TRIED TO ROB VICTIM ASSERTS JUDGE M'GINN

Action of Grand Jury in McCarthy-O'Donovan Case Recommended; Deed Ordered Returned.

In passing upon the case this morning of L. L. Porter against E. P. McCarthy, A. J. Dwyer and A. E. German, involving several complicated real estate deals with C. O'Donovan, Judge McGinn of the circuit court recommended that the district attorney and grand jury take up the case against the defendants, and that the real estate board would do a good act to purge the community of persons who practice such real estate business.

The decision was a clean victory for O'Donovan, who came from Ireland six years ago, accumulated property valued at $10,000, and was about to lose it to McCarthy, Dwyer and German.

"This deal has no apparent element of honesty on the part of the defendants, from beginning to end," said the judge. "In all my experience, and going back some 20 years, I never saw rascality equaling this. It appears that McCarthy planned and tried to defraud one of his own countrymen. Knowing the deed to property O'Donovan gave the girl with whom he was in love had not been placed on record, and that she had refused to sign it, and this to her credit, McCarthy begins to lay his plans to get it away from O'Donovan. German was in on it, too.

Grand Jury Case.

"If the realty board wanted to do its duty to the community it would purge itself and the business of McCarthy and Dwyer. It is a case which the district attorney could well take up. The letters Dwyer wrote O'Donovan while the latter was being kept in California through fear are a shame and a disgrace. He went so far as to work on his sympathy by signing them, 'Yours from the ould sod.' While in San Francisco, this man Kavanaugh plucked O'Donovan of $1000 with some bogus securities. There has never been any doubt in my mind about the determination of the transactions between O'Donovan and these three men, McCarthy, Dwyer and German. The deed to Catherine M. Dwyer was a fraud and a conspiracy. Later, we find Kavanaugh writing to these men that he would expose the whole thing if they did not pay the $1500 note he got from O'Donovan. They are now trying to recover it, but the courts ought not to aid in such cases."

Deed Ordered Returned.

By stipulation, Porter and O'Donovan settled their trouble, but Judge McGinn ordered that the deed made by O'Donovan to Catherine M. Dwyer, which he said was procured by fraud, should be returned to O'Donovan. This is property in Pinehurst, Clackamas county, and the deed was later transferred to McCarthy. O'Donovan was ordered to give up some securities given by Kavanaugh, and the money for lots sold by McCarthy should be turned over to O'Donovan.

By this ruling O'Donovan gets back from McCarthy, German and Dwyer property worth about $8000. In the stipulation between Porter and O'Donovan, Porter gets the Pinehurst property and O'Donovan gets what has been known as the Lake county land.

It was brought out in the hearing that O'Donovan was in love with a woman named Catherine McCarthy, and in view of an engagement to marry, he deeded her much of his property. The engagement was later broken, and McCarthy and German then began trading with O'Donovan. They got him to deed part of his property to them, and then had him leave Portland under the pretense that he had committed a crime and the authorities were after him. O'Donovan said that they had him badly scared and kept him in San Francisco for eight months. Porter had also traded some property with O'Donovan, and met him one day in San Francisco. It was then that he was induced to come to Portland and start suit.

Labor Council Petitions.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, July 8.—The San Francisco labor council has adopted resolutions joining the petitioners for the pardon of Mrs. Angela Napolitano, sentenced to death in Canada. The facts show, the resolutions say, that many extenuating circumstances exist, among which were "repeated acts of provocation and cruelty and wrongs upon outraged womanhood." During the course of the whole sordid story the woman, in the main, although she broke the law, stood for what is moral and good in life, while her husband failed in every duty that he owned his family and to himself.

The labor council represents 50,000 workingmen.

Seattle, Wash., July 8.—Harry Rief, formerly game warden for King county, was yesterday afternoon arrested on a grand jury indictment charging grand larceny. Rief is alleged to have taken $175.15 from the Nation of the Lakotas, an organization for the promotion of sports and the propagation of game, to build a fish hatchery, which was to bear the society's name. It is alleged that the county paid all the expenses for the hatchery.

