

ACCUSED SVENGALI, PARALYZED BY FEAR; SPIRITED TO PRISON

San Bernardino Dentist, Following Arraignment Yesterday, Is Secretly Motored to Los Angeles.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 1.—Dr. A. W. McDavit, prominent San Bernardino dentist held for the action of the superior court on charges of holding Miss Jennie McDonald a captive for 15 months, was spirited into Los Angeles today and lodged in the county jail.
Following his conviction in his home town, Sheriff J. C. Ralphs bundled McDavit into an automobile immediately following the hearing and after an all-night ride arrived in Los Angeles by a circuitous route shortly before daylight.
McDavit, according to the sheriff, was paralyzed with fear during the entire trip and did not receive a physician until the outskirts of Los Angeles loomed in sight.
Reports from San Bernardino today said that Mrs. McDavit was soon to sue her husband for divorce. Verification of the reports was unobtainable, however, Mrs. McDavit refusing to discuss the case.
Miss McDonald, whose story of her stay in a room near McDavit's office caused her father to take action in the courtroom, today denied herself to all callers.

DEMURRER SCORES U. OF O.'S CLAIMS

Crawford Calls Fraud Charges Generalizations, Denies Sufficient Facts.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Sept. 1.—Attorney General Crawford will file his demurrer in the case of S. H. Friendly vs. Ben W. Olcott as secretary of state, today. This suit was brought against the secretary of state to prevent his placing the referendum against the university on the ballot. The demurrer is based on the allegation that the plaintiff has no capacity in which he may bring a suit and that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. It will be argued that the state officials or possibly the university itself might have brought the suit, but that an individual could not. In support of the other allegation it will be argued that the charges of fraud are wholly generalizations and that no person is named as having forged his signature to the petitions.
A motion will also be filed to strike out certain paragraphs of the complaint which are alleged to be irrelevant. It will be argued that the secretary of state is not required to check over and vouch for the genuineness of signatures on initiative and referendum petitions.

PINCHOT TONIGHT GOES TO ALASKA

Will View With Open Mind Conditions in Contested Coal Fields.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—"I am going to Alaska with Senator Poindexter to visit Controller Bay and the Cunningham coal fields," said Gifford Pinchot, former chief forester, this morning. He and Poindexter arrived last night and will sail for Cordova on the steamer Northwestern at 9 o'clock tonight.
"We shall be gone a month," continued Pinchot, "and I am going up there with an open mind. I have favored the leasing of the vast coal fields, but, as I say, I am open to conviction whether it would be best for the United States to go into the coal business and mine and sell the coal direct to the consumer."
Together with Senator Poindexter they will make a thorough examination of the Alaska situation, sound the people's needs and map out a plan for action in congress next winter. At Cordova they will be met by John E. Lathrop and others, who have made arrangements for a trip into the interior. Pinchot's son accompanies the party. Pinchot will return by the first of October, as he has a great volume of work in forest reserve research waiting for him in the Adirondack mountains in New York.

Senator Poindexter was reserved in expressing his opinion on the Alaska coal situation.
"I am going to investigate first hand," he said. "When I come back I hope to be able to state my position positively. However, my idea on the question is indicated in the bill I introduced in congress."
The Poindexter bill proceeds for the operation of coal mines and railroads in Alaska by the government. It reserves all public coal lands for the government for all time.

DOCTOR'S BAD EYE GOES UNAVENGED

Jackson Grand Jury Refuses to Indict Gold Hill's Slugging Mayor.

(Special to The Journal.)
Medford, Or., Sept. 1.—Joe Beeman, mayor of Gold Hill, need not stand trial for slugging Dr. R. C. Kelsey's eye recently during a heated argument at Gold Hill in which the term "grafter" was freely employed. The grand jury has said so.
Following a brief investigation into the case the grand jury yesterday afternoon decided that the fight was a neighborhood affair and refused to indict Beeman.
The case attracted much attention owing to the prominence of the men. Beeman is the mayor of Gold Hill while Dr. Kelsey is chairman of the board of school trustees.

Recently the two men met on the street and engaged in a quarrel over the relations of city and schools and after Kelsey had named Beeman as "grafter" he was handed a black eye by the strenuous chief of the city government.
Clara N. Cantonwine was given a decree of separation from Royal S. Cantonwine on the ground of desertion, which took place, she said, in 1908, after a married life of 26 years.

TRUTHFUL ADS ARE TOPICS OF ADDRESSES

Absolute honesty and truthfulness in advertising—their necessity for modern business success—were the themes of addresses delivered by E. Keith Evans, advertising manager of American Magazine, Women's Home Companion, Farm and Fireside, and Edward Frederick Trefz at a joint luncheon of the Ad and Commercial clubs in the Hotel Fortland this afternoon.
Mr. Evans related the policy of the Quoin club of New York, an association of publishers, which policy is to refuse any advertisement that carries any statement so enthusiastic as to contain the elements of any untruth. Mr. Trefz, who is advertising counselor to the Associated Billposters of the United States and Canada, told the rewards of truthful advertising and the harm done by advertising products that are injurious. C. C. Chapman presided.

His family has been notified.

IMPORTED HORSE NOT WORTH PRICE ALLEGED

Ithos, an imported Percheron stallion from France, in the subject of a suit in circuit court. Henry Stroth, who bargained for the animal for $2800, but is dissatisfied with the purchase, wants the court to name a receiver to take Ithos in charge.
A. C. Ruby, S. K. Watson, H. F. Dear-dorf and Thomas S. Poindexter are defendants in the case, it being alleged that Poindexter was used as a dummy in the deal, and that all the defendants were engaged in a conspiracy to dispose of Ithos for much more than he was worth. Stroth says the horse was wind broken and not a sound animal. He gave a note for $2400 and Poindexter was supposed to pay $400, but Stroth alleges Poindexter actually paid nothing. Stroth is a farmer and lives at Farmington, Wash.
Another horse case has been filed by Augustus Hornbrook, who alleges C. A. Brown is wrongfully retaining possession of three horses worth $500 at the latter's stables on Davis street.

