

TOPICS OF INTEREST IN THE REALM FEMININE

IN SOCIETY

A beautifully appointed luncheon was the compliment paid yesterday by Mrs. L. Allen Lewis to her sister from San Francisco, Mrs. William H. Taylor, and Mrs. Sherman Hall of Kansas City, who is the guest for the summer of her mother, Mrs. C. H. Lewis. The luncheon board was graced with an exquisite cloth of buff and chrysomel lace over Kendall green, with numerous silver bowls of California poppies shading from light yellow to orange. Circling the table were Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. Thomas Kerr, Mrs. Zera Snow, Mrs. John K. Kollock, Mrs. E. C. Shelton, Mrs. Robert W. Lewis, Mrs. Holt C. Wilson, Mrs. William S. Biddle, Mrs. William MacMaster, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. Theodore H. Wilcox, Mrs. James Canby, Miss Lucy Wallace of New York, Miss Hirsch, Miss Martha Hoyt and the hostess.

University women from all parts of the United States are planning to attend the convention of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority which is to be held at the Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, Cal., July 11 to 14 inclusive and social affairs many and smart are being arranged in their honor. The Kappa Alpha Theta sorority is the pioneer organization of its kind for women in this country. It was formed at De Pauw university in 1870. The two surviving charter members are Mrs. Anna Fitz-Shaw and Mrs. Bettie Locke-Hamilton of Indiana. It is greatly regretted that neither of these will be present at the coming convention, although Mrs. Hamilton has been in the habit of attending all such gatherings for many years. Mrs. Annie Harrison Nelson of the University of Kansas is the present head of the national sorority. Miss Jessie Bibee will go to Los Angeles as delegate from the Alpha Xi chapter in Oregon and Miss Agnes Hutchinson as delegate from the Omega Alumnae chapter. Others who have so far made known their intention of going south are Misses Cecile and Geneva Wilcox, Mrs. Spencer and Miss Ethel Clark.

Matthews-Lamar Wedding.
Washington, June 27.—Southerners prominent in the social life of the national capital are displaying much interest in the wedding of Miss Virginia Longstreet Lamar and Professor Robert Clayton Matthews, which is to be celebrated this evening in the Idlewild Presbyterian church. The bride-to-be is the daughter of William Harmon Lamar of the United States department of justice and his wife, formerly Miss

Miss Marion Hollins, one of New York's most attractive and most popular debutantes. This photograph was taken while she was seated on the box of the big coach "Meteor," owned by Morris E. Howlett, which she drove with a large party through the busiest streets of New York on her way to Brighton Beach. Miss Hollins, who is still in her teens, always had the prancing horses under the complete control of her slender hands. Her feat aroused great enthusiasm among both participants of the drive and many thousands of New Yorkers who witnessed her driving.

TAME CATS

(Written for The Journal by Darra More.)

THAT was a dapper little comedy over at the Heilig last week, wasn't it? And all hidden under the uninspiring name of "Smith," too. It was not only amusing, but distinctly fashionable. It concerned itself with that talked of set, the idle rich. The author of the play, I believe, called them some dreadful sounding name like "sexless puppets and manikins." He further defined them as those people who are too nice to be wicked, whose worst vice is cigarettes, and whose chief passion is bridge. He threw added light upon their codes and mores when he caused Mrs. Dallas-Baker to respond to Mrs. Rosenberg's complimentary remark about her second footman in these words:

"One doesn't speak of one's second footman unless one is in love with one's second footman."

And now you know just what kind of people are included in the idle rich, set in London. I emphasize London because of course, you must understand that we have nothing like that in Portland. No, no, nothing like that.

But did you notice anything familiar in the person of Algernon Peppercorn, that unique example of young manhood, that human parasite who lived off the wives of other men—men with Jennie Lamar, daughter of the late L. Q. C. Lamar of Mississippi. Professor Matthews, the bridegroom-elect, is a member of the faculty of the University of Tennessee.

