

ASSIGNMENTS FOR LOCAL CHURCHES ON NEXT SUNDAY

Ministers Who Are in City as Delegates to Convention to Fill Pulpits Morning and Evening.

Next Sunday, at both the morning and evening services, nearly all of the pulpits in the city will be filled by prominent preachers who are attending the international convention of the Christian church, now in session in Portland. The pulpits of the three convention churches will be occupied by some of the ablest speakers now engaged in the work of the church. Besides these, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho will deliver an address at the White temple Sunday evening.

The sermon at the White Temple Sunday morning will be delivered by Dr. C. M. Chilton of St. Joseph, Mo. In the evening, besides Senator Borah, Dr. Royce J. Lye of Boling, Africa, is on the program to speak.

At the First Presbyterian church the sermon Sunday morning will be delivered by Dr. J. H. Garrison of St. Louis, Mo. In the evening the speakers will be Dr. Finis Ideman of Des Moines, Iowa, and Dr. William Bayard Craig of New York city.

Dr. F. W. Burnham of Illinois will deliver the sermon at the Grace Methodist church Sunday morning. The speakers for the evening will be Rev. Chas. C. Chapman of California and Rev. James Small of Kansas City.

The other pulpits of the city will be filled as follows:

SENATORS OPPOSED TO CANADIAN RECIPROCITY

On the left, Elihu H. Root, senior senator from New York; on the right, Senator Bristow of Kansas. The latter was at one time hailed as among the most progressive members of the senate, and, for a long time, he stood by every progressive measure introduced. His most recent activities, however, indicate that he has changed his sentiment, particularly the offering of his amendment to the direct election of senators' resolution, which put control of these elections in the hands of congress. James J. Hill, the railroad king, who has long advocated reciprocity with Canada, recently referred to Senator Root's opposition in lurid terms, calling the New York senator a "snake doctor."