SENATOR DEFENDS RECALL OF JUDGES; HANFORD EXAMPLE

Minnesota Member Says Can Be No Distinction Between Calling Back of Bad Judges and Other Officials.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Sept. 1.—Stopping over for 40 minutes in San Francisco today on his way to Sacramento from San Jose, United States Senator Moses E. Clapp, veteran insurgent, found time to express vigorously his disapproval of President Taft's opposition to the recall of judges.
Characterizing distinctions between the recall of bad judges and the recall of other bad officials as illogical in the extreme, Senator Clapp said:
"In our form of government there is no place for an exclusive, autocratic force, absolute and irresponsible. While many may object to this measure at present, in time they will come to see that it is just as essential that the people be supreme in their sovereignty with reference to the judiciary as to other offices."
Commenting on the charges against Federal Judge C. H. Hanford, whom citizens of Seattle are seeking to have impeached and removed from the bench, Senator Clapp said:
"While I know nothing about the charges against Judge Hanford, I will say that if a public official is proved unfit, either mentally or morally, for the office which he holds, he should be dismissed from his position, regardless of what that position may be."
"We have too long labored under the impression that public officials are our masters. They are not."

CHARLES W. JONES ALARMS HIS MANY FRIENDS

Mysterious Disappearance of Charles W. Jones Alarms His Many Friends.

A thorough search is being made for Charles W. Jones, the assistant manager of the Oregon hotel, who mysteriously disappeared while on a fishing trip to Estacada. A member of the police department, in tracing his movements after he left his home in an endeavor to ascertain whether he made the trip, C. D. Minton, assistant superintendent of the Taylor street church Sunday school, of which Mr. Jones is superintendent and editor of the Oregon Agriculturist; N. C. Thorne, of the Portland academy; E. J. Steinmetz, a real estate dealer, and Julius Wright, an east side grocer, all close personal friends of the missing man, are searching the country about Estacada for trace of him. This afternoon ex-Sheriff Tom Word, also an old friend, is searching for him at the head of a party.
Mr. Jones returned from Seaside Monday evening, several days before his vacation ended, and went to the hotel office yesterday morning. He remained but half an hour and, saying he believed he would take a little more vacation by going to Estacada fishing, went home at 545 East Twenty-seventh street, he told. ### PARTIES IN SEARCH OF MISSING MAN

Mysterious Disappearance of Charles W. Jones Alarms His Many Friends.

At the Oregon hotel it was said that this is the first time he has ever missed being at the office on the last day of the month, which is invoice day, and also on the first of the month.
At the time of his disappearance Mr. Jones wore a dark gray striped suit, brown felt hat, light black button shoes and wine colored socks. He is a man of about 50, five feet, seven inches tall, smooth shaven, weighs about 165 pounds, has light brown hair turning gray and light blue eyes. He carried about $20 with him and had a gold filled watch.
Mr. Jones is very prominent in church work and is a member of Taylor street church. He is superintendent of the Sunday school, a member of the official board of the church and president of the Oregon Methodist Deacons' association. He has been with the Wright-Dickenson Hotel company for nearly seven years and is one of its most trusted employees.
The family and friends are unable to account for his mysterious disappearance and fear he has been drowned or has met with some other disaster. Harold, an employee of Halfour-Guthrie & Co., has been searching for him since yesterday morning. The sheriff's offices of both Multnomah and Clackamas counties will take part in the search.

WIFE CHARGES HE LED LONG DUAL LIFE

Denver, Colo., Sept. 1.—James W. Hair, a pioneer worth $250,000, is accused of having led a dual life for the past 20 years in two suits filed in court here today by his wife, Mrs. Ellen Hair.
Mrs. Hair accuses him of maintaining a home for Mrs. Rose Deahl besides the one he kept for her. In April, 1907, when he was stricken with paralysis, according to Mrs. Hair, he was removed to the household of Mrs. Deahl instead of his proper home. He has been there ever since. He is the father of a 17-year-old son whose mother is Mrs. Deahl, avers Mrs. Hair.
One suit asks for $100,000 from Mrs. Deahl for alienation of affection and the other is directed against Hair asking for separate maintenance, demanding that her husband be declared insane, a legal guardian appointed for him and that Mrs. Deahl be ordered to return $125,000 in property and jewels Hair gave her. Mrs. Hair also wants Mrs. Deahl's son to return $75,000 which she claims Hair gave to the boy.

POLK COUNTY FIRE NOW WORST OF ALL

Springing Up Again Mysteriously, Threatens Dallas Water Supply.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Sept. 1.—The proper procedure for calling out local companies of the national guard to fight forest fires is to have them ordered out by the county judge, according to State Forester Elliott, who has been asked for information on this point.
The most dangerous fire in the state now is a new one which has broken out on the Rickreall, west of Dallas. After the old fire had been placed practically under control the new one broke out from mysterious origin in a heavy belt of timber. This fire is threatening the water supply of Dallas. If it travels westward it will soon cross the Dallas pipeline.
Captain Walter L. Toose, Jr., of company H, Fourth Infantry, Oregon national guard, stated today that 45 members of the company in Dallas were ready at a moment's notice to combat the flames. He came to Salem last evening to ascertain the proper procedure.
The fire near Mill City and the firefighters are taking turn about at having the upper hand. Today the flames are master of the situation.
