IN SOCIETY

This week the tennis devotees will enjoy a round of both work and play during the tournament of the North Pacific International Lawn Tennis association. The tournament will be held in the afternoon at the Irvington Tennis club, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and some charming social events will fill the remaining odd hours for the visitors, arranged by the following committee for entertainment: Walter C. Brewer, chairman; L. M. Starr, Ralph Corroll, Brandt Wickham, Walter A. Goss and F. H. V. Andrews. The ladies who will have charge of the refreshments at the courts Thursday will be Mrs. Walter M. Cook, Friday, Mrs. L. E. Starr, and Saturday, Mrs. Frank J. Raley. Thursday evening the men will give a smoker at the Commercial club; Friday evening a "Flannel Dance" will be given at the Irvington club and Saturday night the Monarch will take the party up the Columbia river to view its wonders by moonlight.

Some of the visitors who arrived today are, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. H. Cardinal of Vancouver, B. C.; Judge P. E. Lampman of Victoria, B. C.; and Donald S. McCadden of Tacoma, and Beverley Rhodes.

Miss Blanch Dorothy Schott will be married this evening to Walter H. Yerkes at All Saints Episcopal church at 4:45 o'clock. This wedding is of unusual interest owing to the popularity of both Miss Schott and Mr. Yerkes. Miss Schott's personal charms and her facile talents have won for her countless admiring friends. She seems equally gifted in journalism, the many domestic arts and as a watercolor artist. The wedding is to be quite informal only the relatives and immediate friends having been asked. They will leave directly for a fortnight trip through California. The attendants will be Miss Margaret Boschke and Rex H. Conant.

Mrs. Wesley N. Chatten entertained at her home at Rock Spur yesterday afternoon in compliance to her two house guests, Mrs. Edmund H. Lake and Miss Lucia B. Keniston, and Mrs. Anita B. Hill, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles E. Runyon. "A hundred" was played at the 16 tables arranged. The prizes were won by Mrs. C. J. Cook, Mrs. H. J. Kelly and Mrs. Edward Hall. Throughout the rooms a color scheme of pink and white was artistically carried out with quantities of pink sweet peas and syringas.

Miss Marjorie Forbis and her guest, from Butte, Mont., Miss Margaret Meagher came in from the Forbis country home near Forest Grove, where they are spending the summer, for a few days this week. They are the guests of Mrs. Richard Hoge. Miss Meagher will probably visit with Miss Forbis until the first of August.

Mrs. Edmund Devereaux and daughter will leave Saturday for Gearhart hotel where they expect to pass the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. David T. Honeyman and Mrs. Thomas Kerr will later join the colony or society people at Gearhart Park for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. Frank Hart and Miss Sally Hart were at home yesterday afternoon at their home at Riverside for about 10 of Miss Hart's girlfriends. Tea was served on the lawn. Mrs. Edmund L. Devereaux poured. The door was attended by little Clorinda Wells.

This afternoon Miss Gladys Weidner, bride-elect, it motif for a tea, given by Mrs. John E. Cronan.

Monday, Miss Mayme Helen Flynn and Miss Irene Flynn gave a prettily appointed luncheon for Miss Blanch Schott, bride-elect, at the Commercial club. Covers were laid for 12. The table was arranged with brown eyed susans.

Miss Mayme Helen Flynn left last night with Miss Grace Gearin for a few weeks' visit in California. They will join Miss Gearin's aunt, Mrs. McCormick, in San Francisco.

Sunday Dr. and Mrs. George Peters returned after a two weeks' motor trip through southern California with Mr. and Mrs. Marc Bunnell of San Francisco.

PIMPLES ON FACE CAUSED GREAT DISFIGUREMENT

For Three Long Years, Suffered Great Deal. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Brought Marvelous Results. In Few Weeks Cured Completely.

"I was troubled with acne for three long years. My face was the only part affected, but it caused great disfigurement, also suffering and loss of sleep. At first there appeared red, hard pimples, which later contained white matter, and I suffered a great deal caused by the itching. I was in a state of perplexity when walking the streets or anywhere before the public.

