

BECOMES MANAGER POWDER COMPANY

Trade and Convention Booster
R. W. Raymond Quits Commercial Club.

R. W. Raymond.

R. W. Raymond, manager of the industrial and convention bureau of the Portland Commercial club, has resigned, and will leave the club October 15. He will become sales manager for the American Safety Powder company, of which Dean A. W. Hendrick of Whitman college, Walla Walla, is president. Mr. Raymond came to Portland about a year ago under the direction of the industrial and convention bureau of the Commercial club. Since he has been in Portland Mr. Raymond has investigated industrial conditions, tabulated statistics, prepared blue prints and charts showing Portland's advantages as an industrial center, securing several manufacturing plants of importance. Chief of these is probably the Berlin Machine works factory. This company is the largest manufacturer of woodworking machinery in the world.

Among the conventions which have been secured to Portland through the efforts of Mr. Raymond are the Christian church convention, the National Rotary convention, the Northwest Music Teachers' association, the Arctic Brotherhood, which meets here next month, and the second World's Christian Citizenship congress in 1912. Several other conventions are practically assured, among which are the Commercial Law League of America for 1912, the postmasters of the United States for 1912, the Northwest Electric Light association for 1912, the American Association for the Advancement of Science for 1912, and the national W. C. T. U. for 1912.

"I very much regret Mr. Raymond's resignation and his leaving the club work," said Manager Chapman. "His activity has been a great help to the club. I regard his work in closing the contract with the Schwarzschild & Sulzburger people as particularly important. Portland is the first city these packers have chosen that did not give them a bonus for coming."

"The friends of Mr. Raymond are preparing to tender him a testimonial dinner at the Commercial club within the next week or 10 days."

Mr. Raymond was interested in the American Safety Powder company when his help was asked to find a site for a factory near Portland where the explosive could be manufactured. Mr. Raymond will organize the parent company here. He expects to establish subsidiary plants elsewhere and build up a sales system.

SOUTHWEST TOWNS EACH GIVEN SHORT TALK BY MR. TAFT

pose the president of the United States became a humble courtier, and incidentally took upon himself many severe promises and responsibilities which, as far as Charles Taft Snowden is concerned, were considerably greater than the responsibilities of office. The red room at the New Washington hotel was well chosen for such an event and the setting was as dainty and appropriate as could have been devised or desired. The end of the room, where the ceremony was to take place, was banked with evergreen, with a huge standing palm in the center and others at each wall. Tall baskets of chrysanthemum graced either side and ferns gave an effective finish to the base. The foliage and rich green of the decorations contrasted beautifully with the red tapestried walls and heavy red and gold curtains, a pretty setting for a pretty scene.

Charles Taft Snowden, as he can now formally be called, was easily the most well-dressed person present. Borne in by Mrs. Frederick H. White, he crooned softly to himself as one whose thoughts were far away. When taken by his mother, Mrs. George H. Snowden, he lifted a sturdy but diminutive cry.

FIRST INFANTRY BAND WILL LEAD VANCOUVER PROCESSION TO DEPOT

(Special to The Journal.)
Vancouver, Wash., Oct. 11.—Plans were completed this morning for the reception of President William H. Taft when he reaches the union depot at 4:39 o'clock this afternoon. The First Infantry band of Vancouver barracks will lead the procession to the depot. The girls of all the schools of the city will go to the depot accompanied by their teachers. The president's special will make a 16 minute stop and the president will speak from the rear platform of the train. His special train will be switched

PROGRESSIVE LEADERS CRITICISE WITH VIGOR TAFT'S SEATTLE TALK

(Special from Seattle Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., Oct. 11.—Thomas F. Murphy, president of the Progressive league and chairman of the county central committee here, views President Taft's speech in Seattle as emphasizing the fact that he is not a reactionary. "It was a speech of a politician trying to bring the issue," he said. "He sidestepped the real question entirely in Seattle, where it is especially important that he should discuss any of the issues with that breadth which should characterize a strong president's speech. He did not take a positive stand either on conservation or Alaska. He did not say what he thought of the word 'republican' in the Standard Oil decision. The speech leaves a negative impression for what he did not speak about, rather than a positive one for anything that he did say."

