Digging of new crop potatoes will become general in nearby sections by next week. Early grop has matured in most sections of the state and growers are merely swalting better weather condi-the state and growers are merely swalting better weather condisections of the state and growers are merely awaiting better weather condi-tions to gather the product. In some of the sections where the rainfall has not been so heavy recently, here is greater offering of new crop potatoes. Receipts in the local market how a considerable increase, and al-show a considerable increase, and al-though the total supply of home grown tubers is small as compared with the full demand here, it is expected that a sufficient amount will be coming for-ward within 10 days to fully dispense-with importations from California. One prominent local produce house manager made the assertion this morn-ing that his last car of new potatoes from California was new rolling. "The market is too high in the south and unless there is a lowering of values there, we will not order any more. Lo-cal potatoes are coming forward very freely and we are making contracts of with home producers for our supply. We intend to supply our northern hous-es with Oregon potatoes in car lots within a short time."

While an occasional dealer is still asking as high as 4c a pound for new potatoes, the general market today stands no higher than $%c.

NEW APPLES ARE HIGHER

New crop apples are higher and sales are reported as high as $3 per box. Some extra fancy astrichans came forward from California this morning and were quoted from $2.75 to $3. First arrivals in that line were sold at $2.50. Some old crop apples are still offer-ing from local and southern points.