CROWDS OF ELKS AT ATLANTIC CITY

Colonel Sullivan Boomed for Grand Exalted Ruler of Order.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8.—The great rush of delegates and visitors to the annual convention and reunion of Elks began in earnest today. Every hotel and rooming house in Atlantic City is booked to its fullest capacity and all signs point to a record breaking crowd during the coming week. The city has put on her best bib and tucker to welcome the "best people on earth," and the preparations for the entertainment of the visitors are of the most complete and elaborate character. The streets are flaring with purple and white decorations and the famous board walk is literally ablaze with flags and streamers and gay lanterns.

The official program for the week has been completed in all its details. At the formal opening Monday the visiting Elks will be welcomed by Governor Woodrow Wilson, Mayor Franklin P. Stoy and Harry Bacharach, exalted ruler of the local lodge. Grand Exalted Ruler August Herrmann of Cincinnati, will respond for the visitors.

The grand lodge will continue in session three days, with the election of officers on Wednesday. The election is already a subject of much lively discussion among the delegates. A strong boom has been developed for Colonel John P. Sullivan of New Orleans, for grand exalted ruler. Arthur C. Moreland of New York, and Charles R. Rasbury of Dallas, are also well up in the running. Portland, Or., will probably secure next year's convention.

The great parade, which is the principal feature of the annual gathering, is scheduled for Thursday afternoon. Prizes aggregating several thousand dollars will be distributed among the lodges making the best showing.

SOLDIERS SAVE HAMMOND BLOCK

Lodging House, Value $4500, and $2000 in Currency Burns, However.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Fort Stevens, Or., July 8.—Fire in Hammond at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon destroyed a lodging house valued at $4500. The building is owned by Mr. Snell, is a complete loss, and is not covered by insurance. The fire is presumed to have been caused by a defective chimney, the last tenants having abandoned their lease because of that fact.

The Redmen's hall, adjacent to the burned structure, was saved only through the prompt measures taken by the Fort Stevens soldiers, under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Foote, who personally superintended all fire fighting operations, and in doing so employed all the post apparatus, pumping water by a hand pump from the Columbia river. The Point Adams life saving crew, commanded by Captain Wrickland, assisted materially, by placing themselves under the supervision of the army fire marshal, Captain Young.

Two thousand dollars in paper currency was lost in the blaze.

Hammond people are greatly exasperated by the fact that, despite efforts of leading citizens, they have absolutely no fire fighting apparatus. Had not Fort Stevens assisted, the Redmen's hall and the entire block immediately below, because of the direction of the wind, would have been destroyed.

GOMPERS ATTACKS JUSTICE WRIGHT

Labor Leader Charges That Jurist Should Be Impeached for His Actions.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, July 8.—The direct charge that Justice Wright of the supreme court of the District of Columbia should be impeached for his course in the contempt cases against Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, was made to the senate committee investigating "third degree" methods, by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor today. Asserting that he and his fellow officers were cited to appear July 17 for the same contempt charge on which they had once been heard, he continued:

"We have the alternative of apologizing to the court. I suppose we are all of the same mind, but certainly for myself I am not ready to apologize for working for the poor devils who are giving the best in them for the good of the country. Justice Wright, I fear, will grow considerably older if he waits for the apologies. I know that the senate cannot initiate impeachment proceedings, but investigation by this committee might have a good effect on the action of judges in such cases in the near future."

BIG FALL COLONIST RUSH IS EXPECTED

Fall colonist rates have been arranged by the transcontinental roads upon the same basis as the rates of last spring. They are to be in effect from September 15 to October 15, and the rates will be $25 from St. Paul and Missouri River points and $33 from Chicago to Oregon and Washington.

