Delay Occasioned on Account of Rain—Big Barbecue to Be Feature.

The Labor day picnic, which was to have been held at Council Crest park today, was postponed on account of rain. It will be held next Sunday. This announcement was made this morning by W. L. Trullinger, chairman of the picnic committee of the Central Labor council.

30,000 UNIONISTS MARCH IN BAY CITY; GOMPERS SPEAKS

Who is also president of the Building Trades Council, as grand marshal. Union leaders of various ranks were his aides and in command of divisions. Samuel Gompers rode behind the grand marshal, with O. A. Tyntonne and A. J. Gallagher. He was greeted with cheers all along the line of march.

CITY OF ANGELS HOLDS GREATEST LABOR DAY PARADE IN ITS HISTORY

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 4.—With 25,000 workmen and women participating, Los Angeles today witnessed the greatest Labor Day parade in its history. At 9 o'clock Grand Marshal E. J. Hendricks gave the order for the parade to move, and with a dozen brass bands to furnish the music, the demonstration started.

NO MORE GAS IN STOMACH AND BOWELS

Not Only Relief, but Cure for All Time.

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in the stomach and bowels, take two BAALMANN'S GAS TABLETS for a day. BAALMANN'S GAS TABLETS are prepared distinctly and especially for stomach gas and particularly for all the bad effects coming from gas pressure.

Another evidence of hundreds of people who have been cured of gas in their stomachs and bowels the last few days. Mrs. Louisa Guasti, Los Angeles, Cal., writes as follows: "After taking Baalmann's Gas-Tablets one week found it necessary to continue as I felt perfectly relieved."

PRIDE OF TAFT HOME DOES STUNTS AT GOLF

Charlie Taft, who, despite petting and "apolling" by father, mother and sister Helen, has blossomed into a dyed-in-the-wool, genuine, sure enough bona fide golfer. In the "threesome" played on the links at Beverly, the president and Major Butt both fell before the prowess of the youngster.

of march. Labor leaders had planned to march by the city jail in order to give John J. and James B. McNamara a chance to witness the big celebration.

After the parade the workmen and women, 50,000 strong, gathered at Luna Park, where they participated in a monster barbecue. The feast was prepared by Joe Romero, the famous barbecue chef, and 150 assistants. It required 30,000 pounds of beef, 20,000 loaves of bread, 8,000 pounds of potatoes and 2,000 pounds of coffee to satisfy the gathering.

Thousands of spectators in the vicinity were affected by this mark of respect to the labor prisoners and a roar of approval greeted the action.

FRANK MORRISON AVERS FRAUD IS ONLY WEAPON LEFT CAPITAL FOR WAR

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Declaring that only by means of misrepresentation can capital now war against labor, Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, in an address here today, reviewed the progress of unionism. He said: "Antagonistic associations of employers, driven to desperation, and having no regard for the inherent rights of man or for any form of law, are today seeking by various means to destroy or organize labor. The making of false and criminal charges without foundation appears to be their present mode of warfare."

"The kidnaping of the McNamaras was apparently considered by the men committing that outrage as quite permissible. The employers' associations do not hope for their final conviction, but purpose by their prosecution to cast odium upon the entire labor movement. They are determined, by fair means or foul, to strike labor a fatal blow. But they will fail. The corrupt employers' association will hardly care to try conclusions with us again when this trial is ended, kidnapping and malicious prosecution must stop."

Morrison said that congress today was more friendly to labor than ever before. He defended the "closed shop" from the charge that it was invented to wrest the control of his business from the employer.

Young Women Sell Buttons. (United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Sept. 4.—"Save the McNamaras," was the slogan of nearly 100,000 union labor men and women marching along Fifth avenue today in one of the greatest Labor day parades the city has ever witnessed. Tens of thousands of women participated in the demonstration. Throughout the line of march young women sold McNamara buttons for the defense fund. Thousands were purchased. One big banner in the procession read: "The McNamaras are a labor hater and Burns is a labor baiter."

