

PAPER CHASES TO START NEXT MONTH

Hunt Club Directors Will Meet Shortly to Arrange Season Schedule.

The Portland Hunt club will resume its paper chase about September 1, after a rest of about three months.

As soon as the board returns the paper chase and cross country schedule will be drawn up and some excellent chases are to be held this fall.

ISLANDERS STILL CONTINUE TO DROP

(Special to The Journal.) Victoria, B. C., Aug. 12.—Inability on the Islanders' part to bunch their hits on Schmutz, their hard luck in running into doubles when men were on bases and chances were good were deciding features of today's game.

Their three runs before then came on Schmutz' home run, another of the same brand from Kennedy's stick and on an error, a sacrifice fly and a sacrifice hit in the fourth stanza.

Several times, notably in the first, third and eighth, Victoria had the bags loaded, but Schmutz tightened and they were unable to come through with needed clouts.

JOHNSON IS WEAK FROM HIS ILLNESS

Washington's Speed Marvel Finds It Exertion to Pitch Last Ball.

Walter Johnson, the star pitcher of the Washington team, has not the blazing speed of old, and he blames it upon his illness.

"My illness is the cause of this change in me, I think. Next winter I shall rest all the time, and hope to report to the training grounds bigger and stronger than I am now."

CALIFORNIA WILL HAVE FAST MEN IN ASTORIA CHAMPIONSHIP MEET

The Olympic club of San Francisco will be well represented in the Pacific coast track championships which will be held at the Astoria Centennial Saturday, August 25.

Captain Pete Gerhardt of the Olympic team, who is visiting Herbert Greenwood, former champion wrestler of the Multnomah club, announced yesterday that the club men were in the finest of condition and were bound to give the rest of the coast athletes a hard fight for supremacy.

The team is composed of ten sturdy athletes, Ralph Rose, Ed McCauley, Bill Wyman, E. P. Campbell, Alderman, Morris, George Horine, Sam Bellah, Kurtz, and Gerhardt.

Ralph Rose member of the All-American team of 1910 and champion shot-putter of the world, is entered in all the weight throwing events, including the shot-put, hammer throw, discus, javelin and 56 pound weight.

Stanford Man Entered. Ed McCauley will run in the half and the quarter mile races and Bill Wyman, the fast Stanford runner, has also entered the quarter mile race and the 220 yard dash.

E. P. Campbell has entered in the 100 and 200 yard dashes, the low hurdles and the high jump. Campbell will also take to the javelin event at which he is rated a crackerjack.

Sam Bellah, formerly of Stanford university, will try his luck in the pole vaulting and broad jump. Bellah is a star at pole vaulting and he is expected to do great work at the Astoria meet.

Kurtz is another representative of the club in the half mile race. Gerhardt is training earnestly and has entered the 100 and 220 yard dashes. The appearance of the veteran captain of the Olympic club should prove to be a feature, while the entry of Ralph Rose is another feature.

Gerhardt won the 100 yard dash at Astoria 15 years ago and won a gold medal, which he wears at the present day.

The relay team, which Gerhardt deems one of the finest in the west outside of himself, will be composed of Campbell, Wyman, McCauley and the captain.

The team will leave San Francisco on the steamer Beaver tomorrow and will disembark at Astoria, where they will get into final condition during the remainder of next week.

Ed McCauley will run in the half and the quarter mile races and Bill Wyman, the fast Stanford runner, has also entered the quarter mile race and the 220 yard dash.

E. P. Campbell has entered in the 100 and 200 yard dashes, the low hurdles and the high jump. Campbell will also take to the javelin event at which he is rated a crackerjack.

ALBANIA TROUBLE CHARGED TO COUNT

Deputy in Hungarian Parliament Discloses What May Be Plot.

By Emil Andrassy. (Publishers' Press Leased Wire.) Vienna, Aug. 12.—A painful scene was witnessed in the Hungarian parliament at Budapest, when a deputy named Ivanka stated that he had documentary proof that Count Von Aehrenthal, the Austro-Hungarian minister for foreign affairs, had fostered the disorders in Albania.

Ivanka made his charge in the form of a question, and asked whether the minister president knew that Count Von Aehrenthal some time ago sent 10,000 Mannlicher rifles and large sums of money for distribution among the tribes in revolt against Turkey.