According to a telegram received today from A. M. Cleland of St. Paul, general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific, inquiry has been very heavy concerning the dates and other details of the fall colonist rates, and he believes there will be a greater rush to Oregon this fall than ever before.

In the Netherlands the predominant hours of labor in most industries are 10 to 11 per day.

45 MEN LAID OFF WITHOUT PAYMENT

Elliot Lumber Company at Drain Is Object of Many Attachments.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Cottage Grove, Or., July 8.—About 45 men employed by the Elliot Lumber company of Portland in lumber operations near Drain were discharged yesterday morning without receiving payment for their work, the superintendent informing the woodsmen that the company was unable to liquidate its indebtedness to them, and attachments have been issued out of the justice court at Drain against everything owned by the company that is available. It is reported here by some of the men that from $75 to $150 per man is due, and that the commissary, cookhouse and stock, even to four pigs, have been levied upon. The Elliott Lumber company last May leased the Skelly sawmill and logging outfit, since which time it has been operating, paying promptly until the last 30 days. Some 15 of the men are still at the camp, being unable to get away on account of lack of funds, but will be forced to leave, the attachments shutting off supplies.

Kirks Married 53 Years Ago.

Cottage Grove, Or., July 8.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Kirk are today celebrating the 53d anniversary of their marriage, which took place at Oregon City in 1858, when Miss Sarah C. Armprest, daughter of a well-known pioneer resident of that place, became the bride of a returned Indian fighter. Mr. Kirk enlisted under the call for volunteers in 1856, was mustered in at Portland and with Col. Kelly's command went to The Dalles, where he served several months and engaged in a number of skirmishes with the redskins. The territorial government had promised $2 per day for the services of men and an equal sum for mounts, which indebtedness it liquidated after the federal government had allowed the usual soldiers pay of $8 per month. But no pay has ever been received for the furnishing of horses, and Mr. Kirk is now endeavoring to get the matter before the next legislature, hoping to receive remuneration for the services of the animal which carried him safely through several hard fought battles. Mr. and Mrs. Kirk have been residents of this community since 1882, and up to a few years ago owned and conducted a 400-acre farm near Cottage Grove, upon which is now located more than 20 families.

HIGH COURT HOLDS ALLEN LAW LEGAL

Commission Government in Small Cities of Washington Approved.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Walla Walla, Wash., July 8.—With the announcement of the supreme court's decision that the Allen law, granting commission government to cities of more than 2500, is constitutional, the question will be put to the people Monday without the handicap of doubt of constitutionality.

A poll of the city, taken by the Commission Form of Government league, shows, according to the officials of the league, a 3 to 1 sentiment for the new form of government. The opponents of the measure admit a fairly close vote.

The law makes no provision for the printing of ballots and election of officers, and City Clerk T. D. S. Hare was at a loss whether or not to print them without authority. He decided to do so, and yesterday gave the order to the printers. Should the commission government carry, two more elections will be necessitated, one for primaries and another for election of commissioners.

RESERVATION LAND TO BE SOLD ON BID PLAN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Grande Ronde, Or., July 8.—The government will hold a sale of Grande Ronde reservation land at the Siletz agency, August 14, when 2934 acres will be sold to the highest bidder, actual settlers having preference right. Knott C. Egbert, superintendent, will conduct the sale.

The land lies in a number of tracts ranging in area from 20 to 320 acres, some tracts being in cultivation. The land will be sold on sealed bids with 10 per cent of purchase price in certified check with tenders. Deferred payments extending over a number of years will be allowed on three-fourths of purchase price.

Mr. Peterson, who operates a hotel at this place, is well informed as to the character of the land, and says that much of it is available for immediate homebuilding.

Boy Scouts Go to Lost Lake.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Hood River, Or., July 8.—The Boy Scouts of America of Hood River started on a long journey last night through the mountains to Lost lake. The scouts are accompanied by Dr. Kanaga, Rev. Mr. Simpson and others. The first stop after leaving the city was at Van Horn, where the scouts pitched camp. A full commissary has been provided and the 20 scouts will be absent for about one month. The distance from Hood River to Lost lake is nearly 30 miles.

