

MATURED POTATOES COMING IN LOCALLY

Stock is of Good Quality with Sizes Up to Usual Oregon Standard.

- Portland Wholesale Market. Dressed veal, very firm. Black hogs, steady. Heavy hogs, slow. Tomatoes plentiful. Peaches, lower. Cherries, slow. Strawberries, decrease. Eggs, steady. Hops, firm.

Matured Oregon potatoes are now coming forward. Some supplies were received this morning from Clackamas and from Hood River. Both were of excellent quality. The latter were packed in apple boxes.

The weather bureau sends out the following notice to produce men: Protect shipments as far north as Seattle against temperatures of about 63 degrees; northeast to Spokane, 80 degrees; southeast to Boise, 82 degrees; south to Bismarck, 86 degrees; temperature Portland tomorrow, about 63 degrees.

FORECAST FOR SHIPPERS. The weather bureau sends out the following notice to produce men: Protect shipments as far north as Seattle against temperatures of about 63 degrees; northeast to Spokane, 80 degrees; southeast to Boise, 82 degrees; south to Bismarck, 86 degrees; temperature Portland tomorrow, about 63 degrees.

MORE NEW APPLES COMING. An additional shipment of new crop apples has been received here from California. The fruit is of the red astrachan variety and was of fairly good quality for southern growth. Price is still held at $2.50 a box.

APRICOTS ARE SCARCE. There is a scarcity of apricot offerings in the front street trade. Receipts are decreasing and showing an increase. Latest reports from the south confirm early estimates of a short crop. Sales are generally reported at $1.75 per crate of four baskets.

CORN MEAL DIME HIGHER. An advance of 10c per hundred pounds is being quoted locally in the price of corn meal. Telegraphic advice of such an advance in the east came forward this morning. The rise is due to the expectations of a short crop in the middle west.

PEACH MARKET IS LOWER. Fractional decline in price is shown in the local peach market. While there has been an increase in the export offerings from the south, the supply is still short. Quality is generally only fair, most of the fruit being three quarters green. Sales are generally reported at $1.25 to $1.50 a box.

ALIGATOR PEARS HIGH. Alligator pears at $6 per dozen are rather high, but that is the price just received in Portland for the initial shipment of the season. The supply came from Honolulu and was in excellent condition. Further shipments are expected on the next boat from the islands.

MORE BANANAS ARE DUE. While a trainload of six cars of bananas arrived in the front street trade yesterday, another shipment is due tomorrow. A message to that effect was received from Pasco this morning. The fruit is said to be turning.

TOMATO MARKET SUPPLIED. Tomatoes are in very liberal supply here. There are offerings from Mississippi, California and Mexico. The former of best quality and are generally quoted at $1.75 per crate of four baskets. California stock is selling at $1.25 to $1.50, while the Mexican is quoted at $1.50 for crates.

CHICKEN MARKET HOLDING. While there were greater supplies of chickens offering here today, the market was quite fair, especially for hens. Springs are again finding a sale at the lower prices. Ducks are coming forward very freely. Sales are slow in this line, some arrivals being carried over from yesterday.

STRAWBERRY SEASON BEING AN END

The strawberry season is coming to an end. Supplies are less liberal and even these are not moving out as fast as the greater supplies of a few days ago.

The quality of present arrivals is not nearly so good as last week's shipments. The canning season is about over, but the canneries are still at work and are taking all offerings owing to their diminished stocks.
