EDITED BY AVIS LOBDELL

The pleasure of her house guests, Mrs. Lillian Bass Miller, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Frances Rasovich, of Tacoma. Additional guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Humason, Mrs. P. M. Dekum, the Misses Elva and Lavelle Humason, Miss Mildred Humason and Senator H. A. Miller of Lebanon. Mrs. Miller left for her home on Friday and Mrs. Rasovich will go tomorrow. Mrs. Rasovich is the widow of a noted artist. They spent 12 years in Rome and she has just now returned from a trip abroad. She is preparing data for an art-lecture and was much interested in Portland's Museum of Art.

The wedding of Miss Gladys Beach, prominent in St. Louis society, and Carl R. Gray, Jr., son of the president of the North Bank road, will be solemnized in St. Louis on Monday, October 16. After a wedding tour in the east, Mr. Gray and his bride will return to Portland to make their home here.

Dr. Charles T. Chamberlain left Friday evening for the east by way of San Francisco. He will stop in Washington, D. C., and visit his father, Senator George E. Chamberlain, before leaving for Germany where he will further his medical studies. Mrs. Chamberlain remains in Portland until the George E. Chamberlain goes east when she will accompany them and spend the time during her husband's absence, in her old home in Mississippi.

Miss Pansy Sweetser invited some of her friends to enjoy a dinner party with her Friday evening at the Imperial and celebrate the anniversary of her engagement to Kenneth McKenzie Clark Neill, of Scotland. Bride roses graced the table and in cutting the cake the ring fell to Miss Ruby Crichton, the wishbone to Miss Lillian Metchan, the money to Miss Hazel Tichner, the thimble to Miss June Sterling. Miss Sweetser's guests were Mrs. Norris Gregg, Mrs. William Dodd, Miss Lillian Metchan, Miss Ruby Crichton, Miss Hazel Tichner, Miss June Sterling, Miss Crystal Hyland and Miss Mary McArthur.

Mrs. Elliot Habersham entertained with a luncheon of eight covers yesterday complimenting two popular brides-elect, Miss Helen Smith and Miss Leslie Leadbetter. The guests were largely members of the prospective bridal parties.

Mrs. James McI. Wood was a hostess at an informal luncheon of eight covers on Tuesday for Miss Emille Frances Bauer. Miss Bauer entertained the guests during the afternoon with delightful reminiscences of her life and work in New York. Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Wood gave a dinner complimenting Mrs. H. M. Harpe of Fall Bridge, where Mr. Harpe is the engineer in charge, and her sister Miss Sheppard of New York. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Porter, ex-Governor Moore of Walla Walla, and W. D. Taylor of Tacoma. Mrs. Harpe and her sister were guests at the Woods home a couple of days.

Miss Laura Clark of Baltimore, who has been with her sister, Mrs. J. Andre Foulhoux, for the past two months, returns to her home tomorrow. Mrs. Clark's stay was made pleasant with many charming affairs of more or less formal nature in her honor.

Miss Hazel Tichner will be a much feted bride-elect. Thursday Mrs. Roscoe R. Giltner is entertaining at cards for her, as is Miss Katherine Hunt, Cornell Road, on Friday. Saturday Miss Tichner will share honors with Miss Pansy Sweetser, another bride-elect, at a bridge afternoon to be given by Miss Ruby Crichton, who will also entertain formally on Wednesday for Miss Ada Burke. Miss Tichner is complimenting Miss Sweetser with an affair on Tuesday and Miss Lillian O'Brien is another hostess who contemplates doing something for Miss Tichner.

A delightful time was enjoyed by all fortunate enough to have spent last Tuesday at Gearhart "By-the-Sea." When the evening was set aside for the military ball given in connection with the Astoria Centennial. Invitations were sent to officers of the torpedo fleet, Fort Stevens, Vancouver bar-racks and many prominent people of Portland, Astoria and Seaside. Special trains were provided to carry the guests to Astoria, Fort Stevens and Warren-ton. The hotel was decorated with the natural evergreen growth for which Gearhart Park is famous. The lobby and dining room, which overlook the ocean, were made into a bower by the use of the beautiful evergreens. The electrolights of the two rooms were massed in an artistic manner where the lights were capped in delicate shades to reflect a reddish tone from the ceiling. The orchestra was completely hidden in one corner of the ball room. Several large silk flags completed the decorations. Many attractive gowns were worn by the women. These with the uniforms, under the mass of softened light, made the ball room a most exquisite sight. At 12 o'clock a supper was served in the porch dining room. The invited list included: From Portland: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil H. Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dougherty, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Dunne, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. ## September Happenings In Cupid's Court With Principals From Ranks of Smart Set

Miss Caroline Wilson and Kenneth Beebe have chosen Thursday, September 21, the wedding anniversary of Mr. Beebe's parents, General and Mrs. Charles F. Beebe, as the time to celebrate their nuptials in Trinity Episcopal church at half past 8 o'clock. Miss Evelyn Wilson will attend her sister as bridesmaid and Walter Bowne Beebe will act as groomsmen for his brother. No invitations have been sent out for the wedding but friends of Miss Wilson and Mr. Beebe are expected at the church. Only immediate relatives and a very few close friends of Miss Wilson's father, Dr. George E. Wilson, have been bidden to the reception following at the Wilson home.