"I used pills and other remedies but they failed completely. I thought of giving up when nothing would help, but something told me to try the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a Cuticura Box which I read carefully. Then I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and by following the directions I was relieved in a few days. I used Cuticura Soap for washing my face, and applied the Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. This treatment brought marvelous results so I continued with it for a few weeks and was cured completely. I can truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are not only all that, but more than the claim to be." (Signed) G. Baumel, 1015 W. 20th Place, Chicago, Ill., May 28, 1911.

For more than a generation Cuticura Remedies have afforded the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp. A cake of Cuticura Soap (3c.) and a box of Cuticura Ointment (5c.) are often sufficient. Although sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin, will be sent free, on application to Pottier Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 23, Boston.

COLTS LOVE EACH OTHER; ETHEL MAY NOT SUE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, July 12.—That Ethel Barrymore may not press her suit for divorce against her husband, Russell G. Colt, and that Colt does not expect any trouble, was learned here today. It is said on reliable authority that her friends and family are making every conceivable effort to bring about a reconciliation between the couple.

Friends of the actress assert that she still loves Colt, and the associates of Colt say that he is as fond of his wife as ever.

Both John Drew, her uncle, and Jack Barrymore, her favorite brother, have wired the actress to reconsider any plans for divorce.

Frank M. Patterson, attorney for Russell G. Colt, does not believe Ethel Barrymore has had divorce papers actually prepared.

"As far as we know there has been no real trouble," he said. "Mr. Colt has certainly not given cause for divorce."

Miss Barrymore's attorneys, Dittenhofer, Gerber & James, denied having been retained by her for any action.

Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, the novelist, who recently returned home after several months abroad. Upon her arrival the famous novelist declared, "If I should go back to the British Isles in 50 years, I'm convinced I should find the British Isles being governed by women." "Of course, the women will have to fight to attain such sovereignty," she added. "But I've met all the chief militant suffragettes in England and they are capable persons. Men have to fight for all they have got. Why shouldn't women expect the same difficulties?" "Although many a woman may be a fool, many a man is not much better."

Salem for the cherry fair are: Mrs. M. A. Rawson, who was the guest of Mrs. H. D. Bennett; Dr. D. B. Griffin, and W. P. Phelps.

Mrs. Ernel Miller and Dorcas Hedlin were guests of Miss Gladys Graham in Astoria the forepart of last week.

Mrs. W. T. Eakin and daughter, Miss Barbara Eakin, of Astoria are visiting friends in Portland.

Mrs. S. Wilks Bailey of 122 East Twenty-seventh street north, and Mrs. William Mason and daughter, Mae, of 84 E. Stark street, have left town for a three weeks' stay at Mount Rainier.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Daniel E. Bowman asked in her friends to meet her aunt, Mrs. D. J. McAllister. About 60 ladies called during the afternoon. Mrs. Bowman received in a white lingerie gown and Mrs. McAllister wore an imported gown of white silk. Yellow poppies formed the centerpiece for the dining table, where ices were served. The entire dining room was decorated in yellow. Mrs. L. Therkelson poured. The door was attended by little Clorinda Wells.

The Marshfield Episcopal church is making arrangements for the entertainment of Bishop Scadding, who will visit there early in August. It will be the bishop's first visit to the Marshfield church since it has become a regular parish. Formerly, the church was a mission. After attending to his church duties, Bishop Scadding and his wife, who will accompany him, will go to Bandon, where they will spend some time at their summer cottage. The bishop's retreat at Bandon is an ideal one for a busy man. It is located about a mile outside of the city on the ocean beach. It is a small, rough, board house of two rooms, and is nestled down in the side of a steep embankment. It cannot be seen even from the wagon road a few rods away. Steps lead down to the beach. The view is one of the finest in Oregon. The Bandon beach at this point is lined with big rocks and reefs. The breakers almost touch the bishop's house. The view enjoyed from the porch of the house takes in the ocean and the beach for a long distance in each direction, but there is absolutely nothing seen that is the work of man excepting a few rustic two Episcopal ministers erected on the top of one of the enormous rocks some distance out from the shore. It is in this little cottage that Bishop Scadding each summer enjoys a vacation, and has the opportunity of securing absolute rest from the world.

PICTURES OF HEART INTEREST

Written for The Journal by DARRA MORE.
T was the evening of the Fourth of July. I was walking through one of those semi-business streets that abound in certain residence districts of Chicago. The thermometer had registered 102 that afternoon. On every filthy door step were baby faces, whose little features bore unmistakable marks of the terrific hot wave. In the streets were grimy little boys whose slender bodies were scorched by the sun's rays. At a window was a mother holding a tiny baby who was almost suffocated as it breathed the burning air. At another window was the wicker figure of a poor crippled lad, strapped to a board.

