

Topics of Interest in the Realm Feminine

IN SOCIETY

Mrs. John Emerson Cronan was hostess yesterday afternoon at a tea at her home on Portland Heights, for Miss Gladys Welder, who is to be married the latter part of the month. She asked about 60 of the younger set, including the many brides and brides to be. Tea was served in the dining room, where the following ladies presided: Mrs. David C. Lewis, Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman, Mrs. George K. Wentworth and Mrs. David T. Hovey. On the porch Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd served tea, and Mrs. George Marshall served punch. The house was prettily decorated in the many quaint old fashioned flowers, candy tuft, Canterbury bells and Sweet Williams.

Mrs. B. F. Weaver entertained with military whist yesterday afternoon for Mrs. H. B. Rogers and Miss Carolyn Rogers of Chicago, her two much feted house guests. A military scheme of decorations was cleverly carried out with flags, and red and white roses. There were 13 tables at cards, at which prizes were won by Mrs. C. S. Read, Mrs. J. Coulsen Hare and Mrs. Frederick Jennings.

The wedding of Miss Blanche Dorothy Schott and Walter H. Terlan was solemnized last evening at 8:45 o'clock, at the All Saints Episcopal church. To bride was given away by her father, George F. Schott. Miss Margaret Boschke and Rex H. Conant attended the bride and groom. Miss Irene Flynn sang "O, Perfect Love" (Burlingame), and F. W. Goodrich played the wedding march. The church was beautifully decorated in green and white. White bows of tulle ribbon were tied to the pews, and at either side of the altar, which was decked with white Canterbury bells, Shasta daisies and phlox and palms, were arranged about the church. Miss Schott wore her traveling gown of royal blue foulard with tulle toque to match. She carried white, sweet peas. Miss Boschke also wore blue, and carried pink sweet peas. Mrs. Schott wore black marquisette with black hat, with plumes. Miss Clara Felschman caught the bride's bouquet, which she threw as she left the church. Mr. and Mrs. Terlan left for San Francisco on the 7:45 train. They will return to Portland after a two weeks' sojourn in southern California.

Mrs. M. L. Butler and her daughter Miss Pearl Luckvick will entertain informally Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Whelan.

At the Irvington Tennis club this afternoon during the tournament the following ladies will preside with Mrs. Walter M. Cook at the refreshment table: Mrs. E. T. Northrup, Mrs. Sam T. Lockwood, Mrs. Louis Starr, Miss Mabel Goss and Miss Elizabeth Stewart.

Much interest is manifest in the "Breakers" tournament for the middle of August. This has been held for four years at North Beach, each time proving as interesting from a social standpoint as the athletic contest.

Mrs. Emma A. Fox will be guest of honor at a luncheon next Tuesday to be given at the Portland by the Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Fox is the parliamentarian of the General Federation. Any clubwoman may arrange to attend by communicating with Mrs. A. A. Breyman, or Mrs. Frederick Eggert.

Ralph J. Hurlbut returned last week from Ann Arbor, Mich., where he has just finished the law course of the university.

Mrs. Rose Reed-Hancom was a guest of Mrs. James R. McCracken last week at the beautiful McCracken farm, Hunters Hill, White Salmon.

A delightful river party was given

Simple Home Remedy For Wrinkled Faces

(From Popular Toiletries)

Thousands of women are spending fortunes in their frantic efforts to remove the signs of premature aging from their faces. When in this state of mind a woman will spend almost any amount of money on worthless wrinkle removers, of which there are many.

If these women only knew it, the most effective remedy imaginable is a simple, harmless face wash which can be made up at home in less than a minute. They have only to get an ounce of powdered salicylate and half a pint of witch hazel at the drug store and mix the two. Apply the daily as a refreshing lotion. The effect is almost magical. Even after the first treatment a marked improvement is noticed and the face has a snug, firm feeling that is most pleasing.

THE POOR BOY'S CHANCE

Written for The Journal by Darra More.