Watch the Bride

From the New York Sun.
A west side woman who nearly got stalled in a Sixth avenue car with a bundle of merchandise gave this reason for carrying home her own parcels: "There is a prospective bride in our boarding house," she said. "Everything in the dry goods line is grist to the mill of the woman about to be married. Other women who have the misfortune to live in the same house shop under difficulties. The only way they can insure the enjoyment of their own purchases is to carry them home. If the things are delivered the bride maps them up. Possibly she has no real shopping propensities, but circumstances combine to make her a thief. Servants bring to her room all parcels of what ever size and shape that come to that front door. So many of the things do belong to her that to read the label or listen to what the delivery boy says is considered superfluous exertion. And the bride is equally disdainful of a preliminary examination. Egotistically she rips off wrappers and digs into contents. I heard her raising the roof the other day because a certain store had sent her six pairs of black silk stockings instead of the pink, blue and tan she had ordered. After she had sent the stockings back and had the money refunded I discovered that they were mine. I cannot afford to contribute these parcels to the bride's wardrobe, so I am carrying them home."

High Heel Shoes Bad.

From a Dispatch in New York World.
Troy, N. Y., June 26.—"High heels are as healthful as rings in the nose or tattooing," declared Supreme Court Justice Howard to the graduating nurses of Troy hospital.

"Such shoes," said the justice, "are as barbarous as torturing and as destructive of health as the Chinese wooden shoes. Both breed ungainly and deformed feet. China is proud of one kind of deformed feet, we of the other. Each kind results only in walking monstrosities."

"Will you not advocate normal feet, such feet as God gave? Have you the courage to speak out against this silly fashion—a fashion as destructive as rum, as deadly as opium—or are you to be counted among its devotees?"

"Hospitals," continued Justice Howard, "are as necessary for public health as parks. The lying in ward should no more be the birthplace of the millionaire's scion than of the plebeian offspring. The whim of the rich woman is no more entitled to recognition at hospitals than the caprice of the peasant housewife."

Care of Canaries.

In selecting a canary, one of the cross-breeds, pure canary with a strain of goldfinch or bullfinch, is the best to choose, as they are much harder than the pure canary and have splendid voices.

The best food for canaries is canary and rape seed, one part of rape to three of canary. From April to September they should have a little fresh green food every day, either chickweed, watercress or lettuce, says Our Dumb Animals. A lump of sugar should always be kept between the cage wires within easy reach.

Always give a canary a bath the first thing in the morning. After cleaning the bottom of the cage should be sprinkled with gravel and sand (not from the seashore, as the salt will kill the bird).

Never hang the cage in a draft or a stiff breeze, as canaries are very susceptible to cold. Neither should it remain uncovered in a lighted room at night, as the bird's song is liable to become impaired, because of its nervous temperament.

Must Mean Reno.

Oh, dear, I don't know what to do, I'm in a pretty fix, this true. I've many friends this month who've wed.

And each to me has sweetly said, "Now, dear, please don't forget to take This little piece of wedding cake. And tuck it 'neath your pillow white When you go off to sleep tonight. The moon covers up the stars should be. Your husband will most surely be. And I believed just what they said. (I'm wild to know whom I shall wed). And so last night the sixth times makes I've slept on slabs of wedding cakes This month; but I am in a fix. About my fate. Oh, dreadful fix: I've dreamed—this surely can't be right—About a different man each night."

Practical Peg.

"I'm 'fraid that I might starve some day. The price of food's so high. Meat, fish, and soap and vegetables. Are very dear, so I Am going out in the garden." Smiles practical Miss Peg. "To plant this little egg-plant so's I'll always have an egg." —Lippincott's.

Lemon Cottage Pudding.

Cream one half cup of sugar with one tablespoonful of butter, add yolk of one egg and one half cup of sweet milk. Grate rind of one lemon into one cup of flour and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Add this to above mixture and beat well. Bake one half hour. Sauce: One half cup of sugar, white of one egg, beaten stiff; add juice of one lemon. This will serve five people.

