

FOOTICS OF INTEREST IN THE REALM OF FASHION

Fads and Fashions

New York, July 8.—Delightful summer frocks in bewildering variety are shown in the shops at this time and those who make the rounds of the shops with a view of purchasing one of these frocks, find it extremely difficult to choose. All well-known are high, but high enough to be effective and decorative, but sufficiently above the normal to give a cunning, youthful look to little summer frocks.

This accentuating of the high waistline is due, some dressmakers insist, to a reaction from the straight front corset, which, while it has wrought marvels in the improvement of mature figures, lengthens the waist and gives a heavy effect between the bust and beltline. The high waistline is really more youthful and slender figures it is charming. Sashes seem to belong rightfully with girlish, shortwaisted frocks and almost every midsummer costume this season has its sash bow, with or without ends, at the back of the bodice. The velvet sash may seem a bit cumbersome for midsummer wear in America, where the humidity brings a weather condition absolutely unknown in Paris; but in Paris, just now, these velvet sashes are considered extremely chic.

Everything that comes out of Paris this year has the touch of black that proclaims it Parisian. There may be only a tiny line of black piping at the neck, or a sprinkling of black buttons, on a chiffon vest, or perhaps the sash. Chiffon sashes are extremely graceful, but, of course, the material must be substantially weighted in order that it shall not fly about and spoil the lines of the frock.

Just now there seems to be a perfect craze for a certain deep, brilliant red shade, the royal red of coronation cloaks. Some of the Paris dressmakers have turned out whole frocks in this blazing color, and, as everybody with an observant eye has noted, red hats are a fad of the summer. But red is not a color that is so comfortable in hot weather as blue. In America, however much they may like it in London for patriotic reasons, or in Paris, where humidity is unknown. Green is more favored in America, and many of the handsomest costumes for summer wear, that are shown in the shops, are of this color.

A happy medium as regards both length and width with characterful all the skirts of frocks which are intended for young people, while in the matter of color only the daintiest and most delicate shades will be in request. Pale Quaker-gray will be one of the favorite tints for young girls' summer frocks, and some of the prettiest of these dresses are carried out in gray silk voile, and trimmed with shiny lace insertions dyed to match the color of the voile. These frocks are worn with gray suede shoes and gloves and gray, openwork silk stockings.

There is a great variety of summer blouses in the market this season. Nearly all of them are pretty and attractive. These are charming all weave blouses, which though made of different materials and trimmings and severity, are of sheer fine lawn or linen, the coquettish daintiness of which belies the severity of their finish. There are also handkerchief linings in white and color which, even when made up in the most delicate and delicate shades, look like a look to look anything but frivolously feminine.

Some of these blouses in stripes of white and color, buff, pink, blue, lavender, etc., are made up in the simplest fashion without plaids or tucks, with a pocket on the left side, long shirt sleeves and wristbands, and with a white stock and cravat of the linen or with turn down necklines collar either of white or of the stripe. The same materials are used for blouses with short sleeves and sailor or other turn down collars, as severe in finish as the others but a trifle less conventional.

This latter style is to be found also in white linen and is as comfortable as anything one could imagine for hot weather outfitting, though the effect is rather youthful and the low collar is not becoming to all. Such blouses in the very fine light weight French pique are still better than the linen models because they have less quickly yet wear as well and have no transparent effect. Worn with skirts to match or separate skirts they look very well.

The pretty white striped or plain silken serges, either black or navy blue, are the great vogue of the moment with regard to tailored suits in Paris, and charming they are indeed with their simple row of buttons on the side or down the front, their broad collar of white lace, moire, or silken poplin, and cuffs to match.

The vogue of navy blue and white has in no way decreased. Indeed, blue dresses with white revers and trimmings, or white frocks with dark blue necklines, are the order of the day. Hats naturally follow suit, and dark blue straw, Tagal, or Yedda or linen shapes are plentifully trimmed with Florence silk or muslin flowers forming wreaths, sheaves or sprays of foliage. The latter in pure white upon dark blue are extremely smart, while a large navy blue hat seen recently at the races, trimmed to match with navy blue silkine pompadour leaves and buds, was much admired.

A combination of dark blue, crimson or ruby, red and gold, is also active. FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

To Whom It May Concern

"Boys will be boys," they tell us. These kind words, which you think that every boy is an unmitigated joy and can't get on the blink. No matter how the youngsters may drive us crazy blind. With tearful eyes, somebody cries, "Boys will be boys. Be kind."