ERNEST HUBERT, aged 15, landed in a big city recently holding a pair of box cars apart with his feet. He had 20 cents in his jeans the day he made up his mind, in the country town, that he would go forth into the great world and wrest fame and fortune then return to marry the girl of his heart, a miss of 14.

You see, Ernest had been reading up on Abe Lincoln and a few others, who had marched to success barefooted, plodding behind a horse pulling a canal boat, splitting rails or carrying newspapers. His heart swelled within him and his nostrils already sniffed the fruits of his own conquests.

But railroad detectives have neither imagination nor sentiment with youth's effervescence, and whatever they may have read about those great ones who start to fame was made holding a pair of box cars apart, had long since been forgotten. So, in 15-year-old Ernest Hubert their cold blooded and practical minds saw only a little boy hobo, whose place was the police station, until his parents could be notified.

Sunday when the "Awoux Girls" were entertained by John Wick, owner of the Awoux. The party left Portland early in the morning, going down the Willamette and up the Columbia river for a distance of several miles, where they spent the entire day. Luncheon was prepared by the girls and was set on under the trees near the river. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Coleman, who seemed to have a better time than the young people. After reaching Portland the boat carried them up to the Oaks, enjoying the band music from the river. Those in the party were the Misses Genevieve Coffey, Gladys Crockett, Katie Schaefer, Anna Gearhart, Emily Coleman, Agnes Peterson and the Messrs. Leo Boire, Edum Potter, George Schaefer, John Wick and Mr. and Mrs. Coleman.

Mrs. John Vert returned today to her home in Pendleton, after a five weeks' visit in this city.

Notes From the Barracks

Colonel and Mrs. J. S. Rodgers have just returned from an automobile trip to Mount Hood, where they went in company with seven Portland people. They were gone two days, staying overnight at Rhododendron Inn. The party motored up the mountain to within three miles of the snow line.

Mrs. J. S. Rodgers attended the luncheon Wednesday given by Mrs. Tannehauser in Portland.

Mrs. Robert Pireson gave an informal tea Monday evening to a few ladies of the garrison in honor of Mrs. and Miss Stewart, who are the guests of Mrs. Stewart.

Mrs. Marion P. Maus gave an informal tea Tuesday evening to a few of the ladies of the garrison for the same guests.

13-YEAR-OLD GIRL HOLDS UP CUYAHOGA FALLS BANK

Akron, Ohio, July 13.—The Cuyahoga Falls bank was held up by Edna Goble, 13, carrying a revolver. The girl was arrested.

done me. Take, for instance, the marking on "experience." Mr. Plummer was asked five times higher than I was yet Mr. Plummer has admitted to me that I have had more experience than he has had.

"It was evident to the examiners that they were marking Mr. Plummer's paper, for the reason that Mr. Plummer, in that mentioned the fact that he was then acting as city building inspector. One of the examiners, an enemy of mine, who has worked me an injury before this, knew my handwriting.

"I believe that the marking should be given over by examiners who are acquainted with the applicants. I want to know the names of the other examiners so that I can obtain redress elsewhere in case this commission does not see fit to give another examination."

Seek Fire Chief.

The commission took the communications under consideration, promising an investigation of the facts. Mayor Rushlight said he believed if the facts stated

Late at night Ernest's step-father came to find him in the great city and took the ambitious explorer back to the country town.

Biography is full of stories that charge the young mind with the idea that all a poor boy has to do is to stretch out his hand and seize upon the great chance. Little boys read that with a belief in themselves and ceaseless energy, nothing can stop their progress. They hear how humble men have succeeded by the simplest methods, how Ben Jonson was a bricklayer, Andrew Johnson a tailor, Thomas A. Edison a newsboy.

Ernest Hubert, imbued with this "dope," that is peddled broadcast from platform and public press, started out to conquer a cruel world. He had the great desire to do things; he had faith in himself; he was ready to work ceaselessly, but—those unfeeling cops saw in him only a grimy, ill-clad little hobo, and put him behind prison bars.

