Friends of the provident heaved a great sigh of raise today when they mushed the promitent on his way after his thrilling climb of the mountain yesanyday. Bixty-five hundred feet up the winding read that clings to the high walled precipics of the mountain the president rode in an automobile Mipsary roads, a possible defuct in an auto-mobils. A single distolged stone, or a skil of a few inches, meant a horrible beath at the bottom of sheer walls drapping from the road a clear 540 to At times President Taft's feat mathing churned mud a foot deep with in's few inches of the cliffs' edge. It ounded hairpin curves where the steering gear could mearcely guide the hurtling machine inside the narrow road that was hardly broader than the car from mulguard to mudguard.

The Glorious Tatoonh Bange.

Time after time the members of the president's party who followed him up the pertious dimb held their breath as his car edged around procipics roads. At Hisksecker's curve, where the face of the cliff bemanth the road dropped a sheer 1000 feet to the rock strewn glacial Nisqually canyon below, the reaident's cor was stopped within a foot of the edge while he gazed up at the frowning face of the Tatoosh range screag the canyon, with its glorious coloring of blue and yellow and velvet brown an1 purple melting together under the golden red of the setting sun. En above, Rainier towered, majestic in its snowclad peak, and glacier-draped

Three Cars Arrive, 15 Blocked.

A sea of mud on the dangerous read added the final touch to the presitent's trip. Only three cars of the 18 that trip. carried the party reached the top and in one of these was the president. All along the mountain were mired automobiles, hub deep in waxy clay. For an hour President Taft was kept in the old altitude with the downward road blocked by a dozen or more cars mired in the narrow way. After the cars had been dug out of the mud and dragged to a passably solid road by rangers' horses they were run to a spot where the road broadened enough to them to turn and precede the president down. Night hal fallen when the presidential party reached its train. President Is Convinced.

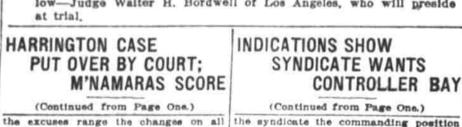

One hundred and nine miles the president covered by automobile. On the mountain Governor Hay, who had induced him to make the trip, and Rep resentatives Humphreys and Warbur ton, workel knee deep in mud to keep the procession moving. The state of Washington wants a federal appropriation to improve the Mount Rainier national park roads, and they undertook to show the president they needed it. They proved it. Whatever the president have thought of the trip, his may friends were frantic with anxiety at many points on the climb. On one occasion the president himself mildly suggested that it might be advisable to turn back. But the Tacoma committee would not have it so.

MY DIRECT TREATMENT FOR WEAKNESS That disorder commonly known as weakness has for years and genera-tions baffled the efforts of physi-clans, yet to this very day a ma-jority of doctors, specialists not ex-cepted, are attempting to overcome it by methods that have been in con-stant use and have always failed for half a century. They dose the system with powerful stimulants and tonics, calculated to restore-net ous force or strength that is not and never has been lacking, with the result that the functions are temporarily excited to the positive detriment of the patient. Weakness is only a symptom resulting from many local conditions and is curable by local treatment only, without the giving of a single internal dose, which demonstrates the absolute ac-curacy of my understanding and treatment of this disorder.
