

LINES TO LOGGED LANDS PREDICTED

Lumberman McCormick Asks St. Helens for Franchise Through Streets.

(Special to The Journal.)
St. Helens, Or., Oct. 2.—The first move in a large development proposition will be made next Monday night, when an ordinance will be introduced before the council which will give to Charles R. McCormick, a San Francisco promoter, a franchise to build and operate a street railway over the streets of this place.
Mr. McCormick has already organized three companies with capital stock aggregating nearly $1,000,000, which are actively engaged in the lumbering business in Columbia county, with headquarters in this city. The St. Helens Timber company, of which corporation he is the president, owns more than 2,000 acres of timber land adjacent to this city, and while the promoters are noncommittal, it is believed that the ultimate object is the development of this property when the timber is removed, by the construction of interurban lines.
The St. Helens Mill company and the Columbia County Lumber company, both of which are McCormick corporations, with mills located at this place, are rapidly removing the timber from the holdings of the timber company, and with the logging roads as a nucleus the construction of a system of interurban roads throughout Columbia county would be a comparatively simple matter.
Columbia county logged off lands, when placed under cultivation, have been found to be very productive, and command a good price where transportation facilities are good, hence the belief that the promoters of the street railway project have the construction of the interurban system in view, the building of which would enhance the value of their holdings to such an extent as to practically pay the initial cost of construction.
If the franchise is granted, as it doubtless will be, the promoters say active construction will begin early in the spring of 1912.

BREMER'S LAWYER GETTING EVIDENCE

Alabama Barrister, Retained by Accused Murderer, Investigates Crime.

(Special from Leased Wire.)
Auburn, Ala., Oct. 2.—H. F. Brandenburg, a prominent attorney of Alabama, is here today investigating the recent murder of Thomas Rafferton in behalf of Herman Bremer of Montgomery, Ala., who is charged with the crime.
Rafferton was found in his cabin with his skull crushed and Bremer was known to have been entering in the vicinity at the time. He is the son of a wealthy resident of Montgomery, where he is now suing for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent extradition to California. That he expects to lose the legal fight is shown by the arrival of Brandenburg here.
The Bremer case will make the third famous murder trial at Auburn in recent years, the cases of Adolph Weber, who was hanged for killing his father, mother, brother and sister and burning the house over their corpses, and of Alma Bell, who shot and killed her lover, Joe Armas, and was acquitted under the plea of the "unwritten law," being well remembered.

PROGRESSIVE MADERO SEES SYSTEM'S FAULTS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Mexico City, Oct. 2.—"The election system in Mexico is all wrong," said Francisco I. Madero, newly elected president of Mexico, in a statement to the United Press today. "Even though Vice President Suarez and myself were elected by it, I intend to have the system and its secrecy abolished at once. I shall study the various forms of elections and shall strongly advocate the best method."
"My sentiments are akin to those of your 'insurgents.' I wish you would make my idea clear to the American people. While my unanimous election may savor of the previous kind, it could not be avoided under the present system, but I shall see that the next election will be of a sort in which the people may actually make their choice. I am a progressive, not a conservative."

CARDINAL GIBBONS STRIKES AT RECALL

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Baltimore, Oct. 2.—That the recall is an insult to the dignity, independence and self respect of the judiciary is a statement made by Cardinal Gibbons which is causing a storm of comment today throughout the east.
In a sermon delivered here, Cardinal Gibbons said:
"Far less menacing to the commonwealth is the occasional corrupt, incompetent judge than the one who would be the habitual slave of the capricious multitude, with his ear always to the ground, trying to find the people's verdict."

STREETCAR HITS FREIGHT; ONE KILLED, 15 INJURED

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., Oct. 2.—Herman Schramer is dead and 15 others were more or less injured as a result of a collision between a loaded street car and an electric freight train Sunday morning. The passenger car was out-bound with night workers returning to their homes, nearly all being employees on the morning newspapers. The motor-man of the freighter lost control of his train and it crashed into the other car, killing Schramer outright. Schramer worked in the pressroom of the Post-Intelligencer.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., Oct. 2.—Dependent because his wife had secured a divorce, Dr. U. G. Kinnison, a dentist living in Aberdeen, Wash., committed suicide in a hotel room here. A letter from his wife in which she told him that she had won her divorce suit was found in his pocket.

Wilson Says Hymn Is Silly

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Trenton, N. J., Oct. 2.—Characterizing the hymn "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" as "silly and meaningless," after he had heard 6000 people sing it, Governor Woodrow Wilson stated that many present day hymns contain neither poetry nor sense.

LOST ON WAY HOME FROM A REVIVAL

Mrs. R. M. Hunt of Hood River Heights Is Finally Sought by Church Alarm

(Special to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., Oct. 2.—Excitement ran high on Hood River Heights when it was reported that Mrs. R. M. Hunt was missing from her home. Mrs. Hunt had attended a revival meeting at the Baptist church and on her way home became bewildered and at one time found herself down at Hood River. After wandering about for nearly six hours she returned to the place where she started. The church bell sounded the alarm about midnight and a large number of people joined in the hunt for the missing woman.

Athletic Grade 75 Per Cent.

(Special to The Journal.)
Hood River, Or., Oct. 2.—The board of directors of the Hood River high school rescinded the action taken at the opening of school, placing the grade for participants in athletics at 80 per cent and providing the customary grade of 75 per cent. The action was brought about by a student body protest. The domestic science department will be greatly enlarged and a manual training department for boys is expected.
