

HIS WIFE CHANGES MIND; SCOTT FREED

Husband Is Let Out of Jail When She Finds Someone Else Stole Jewels.

(Special to The Journal.) Grants Pass, Or., Aug. 21.—The case against E. Scott before Judge Jewell in the county court, charged with stealing his wife's diamonds, was up this morning. District Attorney Mulkey moved dismissal, which was granted. Mrs. Scott testified to have received a letter which caused her to change her mind as to the guilty parties. Scott has been in jail a week.

IRA INGRAHAM ALIVE AND WELL IN KLAMATH

Klamath Falls, Or., Aug. 21.—Ira Ingraham, reported by a Portland paper as having left home because his father whipped him, having fallen into want, committed suicide, after putting a note in his hat to say that he would rather die than appeal for aid, is alive and well and working on a farm near Klamath Falls, according to his father. Perry Ingraham, father of Ira, two weeks ago on horseback. According to the father, an older brother knows the exact whereabouts of the boy, who is 15 years old, stout and able to take care of himself. He has been away from home before. He had a slight altercation with his father before leaving but there is nothing to the story of his being found dead.

ROTARIANS OPEN MEETING; MERRY SONGS RING OUT

President Harris had risen to call the session to order. Secretary Chesley R. Perry was industriously writing, when suddenly the melody of the national Rotary club charmed all in hearing. It was a quartet from the Chicago delegation and the words of the song: "We Meet Again, Boys."

We meet again, boys, with mirth and song. Let melody flow wherever we go, we dwell in friendship ever. So true and strong, and sorrow never, never know.

Chorus. Laugh and sing, be merry tonight. With never a tear, boys, never a falling tear. Laugh and sing, be merry tonight. With never a sorrow near, boys, merry ever, ever know.

Welcome my Rotary Boys, We meet again. Where hand to hand its greeting so kindly gives. Let melody flow, wherever we go, where hearts are ever dyed. And friendship lives, true hearts will ever, ever know.

Californiaans Sing. This brought a song of the west from the Californians, and they sang: "California, you for me and of you I boast; There is no place that I can see But the old Pacific coast. You can have your New York town, Broadway may be fine, But the golden state I love the best, California for mine."

The serious business of the convention brought the appointment of important committees. The following were named: Committee—Mettler, Kansas City, chairman, committee meeting in room; Martin, Minneapolis; Phillips, Lincoln; McCann, New York; Swetland, Portland.

Credentials committee—Chenoweth, St. Louis, chairman, committee meeting in room; Miller, Chicago; Wetmore, San Francisco; Fitzwillson, Boston; Randall, St. Paul.

Resolutions committee—Plinkham, Seattle, chairman, committee meeting in room; Rutledge, St. Louis; Stephens, Los Angeles; Mead, Philadelphia; Jack, Spokane; Filiseraut, Duluth; Elliott, San Francisco.

Resolutions of thanks committee—Thresher, Minneapolis, chairman, committee meeting in room; Stearns, Tacoma; Spaite, Des Moines.

Resolutions of Portland, was appointed sergeant at arms of the national convention.

The methods of Rotary organization, debates as to procedure, the election of officers and other matters will occupy the Rotarians.

The Rotary organization is but a few years old, but it has 32 affiliated clubs, 12 that are not affiliated and a membership of 15,000. The Rotary club in each city is made up of a single representative of each line of business, and each is required to be owner or managing official in the concern he represents.

The representation at the national convention, therefore, included many cities, most of which are striving for the meeting next year. Minneapolis, Kansas City and Boston, seem, however, to be first in the race. Spokane is candidate for the 1913 convention and has sent a large delegation to capture it. San Francisco wants the Rotarians in 1915, the time of the Panama-Pacific exposition, and C. C. Chapman, promotion manager of the Commercial club, told the delegates that Oregon and Washington both will work for San Francisco to this end.

National Officers Present. Among the national Rotarian officers present at the Portland convention are President Paul P. Harris of Chicago, Vice President R. Denny of Seattle, Secretary Chesley R. Perry of Chicago, National Directors L. Q. Swetland of Portland, Frank L. Thresher of Minneapolis, J. E. Fitzwillson of Boston, Lee B. Mettler of Kansas City. The representation by the delegates that Oregon and Washington both will work for San Francisco to this end.

Great Soldiery Display Imposing

Portlander Much Impressed By Efficiency of Regulars and Guardsmen Evidenced in Recent National Military Tournament in Chicago.

