GENERAL MERGER CHURCHES URGED

Subject Revived as Result of the Overtures of Episcopal Church: Dr. Boyd Champions Such Union.

Rev. John Boyd, pastor First Presbyterian church.

"The question of the union of Protestant churches has assumed a new importance lately because of the overtures of the Episcopal church," said Dr. John Boyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city. Presbyterians Pioneers.

"I have often wondered if the Al-mighty might not take the soul of some such man as J. Pierpont Morgan, some great organizer, after his earthly career had ended, and, straightening him up a bit, substitute an ecclesiastical aptitude for the financial and send him back to earth, reincarnate, to lead in ecclesiastical mergers.
"The first step in the unity movement should be the getting together of the different branches of the same denomination of Protestantism. If this be impossible, how could the larger union be brought about?

"The Presbyterlans have ever been foremost in seeking union. We have a commission for years which invited conferences from any other churches on this subject. We have done more coquetting with the Episcopal church on this subject than any other church, "No principle of our doctrine, no rite,

Ministers and Church Workers, Attention

The Journal will print more church news henceforth. The department in each Saturday's issue devoted to this purpose has been enlarged. In addition to advance notices of Sunday services space is available for matters of news interest in the different churches.

The interest and cooperation of all ministers and church workers is invited. Any item of news interest in the parish as regards changes and extensions of the work, building operations, activities of the different church societies during the week, social events, picnics, vacation plans, etc., will be welcomed. Discussion of texts and creeds are not desired, the aim being to furnish Journal readers with more detailed news in regard to the churches and their work.

All such news should be in the hands of the city editor by Friday morning of each week.

Rally Social Planned

Many of the churches in Portland are laying out plans of campaign for the church year that commenced September 1, which involve great increases in activity and more result-getting efforts. these the Highland Baptist church, Rev. Charles B. Elliott, pastor, has planned to commence the year by a rally social which will be held Friday evening, September 15, and a rally Sunday, September 17, when the branches of the church activity and its program for the year will be outlined and passed upon by the congregation.

"The time las come for real work in this Portland field," said Rev. Mr. this Portland field," said Rev. Mr. Elliost. explaining his plan. "In the name of our master we are going after results — and we will get them."
