

UNITED STATES SUES RAILROADS FOR $7000

For alleged failure to comply with the law in the care of cattle shipped by rail, United States District Attorney John McCourt has filed in the United States court a suit to collect $7000 in penalties from the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company.

This sum is claimed as a forfeit on 14 shipments of cattle and sheep, the penalty being $500 for each violation. It is alleged the railroad failed to provide managers, troughs and space for the stock to rest in the railroad pens at The Dalles and Huntington. After being on the cars from 14 to 20 hours, it is alleged, the cattle and sheep were unloaded in pens where the mud was from four to eight inches deep, without proper feeding and watering facilities. The federal statute requires that stock shall not be kept longer than 28 hours on a train without being unloaded for rest, water and feed, but an additional eight hours may be added upon written consent of the shipper. These permits were given in the cases complained of in this suit, but it is alleged the law was flagrantly violated as to the treatment given the stock when unloaded at the pens.

FOREIGNERS ATTEMPT RUIN OF TWO GIRLS

Two cases of foreigners making inroads into the confidences of American girls, came to the attention of the local police today, following a stringent order by Acting Chief Slover to break up the practice. Both cases were extremely pathetic ones.

Word was received yesterday from the sheriff of Lewis county, Wash., that John Costa, a Turk, aged 34 years, had left the city with 15-year-old Leona Hedrick, a telephone girl, and that they were on their way to Portland. At 10 o'clock this morning, Patrolman L. M. Ackerman arrested the couple on East Oak and Union avenue. Both will be held for the Chehalis officials.

The other case was the arrest by Detectives Snow and Price of Harry Gust, a Greek, aged 25 years, and his 17-year-old wife, formerly Ida Kintz, who lived with her parents at Twenty-ninth and Alberta streets. This arrest was made in the Hart hotel at Fifth and Burnside streets.

The couple were married last March, and since that time, the husband has forced the girl to support him, by leading an immoral life. She was obliged, against her will, to receive the attentions of Roumanians and Greeks and then turn over her ill-gotten gains to her husband, it is alleged.

The woman was turned over to the department of public safety for women and the man was booked for vagrancy.

ROGERS MAY SURVIVE SELF INFLICTED WOUND

In spite of the fact that Walter Rogers, aged 33 years, had planned for a year to commit suicide and that he made an effort to do so last Wednesday night, by shooting himself in the head, in a room at the Lenox hotel, Dr. Egleston, who is attending him, reports that he believes the man may yet recover. He is at St. Vincent's hospital.

Rogers' intentions were known to his friends who had missed him on the day he shot himself and had enlisted the aid of the police to look for him. Acting Captain Keller was in the Lenox hotel inquiring for him when the shot was fired. Rogers' home is at 83 1/2 Thurman street. He had been employed by the Portland Wood Pipe company.
