

NO CLUE TO FIEND WHO MURDERED 6 WHILE THEY SLEPT

Theory Advanced That Sex-tuple Murderer Was Mad-man; Husband of One Victim Believed Not Guilty.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 21.—No solution has yet been found by the police for the Wayne and Burnham sextuple murder. The inquest is scheduled for this afternoon, when the meager details surrounding the finding of the six bodies with their heads split open will be brought out.

A. J. Burnham, a cook at the Modern Woodmen sanitarium, father and husband of three of the victims, is still in custody and continues to deny any knowledge of the crime. He says he spent Sunday night, when the murders are believed to have been committed, at the sanitarium, which is nine miles away from the city. The sanitarium authorities confirm this statement, saying that no conveyances left the stables that night. Burnham is a compulsive, and it is in his weakened condition, to have walked to the city and back in one night.

One theory advanced by the police is that the murderer was a madman whose mind became inflamed by reading accounts of the recent Lee murders at Boonville. The crimes are similar in many respects.

In both cases the victims were slain with an ax while they slept, and each slayer attempted to conceal the crime by setting fire to the house where the victims lay.

EDUCATIONAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED

Men's Meeting at Y. M. C. A. Sunday to Be Attended by Students.

Educational day will be observed next Sunday at the Portland Young Men's Christian Association when the regular meeting for men at 3:30 o'clock will be turned over to the educational department. The meeting will be the occasion for the gathering of all students of the day school, which is now in session, and prospective students of the night classes, which will open the following day.

All members of the Y. M. C. A. faculty will occupy seats on the platform, and educational work for the year will be outlined by H. W. Stone, the general secretary, and R. C. French, educational director. The main address of the day will be delivered by Frank R. Rigler, city superintendent of schools, who will speak on the subject, "The Meaning of Education." Special music will be provided.

The meeting Sunday will be followed by the annual educational rally on Monday night. Registration for the night classes will begin at 4 o'clock in the lobby. At 8 o'clock the students will gather in the auditorium, with W. M. Ladd, president of the association, presiding. Mr. Stone will make a brief address, and after Mr. French has outlined the courses, the students will retire to their classrooms.

Mr. French is confident that the registration in the educational department will far exceed that of last year. Up to date one third more students have registered than were listed at this time last year. The Portland Y. M. C. A. now has one of the largest educational departments in the country, and is ambitious to make it the largest.

PURE MILK ORDINANCE BEST IN THE COUNTRY

"I think Portland's pure milk ordinance is the best one of its kind in the United States if it can be properly enforced," declared Chief Milk Inspector C. M. Henderson of Seattle this morning in a conversation with City Health Officer C. H. Wheeler.

"Well, we'd have no trouble in enforcing it if we had a good police judge," was Dr. Wheeler's rejoinder. Inspector Henderson came from Seattle yesterday to gather information from the local health officer as to the methods used here to prevent the spread of tuberculosis through milk supplies. The Seattle health board is doing good work under a pure milk ordinance, which, however, does not include a provision for the tubercular test, the milk inspectors simply analyzing the milk for filth and adulteration.