Written for The Journal by Fred Lockley. Boston, Aug. 15.—While in Chicago I attended the national military tournament at Grant park. Much as we may deplore war, much as we may wish to promote the era of universal peace, there is inherent in most of us a love for the panoply and trappings of war.

The mellow music of the bugle stirs a long dormant something within us that makes instant response to the bugle's call. Possibly it is the slumbering spirit of adventure and romance. Possibly its siren song awakens the long buried dreams of our boyhood, but whatever the cause, when the skirling pipes and the throbbing drums of the full throated and many toned voice of the brass band makes the whole air vibrate with "Dixie," "Marching Through Georgia," or the marching feet beat time to "John Brown's Body," we feel our pulses quicken. Off come our hats. Our hearts hammer away at our ribs and it is only the restraint of our dignity as grown ups that prevents us from joining the youngsters in the wake of the band.

Thursday was children's day and it is a question which brought the tears to the eyes of the spectators quickest, the splendidly spectacular charges of the cavalry or the sight of the 35,000 people making poor officers and east section of the stadium and overflowing into the other sections. With their holiday attire, their shining eyes and bright faces, their waving flags and their enthusiasm, they were a sight to make one proud and to touch the most hardened heart at the thought of the boundless possibilities before them.

Credit Due National Guard. There may have been a day when the National Guard could, with justice, be referred to as "tin soldiers." If there ever was such a day that day has passed. They are soldiers today. The lonely, proud and to touch the most hardened heart at the thought of the boundless possibilities before them.

Cavalry Drill Thrilling. The thing that brought the spectators to their feet, however, was the cavalry drill by the troopers of the Fifteenth cavalry of the regular army. After a splendid exhibition the cavalry divided into opposing bodies and at a signal they galloped to opposite ends of the field. The charge was sounded and the troopers, with their sabres fixed to their saddles, rushed at each other. The wind whistled in the charging men, the gleam of the sun on their sabres and the impact and shock as they came together, the sabres and horses pulled back on their haunches, the wonderful realistic situation near me, a white haired German with a G. A. R. button in the lapel of his coat. He had fought "mit Siegel" and when the cavalry swept across the field with their sabres drawn to their heads, he sprang to his feet, his eyes shining and waving his hat frantically he yelled, "By God, you boys are all right. I thought the old breed had died out. Let 'em come, we can lick 'em yet."

Following an excellent band concert company A of the Chicago police department, usually called the "brass band," gave their Zouave drill. As the 60 or more policemen went through their intricate drill in single and double rank formation, they were cheered to the echo—showing that the six foot heroes of peace are as popular as the heroes of war.

The three numbers of the program that interested the spectators most were the cavalry exhibition bareback by the Fifteenth cavalry, United States army, the wall scaling and drill by the Fifteenth infantry, Ohio national guard, and the cavalry drill by the regulars of the United States army.

Back of the massed grandstand gleamed the waters of Lake Michigan with its ever moving panorama of small craft. At a signal from the bugler a troop of the Fifteenth cavalry cantered onto the drill grounds. The khaki-clad cavalymen rode bareback; boys they seemed and in fact most of them were in their early twenties. As bits of glass in the kaleidoscope constantly fall apart to assume new combinations, so the troopers were now old time recess of not less than 15 minutes during the morning session and the same in the afternoon, but the teacher is to make supervision of the playgrounds a serious part of the day's work if the recess is to be beneficial.

In regard to the course in drawing, Superintendent Alderman declared that by directing the search for beauties in common things children may be drawn from their craving for less wholesome pleasures. Courses in nature study, agriculture, industrial work and music are included.

Cascade locks, where lunch will be served. Business sessions will continue until Wednesday evening, when the men will be banqueted at the Commercial club and the party will be taken on boat ride to the Dalles.

In the local reception committee that greeted the visitors this morning were President Dwight Edwards and Secretary Oliver G. Walker of the Portland club, also C. W. Cooper, chairman of the executive committee, E. P. Young, Louis A. Colton, C. N. Stockwell, H. Clausen Jr., C. F. Neth, L. K. Swetland, Phil Grossmayer, J. T. O'Neill, R. A. Marshall, Frank C. Riggs, Carlos T. Pratt, John M. A. Lane, J. L. Wright, W. W. Robinson, W. A. Knight and H. V. Carrington.

All sessions of the convention will be held at the Commercial club, and the new Perkins hotel is headquarters.