I passed strong men carrying little bundles of human flesh that had been taken to the parks and other cooler spots in the hope that the little ones' struggles for life might be lessened. On every face was the despair born of the fearful death toll that is levied among the poor in hot weather.

Crossing over a couple of blocks to the east, I found myself in an entirely different stratum of society and environment. Green trees outlined the pavements and cast their shade over the crazy plots that hedge the smart looking residences and expensive apartment houses. On the lawns and on the porches were sprightly little girls and boys in snowy white, young men in white flannels and young women in clinging lingerie and alluring silks. At the curb of many of the dwellings stood chic little electric or handsome big touring cars. Everywhere was the single of gold and the insignia of the financially important.

And what were these care-free folk doing? They were celebrating the Fourth with gorgeous displays of fireworks. Sky rockets were being sent hundreds of feet into the air to loosen tiny little stars of varied hue. They were reveling in the manipulation of contrivances that emitted myriads of little sparks. They were setting off torpedoes that resounded with all the fury of a bomb.

A picture of brilliant illumination it was, a scene which represented thousands of dollars expended in fireworks with which to satisfy a taste for speculations.

And over on that shabby street, just a couple of blocks away, were hundreds of babies whose little lives were being snuffed out for the lack of ice. The newspapers were waging a splendid battle to gain contributions for an ice fund that would partially allay the heat tortures. Appeals were being made by the various charitable societies for money with which to fight the devouring breath of the sun. And I wondered how in the face of such a condition, people of fortune could enjoy their pyrotechnics with all those suffering baby faces on their consciences?

In the future years, stories will be told our grandchildren—as we tell them now of the Medusa with the snaky locks—of that day of barbarism in the 20th century when men and women put the bomb before the baby.

Notes From the Press

Montgomery Advertiser: Should a man introduce his second wife to his divorced wife—or shall the matter rest in the discretion of the woman who is now putting up with him and his ways?

Louisville Courier-Journal: The Oklahoma bride who fell in the river during a freshet and hung to a log till it carried her 15 miles to safety may be counted upon for hot enough to fry spiders over a red hot stove from now till her golden wedding.

Philadelphia Inquirer: The wife of a Kansas minister horsewhipped the person who talked about her. That's right; spare the rod and spoil the gossip.

New York Sun: If Josephine Brown, 3 years old, who had four children and a kitchen range to take care of, had lost her head when a coal fire set to her frock, her little charges as well as herself would now be in a hospital or burned up with the house. But when found she was engaged in a silent fight with the flames. It is to be hoped that she will recover to receive the reward of heroism that was of the true life-saving sort and as rare as it was magnificent.

Mansfield (Ohio) News: What has become of the old fashioned woman, who, after the noon meal had been prepared, and dish washing and all work connected therewith had been finished, "sleeked up" a bit and sat on the front porch sewing until time to get supper?

Musical Instruments Slaughtered!

I urgently need a lot of cash. I can't borrow at the banks. I must get it out of my goods. I have everything that a high-class general musical merchandise establishment carries—from a jews-harp to a grand piano. The newest and finest assorted stock. All kinds of talking machines, records for them, sheet music (popular and classic), mandolins, guitars, banjos, band instruments, music cabinets, upright pianos, player pianos, harmonicas, drums and everything else.

My regular prices have always been the lowest in town. But to get money quickly I'm going to reduce every price by just exactly one third. My $6 violins will cost $4 now. My fine $180 Arlington pianos will cost $120. My $200 talking machines are $133.33 now; $25 talking machines go for $16.67.

I will sell some used pianos for almost anything a bona fide buyer wants to give. But it must be cash. I'll take $120 for a great, big Weber piano. It would cost anyway $300 elsewhere. A fine $500 Hallet & Davis piano—I'll take $180 for it. I have some pianos for $80 and some for $100, but these prices are cash, no payments.

We can't wait—in fact, must not wait for payments. We must have the money now, and quick. Call right away at 413 Washington street. PERRY C. GRAVES (INC.). No connection with any other establishment in town. You'll buy something if you call, because my prices are so low.