After all, what a slender chance a poor boy has in the city of today.

are true that another examination for building inspector would be held. Commissioner P. L. Armstrong declared that he would stand back of the markings and that he believed the examiners had marked all papers with fairness and accuracy.

Mayor Rushlight appointed Commissioners Logan and Willis a committee of two to prepare a scope of examination for the position of fire chief to fill the vacancy made by the death of the late David Campbell. It is probable that the committee will limit the scope so that only the assistant chief and battalion chiefs can become eligible for the position.

This would put Assistant Chief Landen and Battalion Chiefs Stevens, Dowell and Young in line for the chiefdom.

By direction of the mayor the commission will also prepare new classifications for the positions of playground inspectors, gatekeepers in the water department and other positions. Hereafter the commission will hold examinations for offices already classified more frequently. It will be their aim to provide eligible lists at all times so that there will be no necessity for temporary appointments.

their heads under the surface until the flames roared past.

Many Thrown Overboard.

At South Forebush while women and children were being hurried to safety on the steamer Golden City a gang of fear frenzied foreigners rushed the boats moored at the wharf and threw the other passengers overboard. Joseph Gardner, a druggist, rose to the occasion and with a revolver backed the foreigners away until the women and children were safe.

When the town of Golden City was threatened many men refused to fight the flames. Constable Piercy, however, held them to the fire lines and at gun point forced them to work until the town was saved.

21 Counties Swept by Fire.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Grayling, Mich., July 13.—The village of Waters, 13 miles from here, is a mass of smoking ruins and debris today. For miles and miles northeastern Michigan is a blackened desolation.

Three thousand persons, inhabitants of Waters, Oscoda and Au Sable, are homeless. Scores are missing from Oscoda and Au Sable and it is impossible to gain an accurate estimate of the fatalities. The situation, however, is slightly better today, the fire having burned itself out in the vicinity of the ruined towns.

Twenty-one counties in the northern end of the lower peninsula have been swept by the flames, according to the report of Fire Warden Oates.

tax to the fixed charges of their business, exacting from the public through increased rates and prices every dollar paid to the government. The corporation tax amendment fittingly came from Aldrich, but what will be said of the president of the United States who, in his campaign, gave the voters to understand he would favor the income tax?

Increased Burdens.

"It has increased the people's burdens and adds to the long score of betrayal after betrayal which can be laid at the door of Taft."

Summing up his indictment of the president, La Follette asserted that the chief executive had attempted to secure the enactment of an interstate commerce law favorable to the railroads; that he threw open Controller Bay to the "interests," and that he had removed honest and efficient Garfield from the interior department and replaced him by Ballinger.

He declared that Taft's course had been vacillating and without definite policy, "because, apparently, there has been throughout the administration no conviction other than those as the hour made them appear expedient."

Tried to Buy Support.

Concluding, La Follette said: "Rebuked at the polls by the election of 1910, the president foolishly tried to buy back with postoffice appointments the support of the progressives in congress which he had lost when he abandoned progressive policies."

"This reciprocity bill is cruelly unjust to 33,000,000 people engaged in or dependent on agriculture. They are fighting for simple justice with their backs to the wall, and are entitled to employ every legitimate weapon against this measure."

Press Joins Taft.

"Joined with the executive in an effort to force the reciprocity bill through congress are the newspapers, frankly admitting their selfish interest; the railroads, the over-protected manufacturers and practically every trust and combine, backed by the Morgan influences."

"I have reviewed the administration's record to no good purpose if I have not made it plain that the great issue for which Roosevelt appealed to the public conscience and for which the progressives have been appealing for years is not the tariff, nor railway regulation, nor conservation. It is all these, but, oh, sir, it is the moral of all these combined. It is for justice eternal, everlasting justice for every human being against organized selfishness and power. It is the fight of the plain people against conferred privileges."

ROSE BEADS

Run the fresh petals through the food chopper. Spread the pulp evenly upon a pan and sprinkle three grains of copperas over the mass. Mix well and put through the chopper 15 times, using the finest cutter. This will make the pulp black all through.