All over this big city the boys by thousands run. Of what they ought. So long as they have "fun." No other rights respected. No laws regarded, they bang in and out. And cruise about in the hoodlum way.

"Boys will be boys," they tell us. These foolish friends who hate to check the joys of thoughtless boys. They are quickly growing around us everywhere. And as they grow, Pool friends should know. Boys will be men. Beware! —W. J. Lampton in the New York Times.

Hats for Men. Ecuadorian panamas at a hundred dollars a piece unless anything that women's milliners can do, on price for plain hats.

The silk cap for motor wear is as light as a feather. The soft felt hat has a firm hold upon its wearers' affections.

Black velvet caps for steamer wear for men are the newest additions to the list.

The Grand Duchess Olga, eldest daughter of the Czar of Russia. With the closing of the coronation festivities in England, the next great event of the English people are looking forward to is the marriage of the Prince of Wales, heir apparent to the throne. Although he is only 17 years of age, royal nuptials are already casting about for a probable bride for him. The Grand Duchess Olga, accompanied by her youngest sister, the Grand Duchess Tatiana, will visit England with their mother, the Czarina, shortly, and there is no doubt that Prince Edward will grasp the opportunity to note their beauty and graces.

The Washerwoman's Song.

In a rather quiet spot,
In the sun and in the soap,
Worked a woman full of hope,
Working, singing, all alone,
And will always be a friend,
With the Savior for a friend,
He will keep you to the end.

Sometimes happening alone,
I had heard the semi-song,
And I often used to smile,
And though I never sang,
But I never said a word,
In regard to what I heard,
As she sang about her friend,
Who would keep her to the end.

Not in sorrow nor in grief,
Walking all day long was she,
As her children, three or four,
Played around her on the floor;
But in monotone the song,
She was humming all day long,
With the Savior for a friend,
He will keep me to the end.

It's a song I do not sing,
For I scarce believe a thing
Of the stories that are told
Of the miracles of old;
But I know that her belief
Is the anodyne of grief,
And will always be a friend
That will keep her to the end.

Just a triflesome she,
Just as poor as poor could be;
But her spirit always rose,
Like the bubbles in the foam,
And though I never sang,
Cheered her with the monotone,
Of a Savior and a friend,
Who would keep her to the end.

I have seen her rub and scrub,
On the washboard in the tub,
While the baby, young and true,
Rolled and tumbled in the suds,
Or was paddling in the pools,
With old scissors stuck in apoloos;
She still humming of her friend,
Who would keep her to the end.

Human hopes and human creeds
Have their root in human needs;
And I should not wish to strip
From that washerwoman's lip
Any song that she can sing,
Any hope that she can bring;
For the woman has a friend,
Who will keep her to the end.

Seen in the Shops of Paris.
Blouses of striped material are popular.

Girdles of strands of beads are much seen.

Fillet and venise are the most fashionable laces of the moment.

Do not forget the important girdle and sash on your afternoon dress. It is seen everywhere and adds an indisputable charm to frocks of any description.

As the extreme of the short jackets, the long redingotes and out, prominently. They are of serge and rough silks, trimmed with wide silk braids.

Young girls have favored, pongee and shantung frocks with "Baby" Irish or other handkerchiefs on all over for yoke and undersleeves. The girdle or sash is important.

One white crash linen model had a band of Alice blue crash finishing the skirt and three bands of Alice blue and white braid at the top of the band.

The millinery departments have been invaded by embroideries and we find entire parts and trimmings of the dainty cotton embroideries now offered by the manufacturers.

A fashionable idea for linen and voile frocks is to place a twelve to sixteen inch colored band around the bottom of the skirt and then introduce a touch of the color in the waist.

His Mother. Somewhere tonight you lie awake,
Heard your bitterest alone,
I cannot shield; your heart must take
Its turn to bleed and cower and moan.

When straight you pressed to your desire,
And all men spoke your praise, I
Now, naked, smitten, in the mire,
My arms reach out for you, my child.

Could I but sink you now to sleep,
How strong tomorrow from my breast
To fight and conquer you would leap;
Lord, I keep vigil, send him rest!

Des Moines, Iowa, and Leader: According to a fashion editor "women have adopted a style of summer gown that has only five buttons on the back." As a concession, we presume, to husbands with hair trigger tempers.

Assistant Postmaster W. E. Williamson left yesterday for San Francisco to spend a vacation period of two weeks.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

Written for The Journal, by Darra More. IS a man and he is writing from the man's standpoint, or better still, he is writing to fill space. You know there are a lot of us foolish young things who make our living that way. And, if we get in deep water occasionally, it isn't surprising.