Defining His Position.

From the Washington Star.
"Is your husband in favor of the initiative and referendum?" "Yes," replied the woman in the sun-bonnet. "and the recall and local option and anything that'll enable him to go to the polls and miss a day's work."

On the Hotel Piazza.

From Harper's Weekly.
"Why don't you show a little ambition, Silthurs?" asked Binks. "Go in and make a reputation for yourself." "What's the use?" asked Silthurs. "I'd no sooner make it than these old ladies on the piazza here would tear it all to pieces."

Three Hints.

Crumpled newspapers solidly packed on top of ice surrounding the freezer when making ice cream will economize the ice.
In making toast or milk gravies salt should not be added till after the milk has been thickened. In this way the salt does not curdle the milk.

QUINE GOES AGAIN AFTER SHASTA PAIR

With Deputy and Bloodhound Heads Toward Elkton, on the Umpqua.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Drain, Or., June 27.—Sheriff Quine and a deputy passed through here yesterday taking the stage for some point in the vicinity of Elkton presumably to take up the man hunt for the robbers of the mail car of the Shasta Limited train, which took place about 10 days ago. They had with them the bloodhound used in the first chase. Nothing was given out here by the sheriff but it is supposed that word was received from that neighborhood that suspicious looking characters had been seen lurking about here.

In event of war, France could put an air fleet of more than 300 aeroplanes in service within a few days.

YANKEE JACK TAR KILLED IN TOKIO

Bay Gives Up Body of Gunner's Mate, Tightly Bound With Rope.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Tokio, June 27.—Murder of an American sailor, Gunner's Mate Alvin Root of the cruiser Albany, is revealed here today through the recovery of Root's body, tightly bound with rope, from the bottom of the harbor. Root, who had been missing since May 24, was supposed to have deserted. Yesterday when the Tamba Maru was leaving the harbor her propellers churned up Root's body. Examination in the presence of a representative of the United States consul showed that the sailor had been thrown into the water while still alive. In his pockets were found $20 in gold and the picture of a woman well known in a Yokohama grog shop. It is believed that intimacy with this person brought Root to his death.

Root's body has been taken to the Naval hospital. Tomorrow a large escort from the United States cruiser New Orleans, which is in the harbor, will follow the remains of the dead man to the tomb.

SIMPLE CURE FOR "POISON OAK"

A Soothing Liquid Composed Mostly of Oil of Wintergreen Found to Give Instant Relief.

Residents of Portland and the surrounding country need not fear Poison Oak as heretofore. It has been found that a simple wash known as D. D. D. Prescription, the Great Ointment cure, made mostly of oil of wintergreen, combined with other healing ingredients, will instantly give relief to that burning itch.

And if the remedy is applied in time it stops the breaking out of the watery pustules, preventing their spread. Picknickers should remember this oil of wintergreen compound (D. D. D. Prescription). Take a bottle along—a 26c trial bottle, anyway, and always keep a bottle in the house.—Skidmore Drug Co.

POSED AS HUSBAND'S BROTHER FOR 4 REASONS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Long Beach, Cal., June 27.—After posing as her husband's brother for seven years, Mrs. Roy Ballou is "as sorry as can be" today that she called at Long Beach police headquarters and disclosed her sex to Chief of Police Moyer.
"I would never have confessed," said Mrs. Ballou, "but I believed I was being followed by detectives."
Mrs. Ballou is the wife of a boatman operating between San Pedro and San Diego. When she called at the police station she was attired in a light gray suit, tan button shoes, gray socks and a modish gray silk tie.
Mrs. Ballou's four reasons for wearing men's clothes are:
"I think I make a better looking boy than girl; male attire gives more freedom and protection; fewer annoying attentions are paid to boys than to women; male attire made life on the sea a cinch."