5000 Visitors Enter Medford. (Special to The Journal.) Medford, Ore., Sept. 4.—This city is today holding an exceptionally big Labor day celebration. Every train into the city was crowded this morning, and it is estimated that 5000 visitors are here opening the day. The celebration started this morning with a monster street parade, which was followed by field sports of various kinds. This afternoon a picked nine of union men is meeting the Medford regulars at baseball and following that the afternoon will be devoted to horse racing. This evening the celebration will close with a grand ball.

25,000 to See Rome Burn.

Tacoma, Sept. 4.—Workingmen and their families are observing Labor day at Spanaway lake with a picnic and athletic sports. No parade was held. The day's exercises will close with a grand spectacle in the high school stadium tonight when a representation of the "Burning of Rome" will be held. Twenty-five thousand admissions already have been sold and it is expected that at least 25,000 persons will be in attendance.

No Parade in Chicago. (United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, Sept. 4.—Labor day parades were eliminated here today. Money usually spent in rigging up elaborate floats, etc., being contributed toward the McNamara defense fund. A monster picnic held this afternoon was the only feature of the celebration.

BEATTIE ON STAND CALMLY REPEATS STORY OF MURDER

(Continued from Page One.) to Beulah Binford, the prisoner-witness then declared the reputation of the latter was extremely good and that she did not think he was the father of her dead child.

"I have known Beulah Binford since 1907," Beattie said, "first met her when she and Henrietta Pittman stopped my machine one day and asked for a ride. She was a girl who ran about town with anyone having money and our relations began soon after I met her. When her child was born in the fall of 1908 she denied money from me, but I declined to pay until forced to do so, when she hired an attorney."

"After that I was the laughing stock of the town," Beattie continued bitterly. "Every fellow who knew me for being so easy. But I do not think I was the father of her child. She swore I was not at the inquest."

Attorney Calls Kastelburg. At this point in Beattie's testimony, Attorney Smith tried to interrupt by calling Kastelburg, but the prosecution objected and was sustained.

Beattie then declared he had broken off relations with Beulah Binford during 1908, regarding her simply as a woman of the town. Asked if he loved her, the man replied with a ghastly smile:

"I cared nothing for her except physically."

Again taking up his story, Beattie asserted that he had loved his wife for a year prior to their marriage, and that they had never in their lives exchanged a cross word.

"I know of no reason why she should have been unhappy," he said. "I had told her all about my relations with Beulah Binford, including the fact that the birth of the child was blamed upon me."

Beattie admitted, however, that he resumed relations with Beulah Binford at Norfolk when the child was on its edge. He described the two days spent there with the girl, and declared that she bade him good-bye forever, saying she was going to Danville to enter a life of shame.

"I tried to save her from that," the defendant asserted, "and although I did not know she was coming to Richmond, I tried to dissuade her from going to Danville after she did come. The girl was not the first one I had tried to help along."

Asked if he had not planned to support the girl and furnish up a flat for her, Beattie replied:

"Yes, I intended to do so. Her reputation was so bad that her sister, unable to keep her home, asked me to do what I could. But that is no proof that I loved her. Another woman I helped under similar circumstances was Mary Wells."

Letter Just "Taffy." Continuing his testimony, Beattie said, in explanation of the "dear kid" letter to Beulah Binford which he signed "Oceans of love, brimming with kisses—Hon."

"That's just a little taffy, the gush you give women of that kind," he said. "I couldn't love a woman that I couldn't respect."

Beattie then denied that his wife had suffered from physical ailments as the result of ailments he contracted from Beulah. He denied that he had commissioned Paul Beattie to purchase a gun, although admitting that Paul came to the store early Saturday night preceding the murder and that he had taken him home in his machine. He denied Paul's visit to the pawnshop, declaring that he had not seen any gun that night.