He says, "This month and next some thousands of young women will launch their own little canoes out into the swift current of actual life. Practically every one of these can make perfectly beautiful fudge." Practically all these sweet girl graduates expect to make a brilliant marriage, or a marriage at any rate, and that being true, the knowledge of how to construct a decent biscuit is much more important than the correct number of minutes to cook fudge.

"A few of the more progressive schools touch upon the fringe of actuality in their 'domestic science' courses, but the vast multitude of average schools have a smattering of the three 'R's'—some rhetoric and trigonometry, and Caesar, and considerable other junk that might as well be Sanscrit, with little of nature study, and never a line about how to sew a button on properly, nor even the slightest peep into the mysteries of the proper way to cook a four-pound roast. Presently we shall be a race of single men and single women, except the wealthy, who will hire all the men cooks, and all the rest will breakfast out of a paper carton, lunch on a 'cube,' and dine out of a tin can."

My! I'd hate to be that man's wife. Poor little thing, she would be so strapped to the pots and pans and the daily drudgery of life that she could qualify in Lizzie's class. Who was Lizzie, do you ask? Well, Lizzie appeared at a back door in Wyoming and asked for light housework. She explained that she had been ill with typhoid fever and was convalescing.

"Where did you come from, Lizzie?" the woman of the house inquired. "Where have you been?" "I've been workin' out on Howell's ranch," replied Lizzie, "diggin' post holes while I was gittin' my strength back."

That's the kind of woman that the man who wrote the article to fill space is looking for. Of course, every girl who means to get married should know how to cook and to sew and to sweep, and, of course, every girl would like to be happily married. But, there are a lot of other things that she ought to know, and among them is the study of the nature of man. Cooking is of prime importance, but it is much simpler to master that art than the art of living with man. Cooking and sewing and scouring are only the A, B, C's of matrimony.

A Hot Weather Dinner For Sixty

By Anna B. Scott. Macaroni is a good meat substitute, and is cheap. We can substitute any other soup. Following is the menu: Cream of Onion Soup. Macaroni Croquettes with Tomato Sauce. String Bean Salad, German Style. Strawberry Sponge Gems.

We use drippings that we have saved to fry the croquettes, as it would not be economical to have to use lard for frying purposes. In counting up the cost of the dinner I do not figure on buying lard. If I wanted the above dinner and did not have drippings, I would brush mustard or handless cups with butter or lard and make the croquettes in a hot oven 20 minutes, or if you bake in a hot oven 25 minutes.

Cream of Onion Soup.

2 cups milk.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 tablespoon flour.
1 cup onion.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon white pepper.

Dash paprika.
Put the onions on with 1 quart boiling water and boil until tender. Drain and save 2 cups of the water in which the onions were cooked; add this water to the boiling milk, and press the onions through a fine strainer and add to the milk, then add the salt, pepper, and paprika, rub the butter, stir all together until smooth, add to the soup and stir constantly 3 minutes. This should be very creamy. Any vegetable can be used in this way.

Cost—Milk 4 cents, onion 2 cents, butter 3 cents, other ingredients 1/2 cent. Total, 9 1/2 cents.

Macaroni Croquettes.

1 cup elbow macaroni.
1 cup milk.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 cup onion.
2 tablespoons grated cheese.
1 tablespoon chopped parsley.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon white pepper.
Dash paprika.

Boil, drain and blanch macaroni, chop fine. Put the milk over the fire; rub butter and flour together and add to the boiling milk. When thick and smooth add the onion, cheese, parsley, salt, pepper, and paprika.

Cost—Milk 4 cents, onion 2 cents, butter 3 cents, other ingredients 1/2 cent. Total, 9 1/2 cents.

String Bean Salad, German Style.

1 quart string beans.
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion or onion juice.
1/2 cup vinegar.
1/2 cup oil.
1/2 cup sugar.
1/2 cup salt.

String the beans and slice the long way; put into cold water 15 minutes. Drain and put on with 3 quarts boiling water, add 2 tablespoons salt, and boil 40 minutes. Add salt, pepper, sugar, and set aside to cool, then put into refrigerator until ready to use.

(This can be prepared in the morning for the evening meal.) Make French dressing with the onion juice. Clean, wash and drain the lettuce. Serve the beans on a bed of lettuce leaves with the French dressing. All the ingredients should be ice cold.

Cost—Beans 5 cents, lettuce 4 cents, oil 3 cents, other ingredients 1 cent. Total, 14 cents.

Strawberry Sponge Gems.

