Woman's Club day is always counted upon as a record breaker at Chautauqua, and from the way the club women are laying siege to Gladstone park and pouring in on every car this morning the expectations of the management bid fair to be realized.

Weather conditions couldn't be improved upon, and the entire absence of dust has made the grounds ideal. Bright and early this morning the club women on the grounds, headed by the chautauqua committee of the State Federation and Woman's club, Mrs. M. A. Dalton, Mrs. J. W. Norris and Mrs. Ida Pettinger, and Mrs. A. King Wilson, president of the Woman's club, were hurrying hither and yon, tidying up headquarters, decorating the tents and platform and, like good housekeepers, were putting their houses in order for the coming guests. Club women are expected to take their lunch near the headquarters of Mrs. Wilson, who, with her assistants, will serve coffee at her camp.

Classes.
The class work has never gone on better, and the classes have never been so largely attended. Several new ones were opened yesterday and this morning finds them fully as well attended as those that have been in operation for several days.

The class in agriculture, with Professor L. T. Brethaupt as instructor, is one of the most popular on the grounds, and it is noteworthy that the greatest number attending are young men. Yesterday he formed a boys' class in elementary agriculture with 34 in attendance. His plan is to take them into the woods and fields adjoining Gladstone and give them instruction with actual demonstrations. The first excursion went out this morning. Professor Shipley of Forest Grove opened his department of American history yesterday and today has an immense class under full way.

Mrs. Weister's class in art is so alluring it simply charms people away from the dryer topics and holds them with the interest she gives her subject, and her stereoscopic illustrations. This morning enrolled over 60 pupils in Mrs. Gillespie's school of expression, and twice that number found their way to Professor Boyer's music pavilion.

Building Too Small.
It was found necessary to abandon the idea of holding the parliamentary class at club federation headquarters, as the space was utterly inadequate for the number attending, and they are now held in the big auditorium immediately after the afternoon program.

Mrs. Booker's class opened with one of the largest classes known to Gladstone. If the expressions of appreciation for the scholarly address given by Mrs. Booker mean anything it promises an even larger attendance tomorrow and succeeding days. The first session treated of the proofs of the divine authorship of Genesis.

The cottage was crowded at the formal opening. An informal and brief program and a dedicatory prayer by Rev. Edith Hill-Booker and a special hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Unruh presided and made a brief address, speaking of the plans and purposes of the Chautauqua work of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Eva Emory Dye and Secretary Gary spoke for the Chautauqua association, voicing their appreciation of the assistance rendered by the W. C. T. U. to the Gladstone work, and Rev. Padlock spoke of the value and greatness of the work of the union.

Mrs. Vera Seale sang the "White, White Ribbon" and refreshments were served. Today the W. C. T. U. program illustrates the medal contest department.

Dr. Newton J. Baxter has consented to give a series of talks on health and digestion—giving some special attention to the Fletcher system, each evening at the headquarters of the Congress of Mothers, at 5 o'clock. The first will be held this evening. The scholarship loan fund, the neighborhood house owned and conducted by the Council of Jewish Women in South Portland, music and the press as related to club work, filled the entire forum hour this morning and the large audience was astonished at the magnitude of much of this work. This afternoon Mrs. Fox and W. A. Williams will divide the afternoon hour and the Monday Musical club will furnish the music.

Excellent Program.
Yesterday was a red letter program day, which began at the forum hour when the Scotch entertainment was given. The address of Honorable Wallace McCamant on Robert Burns was thoughtful and full of poetic interpretation and feeling. The songs and dances were enjoyed by every one. Two very pretty scenes occurred during the program: one was at the close of Miss Irene Burns' song "Blue Bells of Scotland," when the singer was presented with a great bunch of the bonny flowers, and the other was the presentation to Mrs. Virginia Hutchinson of a magnificent bouquet of lilies at the close of her song "Loch Lomond."

In the way of dramatic reading, nothing better was ever heard on the Chautauqua platform than Mrs. Lulu Taylor Gates' "Polly of the Circus." Mrs. Gates won her audience the evening before when she read "The Melting Pot," but it required closer attention than yesterday's work and that, perhaps, was why her audience was carried by storm in the lighter story.

OREGON CITY FARE HEARING IS JULY 26

Railroad Commission Is Also to Take Up Spring-water Tariffs.

(Salem Branch of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., July 7.—The Oregon State Railway commission has set July 26 as the date for meeting in Portland to take up all matters pertaining to passenger fare on the Oregon City division of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company's lines. The commission will also investigate on its own motion the rates on the Springwater division of the same road.

On July 24, at the office of the commission in Salem, the application of the Southern Pacific for privilege to leave portions of track unfenced in Cow Creek canyon and between Portland and Oswego will be considered. On the same date the application of the Salem & Falls City road for similar privileges will be heard. These applications will be placed on file with the county clerks in the counties affected, so any one wishing to protest may consult the applications for the exact location of the track desired to be left unfenced.

WEIGLE WILL SUCCEED SUPERVISOR LANGILLE

The Portland office of the forest service announced today that W. A. Langille, supervisor of the Chugach and Tongass national forests, with headquarters at Ketchikan, has resigned, effective July 31. He will be succeeded by W. G. Weigle.

Mr. Langille has been connected with the forest service almost from its beginning and is considered one of its most efficient members. Mr. Langille will return to Portland where he is well known.

As a hygienic measure the German cities of Nuremberg and Nordhausen have forbidden women to wear trailing dresses on the streets.