SHERIFF, FEARFUL, HIDES HYPNOTIST

Dentist, Accused of Detaining Girl in Office for 15 Months, Disappears.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Bernardino, Cal., Aug. 21.—Positively refusing to divulge the place of safety to which he has sent Dr. A. W. McDevitt, wealthy dentist who is alleged to have held Miss Jessie McDonald, 21, a captive for 15 months in a room adjoining his office, Sheriff Ralph this afternoon announced that McDevitt would not be returned to San Bernardino until the date of the preliminary hearing. The case is set for August 31.

Although twice the usual number of guards were thrown around the jail following McDevitt's incarceration, feeling against the dentist was running so high that Sheriff Ralph, fearing a midnight attack, spirited the prisoner out of town.

Last Saturday typewritten notices "Meet me at the jail tonight" were sent to scores of citizens. Fearing an attempt would be made to harm the prisoner, the sheriff lost no time in hustling McDevitt out of town. The automobiles went in the direction of the insane asylum at Patton but neither the hospital authorities nor Ralph will verify the rumor that McDevitt is confined there.

Miss McDonald has gone into strict seclusion, denying herself even to her most intimate friends.

Barker was arrested at Front and Morrison by Patrolman Hutchings at 1 o'clock a. m. on August 18. When arraigned Judge Tazwell sentenced him to 10 days, and he was taken to the rockpile.

Perry Barker was the oldest of three children and was born on the Barker homestead, nine miles from Portland. His mother and sister were also born and raised. Hiram Barker, his father, took up the farm in the fifties from the government, and that place remained the property of the family. The farm has been profitable and has produced an income since then.

Barker has been on a rampage for four months, having started on the last spree while in California traveling for his health.

At the rockpile this morning Acting Superintendent Vaughn stated that they had done all possible for Barker, but the attendants were unable to keep the man quiet, and finally resorted to the cage net. The time of the inquest has not yet been set.

Weak Kidneys Make Weak Bodies. Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Pains of Portland People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down. Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and when their activity lessens the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come and there is an ever increasing tendency towards fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and strike at the root of the trouble. Portland cures are the proof.

A. B. Horton, grocer, 1915 East Stark street, Montavilla station, Portland, Or., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills were used in my family with the best results in a case of backache and kidney trouble. I am glad to recommend this remedy, knowing of its merits."

BUTTS BRAINS OUT AGAINST IRON BARKS AT LINNTON ROCKPILE

for the man's death, which now appears to be the result of a failure to secure proper medical attention for him.

Mrs. Alma Hall, 74 East Eighth street North, sister of the dead man, his brother, Edward D. Barker, a retired farmer now traveling in California, but who will be in Portland tomorrow night, and A. H. Bell, of 203 Front street, the guardian of Barker, were with the deputy coroner in the investigation.

Bell made a visit to the rock pile last night and found that his charge was in a serious condition and demanded that a doctor be called, but this was refused him, and no word was received by Bell as to Barker's condition until 6 o'clock this morning when Bell was called and told that Barker was dead.

The coroner was immediately notified and took charge of the remains.

Woman Demands Investigation. "I want a thorough investigation," said Mrs. Hall this morning. "It will not restore my brother, but it may help some other poor man who is compelled to serve time on the rock pile. If I had known that he was in such condition, I would have had him at my home. He should never have been sent to the rock pile, but should have been given medical attention in some institute. I intend to find out whether he was beaten to death or came to his death as they claim, by butting his brains out against the wall."

Barker was arrested at Front and Morrison by Patrolman Hutchings at 1 o'clock a. m. on August 18. When arraigned Judge Tazwell sentenced him to 10 days, and he was taken to the rockpile.

PRESIDENT SIGNS STATEHOOD BILL; RECALL OMITTED

Colorado, but, for political reasons, New Mexico was again turned down.

1908—After numerous other attempts since 1875 an omnibus statehood bill providing separate statehood for Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma was introduced with bright chances of success, but was talked to death by Senator Beveridge of Indiana and other a bill for the admission of Oklahoma and Indian Territory as one state and New Mexico and Arizona as another state, with the provision that the popular vote of the territories counted separately should determine the ratification of the act, Arizona and New Mexico voted down the joint statehood proposition. Oklahoma and the Indian Territory were admitted.

1911—Under provision of act of congress New Mexico and Arizona formulated constitutions for separate states, and President Taft vetoed the bill. That of the former was reactionary and that of the latter radical. The provision in the Arizona constitution for the recall of judges aroused great opposition from the standpoint element in congress and President Taft vetoed the bill. It was amended so as to cut out the recall provision and again passed in that form.