OLD WAPPENSTEIN JURY SUMMONED BY NEW JURYMEN

Will Probably Be Asked to Explain Why It Did Not Reach Verdict in First Trial of Ex-Chief.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Seattle, Wash., July 8.—Hurriedly summoned last night by the grand jury, the first Wappenstein jury, which failed to reach a verdict, appeared before that investigating body this morning. In the first trial seven of the jurors voted to acquit and five to convict the ex-police chief.

It is believed that the grand jury wants the first jury to explain its action in failing to reach a verdict. The foreman was the first to go into the grand jury room today.

Following the foreman came J. W. Kohler, a carpenter; E. Vanderwel, a mariner, and Henry Schwarble, a real estate man. Kohler was the only one of the four who had voted for Wappenstein's conviction. The other jurors were excused till Monday.

TUGGING FATHER CANNOT GET CHILD

Walker, Or., Man Attempts Bold Coup in Court but Gets Only Scolding.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Tacoma, Wash., July 8.—Angry and defiant because the court refused to grant him the custody of his child in his divorce hearing, Frank Neal, of Walker, Or., yesterday afternoon made a bold attempt to kidnap his three year old baby daughter from the courtroom at the end of the hearing.

Grabbing the girl around the legs, he had reached the door when friends of the mother intervened and the mother herself came to the rescue. Father and mother then tugged at the child until it cried from pain. A court bailiff arrested Neal and Judge Charles M. Easterday of the superior court severely reprimanded the father, who had insisted throughout the trial that he would have his child by hook or crook.

MINE COMPANIES LATE REPORTING

Seventy-Five in Consequence Lose Privilege of $10 Minimum Fee.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., July 8.—To encourage the mining of precious metals in Oregon a law was passed by the legislature permitting a minimum annual license fee of $10, provided the companies got their reports in to the secretary of state's office by July 1. Of the 200 or more mining companies in the state about 75 failed to get their reports in by the first of the month and, as a result, will have to pay a fee in proportion to their capital stock. Owing to the heavy capitalization of mining companies the fees run as high as $200. The companies which are able to benefit by the minimum license fee of $10 are only those which mine the precious metals exclusively and make reports showing that their net earnings for the year had been less than $1000.

M'NAMARA EXTRADITION "LIKE STAGE PLAY"

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, July 8.—Bitterly arraigning Detective William J. Burns for the kidnaping of John J. and James B. McNamara, Samuel Gompers today spoke before the senate committee which is investigating "third degree" methods. Gompers denounced the McNamara arrest and extradition to Los Angeles as an outrage. He said:

"It was like a stage play. John McNamara was thrust bodily into a high speed automobile, which was all cranked up and ready to go. Three railroads were traversed on his trip to Los Angeles to prevent the issuance of habeas corpus papers. The arrest was not made until after all the courts of Indianapolis competent to issue a writ of habeas corpus in the case had closed for the day."

A petition was filed with the senate committee asking them to investigate charges by the Perkins agency that United States postoffice inspectors were financially interested in the Burns agency and had "prostituted their offices" in its behalf. The petition charges that Burns and the postoffice inspectors had conspired to put the Perkins agency out of business.

In court today Attorney Jordan asked that either the two girls be dismissed on the ground of insufficient evidence or that their bail be reduced. Magistrate Freschi said he would make no decision until the defense had completed its case.

Police Commissioner Waldo today ordered an investigation of the girls' charge that three policemen had permitted Stokes' detective to ransack their private trunks.

"The boy's loyalty to the gang, though the police condemn it, is really a commendable trait. It is nature. We should develop in the right direction the same spirit which causes the boy to refuse to 'snitch' on the gang and to stick to them. It all depends on the way you handle the boy."