Count Von Aehrenthal had encouraged trouble in Albania for his own political ends, and that he had withdrawn his support, refusing to allow food to be exported from Austria-Hungary, and thus reduced the tribes to a state of starvation.

Dr. Francis Ssekely, the Hungarian minister of justice, answered the question by saying, "What you have just stated is high treason." The house dispersed in great confusion.

Love Acts as Spy. Owing to suspicions aroused in her lover's breast and his investigations, a beautiful young woman named Fraulein Trombecka, has been arrested at Przemsl, a garrison town in Austria Poland, as a Russian spy.

The young woman, who is the daughter of a Russian engineer, settled in the town and described herself as a teacher. Her beauty soon attracted attention and she soon was surrounded by admirers.

She chose only officers as her friends, and often walked with one or another of them in the neighborhood of the fortifications.

She especially favored a young lieutenant named Ernest Barry. At length his suspicions were aroused by her great interest in military matters, and feeling that he was being tricked he investigated. He called at her flat while she was out, and making a search of the place found a mass of incriminating evidence, such as plans for fortresses, road maps and military documents.

He informed his superiors and Fraulein Trombecka was arrested. In prison she made no attempt to deny the charge, admitting that she was a spy employed by the military authorities at Warsaw, in Russian Poland.

CENTENNIAL EXCURSION PLANNED AT SALEM

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Astoria, Or., Aug. 12.—Salem's big excursion to Astoria will leave via the Southern Pacific on the afternoon of August 15.

Changing to the steamers, Hassalo and Harvest Queen, part of the crowd will go on to Astoria. Those desiring to do so may spend the night in Portland and go to Astoria early the following morning, Salem day.

Plans are being laid for a crowd of 500. Tickets are good for five days and excursionists may return by boat or train.

Richard Arnst, the world's professional champion sculler of Australia is seriously thinking of taking up boxing. He is about six feet in height and in good condition would weigh over 136 pounds.

He is well developed as a result of his training as a bicycle rider and also rowing. In speaking of his plans to enter the squared circle he said: "There isn't much in the sculling business. In fact, there is hardly enough to repay me for the solid training it demands."

Good matches are few and far between and there are not more than a couple of decent handicaps in the course of the year. Naturally a world's champion has very little chance of pulling off a handicap.

So far I have cleared up everything in my own class, and the only matches ahead of me are with Harry Pearce and Ernest Barry. If I get through with them there's nothing in sight for me in the boat."

ASHAMED TO SEE SOUTHERN WOMEN RIDING ASTRIDE

Confederate Veterans and Daughters Against Fashion "Wafted From Realm of Western Hoydens."

Little Rock, Aug. 12.—The United Confederate Veterans and the United Daughters of the Confederacy have undertaken a campaign to induce the horsewomen of the southland to return to the side-saddle.

General James F. Smith, commanding the Arkansas division, U. C. V., is leading the movement. Women who appeared on horseback in the recent Confederate reunion parade rode side-saddles.

This attempt to discredit the fashion of riding astride is resented by many of the city's best women, and they cite the testimony of medical authorities that it is much more beneficial than the old way.

The resolutions which are being adopted read: "We hereby avow our detestation of this threatening invasion of our social economics and formally enter our solemn protest against it."

"We note in these later years that there has been wafted from the western plains, the realm of the Indian squaws, cowgirls and other hoydens, an attempted innovation, the adoption by female equestrians of men's saddles and the straddle pose on horseback, the notorious sittings of which are drifting to some extent into the southern states, despite our boasted claim of higher social ideas."

"We deem such female exploitation wholly unbecoming and unnatural, unseemly and indecorous, and abominably immodest, and directly contrary to the proprieties as viewed by the great mass of southern people."

"We deem such female exploitation wholly unbecoming and unnatural, unseemly and indecorous, and abominably immodest, and directly contrary to the proprieties as viewed by the great mass of southern people. Besides, such pose is essentially ungraceful and absolutely destructive of the beautiful picture of the symmetrical woman on horseback that we are all so familiar with, the whole aggregating a condition entirely out of harmony with the sternal fitness of things that we should always endeavor to maintain."