Roll the beads twice as large as you would have them when dried. Be careful to have them of uniform size. Lay upon a broad platter to dry all day. Do not let them touch one another. Do this upon a fine, dry day.

If they are not too hard after the first drying, they may be rolled three times before they are strung. String upon a copper wire about the thickness of a hatpin. Do not sharpen the end or the beads may split. Decorate them to suit yourself and lay again in the sun to harden. When they are thoroughly dry, slip from the wire; put into a cloth sack and rub and shape them gently together to polish them. Mix a few drops of rose oil with alcohol to "cut" it, and rub it into the beads with the hands, turning them over between the palms until the oil is absorbed.

When the beads are dried through and through, soak them in olive oil for several days. Wipe dry and string. They will always retain the perfume.

A Healthful Old Age for Women

The turn of life is the most critical period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very distressing symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, extreme nervousness and dependency are symptoms of this condition.

Those hot flashes are just so many calls from nature for help. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life.

If this period is safely passed through the prospect will be good for a long period of sound health and comparative immunity from disease.

Here is Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be relied upon at this period:

Alton Station, Ky.—"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For months I suffered from female troubles in consequence of my age, and thought I could not live. I wrote you and after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new woman. I thank you so much for the good it has done me."—Mrs. Emma Bailey, R. R. No. 1, Alton Station, Ky.

Kewaskum, Wis.—"Your medicine was a blessing to me in my sickness at Change of Life. I cannot describe what I suffered for five long years from headache, backache, dizziness, no sleep, palpitation of heart and irregularities which are common at that period and sometimes continue for weeks at a time.

"I have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in dry form. I am 54 years old and can do all my work."—Mrs. Carl Dahlke, Kewaskum, Wis.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

HINTS TO BEAUTY SEEKERS

SCALP TONIC FOR HOT DAYS.

A cooling invigorating tonic for the scalp can be prepared at trifling cost by adding one-half pint water to same amount alcohol, then stirring in an ounce beta-canthol. Massage the scalp thoroughly into the scalp a few times a week, and you will be astonished on how cool and comfortable it leaves the scalp. This tonic is ideal for correcting scalp difficulties and making the hair silky and fluffy. Its continued use entirely overcomes dandruff or excess oil and induces a heavy growth of beautiful hair.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

Mrs. Jim: Powder will cover up, but not correct complexion faults. By using a massage cream you can rid the skin of pimples, blackheads, blotches or other impurities, and when this is done it will grow smooth and velvety and take on a healthy color. You can get a really excellent massage cream can be made with little labor or expense by dissolving two ounces cerol into three-fourths of a pint boiling water and stirring until thick and smooth. This makes a massage cream, the use of which is a positive delight and benefit to the skin.

Rose: The fuzs can be removed from your chin without the pain or expense attending the use of the electric needle. Get an original package of deloi at the drug store and mix enough with water to cover the hairy surface. Let it stand two or three minutes, then scrape off and the hairs come with it. Deloi is a little expensive, but it is unfailing. Care must be used, however, to be sure of getting deloi and not some worthless imitation.

Spinstar: Your scrawiness is due to a starved or stunted condition of under-lying tissues, and as massaging offers no nourishment, satisfactory results cannot be attained. A simple but effective tonic, known as gallol, is frequently prescribed for under-development, and as it is the best thing for the purpose of which I know, I give the formula here: Make a syrup with one-and-a-half cups of sugar and a pint of water; into this stir an ounce of gallol; the done is a tablespoonful two or three times a day. It is surprising how quick-

MISS LAWRENCE WEBS NOBLEMAN OF FRANCE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Paris, July 13.—Through the wedding of Mrs. Agnes Lawrence of New York and the Viscount Courtaux de Marle, a son of one of the oldest and richest families belonging to French nobility, which took place here today, another international marriage of great importance is added to the rapidly growing list.

The new viscountess is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence of New York, and a niece of the late John La Farge, the celebrated artist. She was baptised in the Roman Catholic religion shortly before her marriage, the ceremony taking place in Rome following a special audience with the pope.