A brilliant military wedding is scheduled for Wednesday, September 27, at First Presbyterian church when Miss Marguerite Hume becomes the bride of Lieutenant Robert Sears, U. S. A., of Vancouver barracks. Miss Elizabeth Sears, sister of the bridegroom-elect, has been chosen as bridesmaid. Stanton Mitchell, Lieutenant Sears' roommate at West Point, will be the best man.

On Wednesday, September 6, Miss Dorothy Holbrook and Gilbert H. Durham will plight their troth at Tokeland, Washington, the summer home of the bride-elect's parents. It is to be a dainty green and white wedding with no attendants.

Miss Elizabeth Patterson Sawyers and Rufus Bernhard von Klein Smid of De Pauw, Ind., have named Thursday, September 14, as their wedding day. The service is to be read at 9 o'clock at the home of Miss Sawyers' sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Linn, Portland Heights. Miss Sawyers will be attended by Miss Genevieve Thompson and Miss Agnes Trimble, her cousin from Keokuk.

Another marriage to be solemnized at All Saints Episcopal church is that of Miss Virginia June Sterling and William Detwiler on Thursday, September 14, at half past eight o'clock. The attendants chosen are Miss Pansy Sweetser and Fenton Grigsby.

The ceremony uniting Miss Helen Smith and Dr. John Beason in marriage will take place Thursday, September 14, at Miss Smith's home, on Mill street. Miss Leadbetter, an October bride-elect, and Miss Ethelita Stearns will be the bridesmaids and Dr. Presley Hale the best man. Stanley Smith and Ferdinand Smith are the ushers. Bishop Charles Scadding will pronounce Miss Hazel Irene Tichner and William Joseph Lyons man and wife on Wednesday, September 20, at Miss Tichner's home. Miss Cecil Wiley and Oliver King Jeffery will attend the bride and groom. A reception will follow the wedding.

Miss Vera Patterson and Leroy E. Getz are to be married Wednesday, September 6, at half past eight in her home. Miss Edna Patterson and Miss Henrietta Rothschild will attend the bride and groom. George Otten, a frat brother of Mr. Getz, will be the best man. Little Miss Ida May Schlotz, is to be the flower girl.

Clyde Hixon Reed served the ices and Miss Judith Scott presided over the tea urn. The hostess was assisted in the reception room by Miss Ticia Von Bolton and Miss Hazel Reed, sister of Mrs. Carrell. About fifty of the younger set and young matrons called between four and six.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Platt arrived in Portland Wednesday from San Francisco where Mrs. Platt has been seriously ill for some weeks. Mrs. Platt is now convalescing.

The pictures reproduced on today's society page are of the Misses Gladys and Hazel Van Deuzen, twin daughters of Colonel and Mrs. Van Deuzen, of Vancouver Barracks. The Van Deuzens arrived at the garrison in December from Manila, after a trip around the world, in command of the post. The Misses Van Deuzen, although very young, are possessed of decided talents, especially Miss Hazel (seated), who is an artist

EVIDENTLY the answer to the small number of June weddings is that all the brides-elect were waiting for September. Every Wednesday—charmed day for weddings—in September is filled with dates for interesting nuptials, except Wednesday, September 13. So far none have appeared brave enough to defy the superstition of the thirteenth and in consequence Thursday of that week is the popular day. Wednesday has long been considered the propitious wedding day but what the attraction about next Wednesday is something of a puzzle. And there must be some attraction for the calendar is marked at this time with six events of one sort and another, which is nothing short of a landslide after the long and weary wastes of "nothing doing."

Interest attaches itself to the discovery in Selby Abbey, England, of the Washington coat of arms which was the origin of the American flag. Rev. Dr. Solloway, vicar of Selby, hopes to be able to trace the connection of the Washingtons to Selby. He says there is no doubt of the correctness of the identification, and this with other heraldic treasures possessed by the abbey and connected with the Washington family will make a most interesting contribution to historic research when his examination is completed. Selby Abbey, the property of the ancestors of Herbert Kirtland Selby of Portland, still stands a type of antique beauty. The Selby coat of arms is among the most unique and interesting used in this country.

A CHICAGO engagement of interest in Portland was made known when Mr. and Mrs. George K. Wentworth announced the betrothal of their daughter Grace to Dr. E. L. Biggs, of Los Angeles, the wedding to take place in October. Miss Wentworth is the sister of George K. Wentworth, Jr. and has many friends in Portland, made on her visits to Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth. Her latest visit was made last summer.

Mrs. J. J. Pantou entertained with a tea Friday afternoon complimenting Mrs. Ennis Carrell, of Houston, Texas, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Miss Helen Smith and Miss Ada Burke, two September brides-elect, who assisted in the dining room. Mrs. Pantou decorated the table with bride roses. The reception room and music room were brilliant with red gladioli. Mrs.
