

MEXICANS' FEELING AGAINST FEDERALS CAUSE FATAL RIOTS

Fifteen Killed and 53 Wounded in Uprising Yesterday at Jalapa—Order is Restored Upon Arrival of Troops.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Mexico City, June 22.—The arrival of 500 Madero troops at Jalapa today restored order after yesterday's riots in which, it is reported, 15 persons were killed and 53 wounded. It is feared that the prejudice against the federals may result in a new and perhaps a more serious outbreak.

To Stamp Out Revolt.

(United Press Leased Wire.) El Paso, June 22.—Under orders to absolutely stamp out all revolt in Lower California, General Gordillo Escudero is today transferring 1500 federal troops to the Southern Pacific railroad at Juarez for transport toward San Diego across American territory. It is possible that some of the troops will reenter Mexico before the coast is reached. Escudero having the option to change his plans so the movements of his men will not become known to the Magonistas. Fearing that attempts may be made to dynamite the train en route, Colonel Stever, U. S. A., is sending a detachment of American soldiers as guards for each train.

THEIR MAJESTIES APPEAR IN STREETS BEFORE SUBJECTS

Enthusiasm greeted the scarlet and golden oakleaf uniforms and plumed hats of Field Marshals Lord Roberts, Sir Evelyn Wood, Lord Grenfell and Sir Charles Brownlow.

Churchill is missed. Winston Churchill, the only member of the cabinet who participated in the progress, rode just ahead of the royal carriage. His enemies hissed him and his friends and admirers as loudly cheered.

Heralds and trumpeters in crimson and gold and life guards preceded the royal coach. Eight cream colored horses drew the vehicle. The king, glimpses of whom could be caught as the ponderous old coach wheeled by, was dressed in the uniform of a field marshal, while by his side, garbed in pink, sat the queen. Neither wore crown or carried scepter. Both were cheered heartily.

Accompanied by Prince. The royal couple was accompanied by the Prince of Wales, dressed in the uniform of a cadet.

The Duke of Connaught rode at the right of the coach. Lord Kitchener rode at its left. Both were attired in the uniforms of field marshals. Following the royal coach came the royal aide-de-camp and the court official.

The entire line of march had been most gallantly decorated for the occasion. From a military standpoint the progress was magnificent, but not as much enthusiasm was aroused as had been expected. The lowering sky and threatened rain had caused the throng to be smaller than anticipated and the stand owners were selling seats for what they could get. Despite this, however, the stands in some parts of the route were not nearly filled. The streets and sidewalks, however, were crowded and hearty cheers for the military heroes of the empire as well as for their majesties rent the air as the gorgeous pageants passed.

The route taken by the pageant was by Constitution Hill, Piccadilly, St. James street, Pall Mall, Trafalgar square, the Strand, Fleet street, St. Paul's churchyard, Cannon, Victoria and King William street, the Borough and Westminster Bridge roads, Parliament street, Whitehall, under the Admiralty arch, back into Pall Mall and then to Buckingham palace again.

Celebration International.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Halifax, N. B., June 22.—The coronation celebration as observed in Halifax became international in character, on account of the presence in the harbor of the German warship Bremen, the United States training ship Newport and the British warship Cornwall. The people and military and naval forces gave themselves up with a complete abandon to a celebration that fully equaled anything of the kind ever attempted in Halifax. At 10 o'clock religious services were held in representative Roman Catholic and Protestant churches. Governor McGregor proposed a toast to the king, and immediately after to the German emperor. Captain Goyette of the Bremen responded in a happy address.

Thanks for Good Wishes.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, June 22.—The following cable from King George V of Great Britain in response to one of congratulation from President Taft was received today at the White House: "I heartily thank you and the American people for your congratulations offered on this great and solemn day, and for the good wishes expressed for the prosperity of the British dominions and the welfare of myself and family. I heartily reciprocate your wishes that the friendly relations between the United States and my country may continue."

Prince of Wales' Birthday.

(United Press Leased Wire.) London, June 22.—Among the coronation festivities today was the celebration of the seventeenth birthday of the Prince of Wales. Although the event was overshadowed by the royal progress, formal felicitations were presented the prince at Buckingham palace late in the day.

SHAKY CONDITION OF BANK

(Continued from Page One.) within a short time the receiver will allow it to be foreclosed, for there would be little promise in trying to hold it.

Other Properties.