5 eggs.
1 cup sugar.
1 cup flour.
Bent the eggs and sugar together 15 minutes, then sift in the flour and fold it in. Be sure that you do not beat the cake after adding the flour. Bake in buttered gem pans in hot oven 10 minutes. This amount will make 20 gems, about 1 1/2 tablespoons to a gem. Dust with powdered sugar and remove to cake cloth.

When ready to serve, crush 2 cups strawberries with 1/2 cup sugar, and put 1 tablespoon over top of each gem. This is also very nice served with a spoonful of whipped cream on top. Any other cake can be served in this way.

Cost—Eggs 10 cents, flour 1 1/2 cents, butter 1 cent, sugar 4 1/2 cents, strawberries 8 cents. Total, 25 cents.

Now, we are charging 25 cents for the dessert when the cakes used amount to less than 4 cents. The strawberries are charging at the rate of 15 cents per quart, and I have seen them as low as 10 cents for the small berries, which are just as good to crush as the larger ones, and in this instance we are crushing them.

Total cost of dinner: 9 1/2 + 14 + 25 = 48 1/2 cents.

Deducting the cost of the gems that we have left over, the cost of the dinner will be only 40 cents.

Causes 95 Per Cent of Diseases

Advice Concerning Stomach Troubles and How to Remedy Them.

Do not neglect indigestion which leads to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent doctor once said that ninety-five per cent of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

A physician who made a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost immediate. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure healthy appetite, aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return you the money you paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes, prices 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain them only at—The Rexall Store, The Owl Drug Co., Inc., corner Seventh and Washington streets.

BOY SCOUTS ARE A FEATURE TODAY AT CHAUTAUQUA

Lads Will Be Given Chance to Display Their Fine Uniforms—Ex-Governor Hanley Lectures This Afternoon.

Tomorrow's Program. Morning—10:00, Sunday School. 11:00, Scripture Recital. Rev. Edith Hill Booker, Emporia, Kansas. Afternoon—1:15, Band Concert. Naval Reserve Band; 2:00, Music. W. H. Boyer, tenor; DeWitt Miller, 4:00, Concert. Monday Musical Club. Mrs. Rose Reed Hanscom, director. Evening—7:15, Band concert. Naval Reserve Band; 8:00, Sacred concert. Apollo Concert Company of Chicago.

Boys' day is an innovation for Chautauqua, which gives the Scouts an opportunity to show off their natty uniforms which they are just as proud of as was ever an old G. A. R. veteran of his button.

The boys are evidently appreciating the fact that this great association is giving them signal recognition, for, if there are any boys staying away from Chautauqua this morning it would be hard to tell where they are keeping themselves. The first favor granted the boys—and this has been extended to the girls as well—is a reduced admission. The second is a program, particularly the forum and afternoon sports being especially arranged for them. The word has been passed all over the grounds today, "Give the boys a chance!" and they are having it.

Prizes for Winners. The winners will receive handsome gold, silver and bronze medals. There are crowds of boys eager and anxious waiting the start.

The forum will be given wholly to a discussion of those subjects pertaining to the welfare of boys, and they will be handled by such experts as H. W. Stone, of the Y. M. C. A., Rev. William Proctor, Pacific University, Rev. Lansborough, St. Martin's school for boys, Rev. C. W. Robinson, Hugh Krumm and E. C. Hurlow.

A pleasing announcement was yesterday that Tom Dobson would sing a group of children's songs this afternoon at 1:15, and many have come up for this special feature.

This afternoon Ex-Governor Hanley was scheduled to deliver his second lecture, "The Patriotism of Peace." Mr. Hanley made good last night in his tremendously forceful lecture, "The Spirit of Democracy."

The spirit of democracy seemed rampant yesterday, and one of the staunchest arguments ever advanced from the Chautauqua rostrum, on a true democracy—a democracy that would mean all the people, and not a democracy of one-half the people, was delivered by Mrs. Emma A. Fox of Detroit, Mich. She was followed by W. A. Williams of Forest Grove, who gave an eloquent resume of the work of women in civics.

Miss Julia Justis, a member of the Monday Musical club, who has just returned from a winter's study in New York, represented her club on the club woman's program, by a group of songs, which called forth repeated applause. She was the recipient of several bouquets of roses and sweet peas. Warren Allen of Berkeley, Cal., gave several piano selections which were of exceptional merit.

