the lookout for better pay.

Miss Johnson expresses full concurrence with the action of her fiancé. She said: "We would be happy together on the barest kind of a living, but just the same we would probably be a great deal happier on an income of $2000 a year. He did right in giving up his pastorate rather than to marry on such a small salary as $1200 a year."

Miss Johnson is a graduate of the University of Chicago and the Chicago Normal, and is now principal of the high school at Ladd, Ill. The young woman is a wage earner herself and knows whereof she speaks.

Mr. Bostick does not blame his church members for what he considers an unfortunate state of affairs. He criticizes the system.

"A bricklayer could better afford to marry on $1200 a year than the minister," he said. "The bricklayer gets $5 or 75 cents an hour. Besides, he can wear overalls while at work, but the minister must spend a good portion of his time visiting the church members and must always look well. To figure out insurance bills, rent bills, the cost of living which is going up continually, occasional doctor's bills—and to pay all these things out of $100 a month—would require a post-graduate course in scientific financing. A single man might undertake to solve such a problem, but not a married man. I don't intend to get married until I secure a church that can support a married man as he ought to be supported."

The man dare not ask the girl to risk her future with him on a too slender income. The girl would be happy with the man on the barest kind of living," but she clinches the affair in a nutshell when she adds, "but just the same I could be a great deal happier" on a bigger income.

"Egypta" Stockings are made of the finest Egyptian yarn; they have deep, double tops, reinforced seams, heels, and toes, an improvement wherever possible to prolong the life of the stockings. This identical quality is sold in every good hosiery shop in the country at 50c a pair. A special concession from the maker makes this price possible. Black and tan; all sizes 25c here at, pair 25c