In Jackson county, Or., is 530 acres more of timber, mortgaged for $1000 and perhaps worth $2000, always provided a buyer can be found. At Roosevelt, Wash., is another tract of 120 acres of sagebrush, having a prospective value as irrigated land, but without water, and variously estimated from $5 to $50 per acre. It is being offered for $20, no takers.

Finally, in the Aldrich list, is the Aldrich home at Goldendale, which is free from incumbrance and thought to be worth $2500. The house is said to have cost more than this sum. This survey of the Aldrich holdings shows how difficult is the problem of telling how the property will pay out. Aldrich has expressed the opinion that the bank should come out even. There is no probability that it will. Many of those who have surveyed the field think 50 cents on the dollar will be a good ending of the Aldrich account.

Moore & Hardin, building contractors and likewise former friends of President Phillips at Goldendale, are in for unsecured notes to the amount of $52,955. The firm is bankrupt, and this is a clear loss.

Equally hopeless for the depositors is the $12,000 in unsecured notes of the Central Manufacturing company of Vancouver, a wash and door factory, now in the hands of a trustee. Possibly 10 cents on the dollar may be had from this account.

Rector & Daly, street contractors of Vancouver, owe the bank $31,375 on unsecured notes. They are carrying on street work, and the receiver will not say this account is bad. He thinks it may pay out. Many others are much less hopeful, and the amount to be realized there is problematical.

Swank & Co., dealers in merchandise, owed the bank $29,885 when its doors were closed. This has since been reduced, and is a promising account. It is rated good for the whole amount by the receiver.

Besides these unsecured loans, there are smaller loans to the amount of probably $100,000, when its doors were closed. What the depositors will finally get, therefore, depends largely on what the Aldrich lands bring and how the Rector & Daly account turns out.

Investigation of the books of the bank will begin in earnest next Monday, when John W. Ferguson, expert accountant of Portland, will begin his work. He will be under the direction of Martin L. Pipes of Portland, retained as a special prosecutor by the county commissioners to institute such action as may be found advisable after the books are examined.

Building to Cost $1,000,000. There is an appropriation of $500,000 now on hand from which to pay for the site and begin work on the building. Plans for the structure have been held up pending a settlement of the controversy over the site but it is believed the government architects will get to work at once on preliminaries for the building so that local architects may have the opportunity to submit designs. The building will cost about $1,000,000.

The purchase of block "B" ends one of the most hotly contested battles over the location of a public building that Portland has ever known. J. W. Hill was selected by President Taft, a classmate, to select a site for the postoffice. He recommended a block bounded by Eleventh and Twelfth, Burnside and Couch streets. This did not prove satisfactory to the government, and it was decided to bring suit to condemn block "B."

The government's idea of the value of the block was $175,000. Dr. Hill has contended that not only was the price asked for block "B" exorbitant, but that the ground itself, being part of an old lake bed, is so soft as to make it unfit for the location of a heavy building.

Foundation Costly. So recently as yesterday Dr. Hill telegraphed the department that it would require $5 foot piling to secure a foundation for a building on block "B." He wired that piling of that length was being driven at the approach to the new steel bridge, which was a part of the same lake bed. It is claimed that block "B" is some thousand feet from the point where the $5 foot piling is being driven and that the ground at block "B" is reasonably solid.

Senator Bourne's telegram says that Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Bailey assured him he would instruct the department of justice to purchase block "B" at the condemnation price. A telegram from Assistant Secretary Bailey to Mr. Morrill confirmed Senator Bourne's telegram.

ROOT ORDERED TO PAY WIFE $25 PER MONTH

Lloyd C. Root, a teamster, was haled before County Judge Cleeton this morning upon the complaint of his wife that he would not support her and child. The judge heard both tell their stories, and ordered Root to pay $25 a month. Mrs. Root testified that her husband made her live in a tent, and would not provide her with suitable clothing or sufficient food. She also said he spent his money for liquor.

TRIES TO BREAK INTO HOSPITAL; THWARTED

A man, who is believed to have been a patient at St. Vincent's hospital several weeks ago, suffering from delirium tremens, attempted to break into the hospital at 3 o'clock this morning, but was prevented by the steward who saw him trying to break into a window. Just as the man was climbing into the window the steward pushed his hands off the sill and the intruder fell to the ground, a distance of 15 feet. In spite of the fall, however, he made his escape.