Defense Scores Point. While Beattie was sitting in the witness chair, but before his testimony was taken, Attorney Smith called to the attention of the jury that Beattie had proved that the automobile seen standing on the Middlethorn turnpike the night of the murder was not Beattie's, as claimed by the prosecution, but belonged to Kastelburg.

Kastelburg and Louis Paschal, one of the boy joyriders who testified to having seen the machine the night of the tragedy, were recalled. Kastelburg did not answer, but Attorney Smith was allowed to offer as evidence the statement that he expected to prove that the number of Kastelburg's car was D11. Paschal testified that the car he and others saw was numbered D11.

Before Beattie's testimony was taken his father was also recalled to refute certain statements of Paul Beattie regarding the confession Henry was supposed to have made the night of the murder.

LOCAL MINISTERS ASK SECRETARY WILSON TO QUIT THE BREWERS

"It is to me most humiliating," said Mr. Parsons, "that a high functionary of our national government should so far forget the dignity of his great office as to ally himself in an official way with a body of men who own and control 10 per cent of the rum shops in the country." Secretary Wilson, Mr. Parsons, as amended by Dr. Benjamin Young, telegrams were sent by the president of the association to President Taft and Secretary Wilson asking that the latter withdraw from official connection with the brewers' congress.

Another important matter acted upon at today's meeting of the Ministerial association was a communication from W. G. MacLaren, superintendent of the Portland commons, asking the assistance of the Portland ministers in his effort to raise money to build a hospital for the care of infectious cases that are being treated at the commons. The letter of Superintendent MacLaren outlined a plan to have a tag day, October 7, the proceeds to be applied to the building of the proposed hospital. The subject provoked an animated discussion which resulted in the association refusing to endorse the MacLaren plan, but instead a committee was named composed of Dr. Benjamin Young, Dr. W. F. Reagar and Rev. William Par-

RAIN PUTS END TO SEASON FOR FIRES IN FOREST, BELIEF

(Continued from Page One.) show comparatively little serious damage up to date, but one fire lost, and reassuring conditions in Montana, Idaho and eastern Washington. In western Washington and Oregon the situation has been extremely dangerous. So far the increase of protective effort over that of previous years has been notably effective, but extreme dryness and the overtaxing of all forces to control numerous fires threatened serious consequences in case of strong wind or the starting of new fires.

In Montana frequent showers in August have made fires few and unimportant so far, the chief danger now lying in that the vegetation stimulated by these rains may be rendered inflammable by early frost and dry weather. In addition to the federal forces over 200 wardens have been maintained by the state and the timber owners, but there has been almost no necessity of employing fire fighting labor.

Few Fires in Idaho. Idaho has had no bad fires and weather conditions are so favorable that the Timber Owners' associations, which have had heavy patrols since May are rapidly reducing their forces. The Couer d'Alene district, which suffered heavily in 1910, had about 50 small fires this August, but they were handled so promptly that only one, which was incendiary, was at all serious, and this was practically confined to an old slash. The forest service has been equally fortunate in Idaho, but is still maintaining its full force.

Heavy private, state and federal patrols in Washington have so far stopped with small damage the fires set in green timber by lightning and campers. The greatest difficulty has been with fires in slashings and old burns, which acquired headway almost instantaneously and threatened adjoining timber. One in an old burn west of Mt. St. Helens and one near Ft. Ell, which burned approximately a section of timber, were the most serious Washington fires in August, but all authorities agree that the recent dry winds have brought danger that can hardly be overestimated, and that only rain or extreme care in the use of fire can prevent serious losses. Close watch is being kept for violations of the fire laws.

DEMOCRATS OF 2 STATES PROMISE SUPPORT TO CLARK

"Farcetically, I wish to remark that those hilarious patriots who assert that the Spanish was made up a world power were precisely 95 years behind the times. The United States became a world power on April 30, 1903, when Jefferson bought from Napoleon for a song the Louisiana territory, the greatest real estate transaction proposed since the devil took the Savior to the top of a mountain and offered him the dominion of the world if he would fall down and worship."