The skies began to frown and the clouds began to pour down. Just as the lunch hour was announced, and the hastily prepared baskets of the club women were uncovered, but the Harmony club came to the rescue and invited the plunkers to the shelter of their commodious dining room in the cabin built by the club last year. Tables were spread for about 50, and the "waiting list" kept them filled for several rounds. It was a jolly party, made happier by the steaming hot coffee served by Mrs. A. King Wilson, Mrs. M. A. Dalton and Mrs. Ida Pettenger. During the luncheon Mrs. Simon, manager of the restaurant, sent in beautifully decorated basket of delicious small cakes and tarts. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Simon for the courtesy and to the Harmony club for the use of its quarters.

Every class this morning increased its attendance. The Gillespie School of Expression numbered over 80.

Bible Classes Successful. The Bible classes by Mrs. Booker are proving highly successful. The eloquence, fervor and earnestness of this gentle, quiet little woman impresses everyone that hears her.

Professor L. T. Brethaupt is gathering a host of boys and young men around him in his elementary agricultural talks. The field work is particularly attractive.

The kindergarten, conducted by the Congress of Mothers, is crowded at every session to the limits of the building, and on several occasions the children were taken out doors for the work. Sunday promises one of the great days of Chautauqua, and while there will be no classes except Sunday school and a scriptural recital, many preparations are being made to handle the crowd that will come for the afternoon evening music. The Apollo concert company, which has been present for several days, and will make its last appearance tomorrow evening, has been stormed with applause at every concert, and has received perhaps the most cordial reception ever given anything this year.

The music which is under the direction of Professor W. H. Boyer, has been more of a feature this year, than ever before.

EIGHT SENATORS WITH TAFT ON MAYFLOWER

(United Press Special Wire.)

Washington, July 8.—Off for an ocean joy ride, President Taft left the League Island navy yard last midnight on board the Mayflower. With him were eight senators. They will spend the time until Monday cruising up and down the coast and over the Potomac.

We Offer You a Cure

Pay Us When You Are Well

We want to talk to those people who have doctored and drugged in vain; to those sufferers who are throwing their money away on patent nostrums and other worthless treatment. You are tired of spending your money and getting nothing in return. You want a cure. We will give you that, and you can pay us afterward.

We have the greatest remedy of the age—electricity as applied by Electra-Vita. We can show you people who have suffered for years from rheumatism, weakness, lameness, neuritis, other chronic disorders, who never received any permanent relief until they used our Electra-Vita.

We have so much confidence in our appliance that we are willing to wait for our pay until you are cured. If we can't help you we don't want your money.

If you want to get well and stay well, you must help nature remove the cause of your ailment. Doping the nerves and vitals with poison will fool nature for a while, but that doesn't cure the trouble. Nature must have every aiding part of your body the power to do its work as nature intended.

Electra-Vita is a dry cell battery which makes its own electricity and is always charged, ready for use. All you have to do is adjust it correctly and turn on the power to the proper degree of strength. It is not like old style electric belts, faradic batteries and other contrivances you may have seen or used. Electra-Vita does not shock or burn. The current is powerful in its action, but is soothing and pleasant to the nerves. Electra-Vita is equipped with special attachments for applying the current direct to any part of the body.

You may have tried ordinary batteries or taken electric treatment from physicians without getting any lasting benefit, but that is no argument against Electra-Vita. The doctor's battery is only applied for half an hour at a time, and that is not enough to effect a cure. Besides that method is inconvenient and expensive. Electra-Vita can be used all day or all night without interfering with your work or rest. It costs less than a course of drugging.

No matter how far away you live, you can use Electra-Vita as successfully as if you were here in our office.

Mr. B. Bartlett, Myrtle Point, Or., says: "I have used Electra-Vita with great success. No more pain in my hip and legs and the rheumatism has left me entirely. I sleep soundly at night and feel greatly benefited in every way."

Mrs. A. B. Ketcham, The Dalles, Or., says: "My experience with Electra-Vita has been perfectly satisfactory. The rheumatism is better, all the pain has gone, and I feel better generally. I am past 70 years of age, and was told that I could not get a cure on that account and because of the chronic nature of the complaint, but Electra-Vita has done the work worth nothing. Nothing I have ever tried has given me as quick and decided relief as this appliance."

Mr. Albert Davis, Salem, Or., says: "I am well satisfied with Electra-Vita for the thirty days I have been using it. My back doesn't pain me any more and that tired feeling is gone. I think Electra-Vita is all right and could not do without it."

Mr. W. H. Nielsen, Care C. T. Co., Scappoose, Or., says: "I have found Electra-Vita to be a great remedy for kidney trouble, lame back and rheumatism."