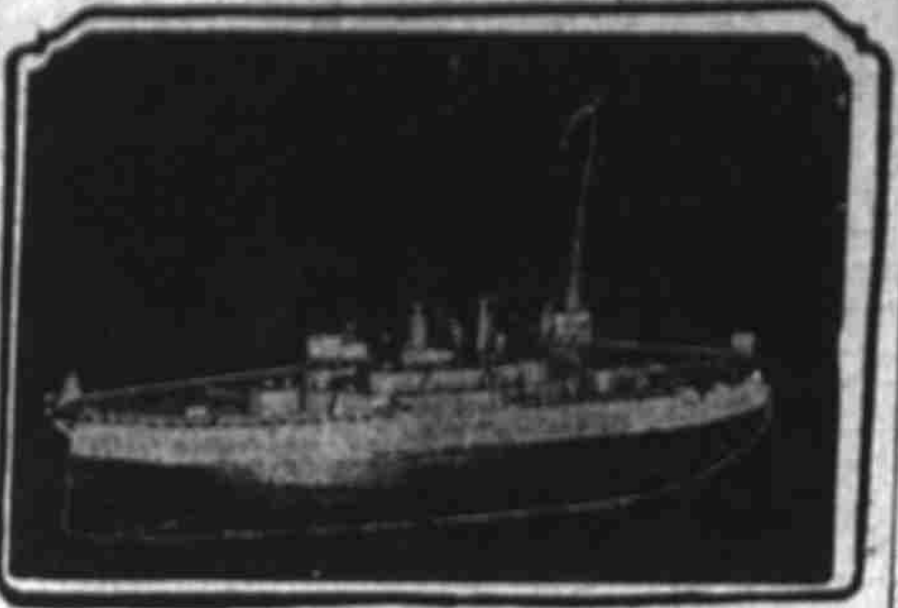

One A. Case, progressive Republican candidate for governor, disesteemed President Taft's speech at the Army in Seattle, says that he is overwhelmed by the fact that the chief executive used the occasion to "plead for corporate privileges rather than to speak a responsible word in the life of the people."

WELCOME IS QUIET AT OLYMPIA BECAUSE OF DEATH OF FAIRCHILD

(Special to The Journal.)
Olympia, Wash., Oct. 11.—A quiet, reserved crowd greeted President Taft at the capital of Washington today. In the central hall of the state capitol, before which the president spoke, lay in state the body of H. A. Fairchild, state railroad commissioner, and the city mourned his death, while it welcomed the president.

In his speech the president congratulated Washington on "the progressive legislation you have adopted in this state." He particularly praised the state's workman's compensation law.

Miniature Canal Scene for Taft

Model of Battleship Oregon which will be feature at Taft banquet tonight

Just to show President Taft that the battleship Oregon is the proper vessel to make the first passage between the Atlantic and the Pacific through the Panama canal, the president will have the fun of seeing the famous ship on her voyage of peace as if in the life, this evening. The center piece of the large banquet table at the Commercial club banquet tonight will be representations of the Atlantic and Pacific, the Isthmus of Panama, and the Panama canal. A finely constructed model of the battleship Oregon will float on the two seas and when the president is seated, will make the passage between the oceans via the miniature Panama canal. The model of the Oregon has been carved from wood by Thomas Ross, a messenger in the office of United States Attorney McCourt. In addition to the Oregon, which was a hurry-up order and which he finished in his spare time during the past 10 days, Ross has just completed a perfect model of the torpedo boat destroyer Frolic. This model is five feet long and was constructed from the working plans of the navy department. Every detail about the model is complete, in the smallest steamship by the Panama. Hatchways, ventilators, gun, searchlights, compasses, everything visible on a big destroyer, has been reproduced in this model, which is as perfect as the navy department's own models. Ross was in the navy nearly eight years and spent the greater part of his time on the Frolic and other destroyers of her class. Perhaps the most remarkable thing about the model of the destroyer is that it was built entirely out of wood with an ordinary desk knife and draw knife. All the intricate details of the gun machinery and similar fine work were carved with the little desk knife. The model is to be a present to Mr. McCourt's young son and if he's allowed to sail it on the Willamette he'll be the envy of every kid from Fulton to St. Johns.

The president defended his tariff views and promised tariff revision at the next session of congress. The president greeted 1000 school children of Olympia and had luncheon with Governor Hay during his hour and half in the town.

Lack of Enthusiasm General.
(Special from Seattle Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., Oct. 11.—"Seattle was respectful towards President Taft, but did not go wild over him," said Mayor George W. Dilling this morning. Dilling accompanied the president throughout the city wherever he went. Mayor Dilling has just returned from Illinois, where he says the same lack of enthusiasm for Taft is everywhere discernible. "The people there," he said, "have grown thoroughly independent, it seems to me, and they do not care whether a Republican or a Democrat is elected. There is much favorable sentiment expressed for Woodrow Wilson." Dilling is a Republican.

Governor Leaves for Portland.
(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Oct. 11.—Owing to the visit of Taft to Salem on Columbus day,

TAFT'S ARRIVAL IN PORTLAND TO FIND CITY'S GATES AJAR

The president is served to about 150, including the president's party, at 9:25 p. m. The banquet will be provided over by President Beakwith of the Commercial club, and will be concluded by a short address from President Taft, who will then go immediately to the residence where Mayor Hushlight will preside and introduce the president to the people. Immediately after the Army meeting Taft will be received at the heights of Columbus hall, at Park and Taylor streets.

Beautiful Decorations.

Only a whisper or two has gotten abroad concerning the menu and table decorations at the banquet this evening. That the decorations will be even more elaborate and unique than featured the Roosevelt banquet is one of the announcements. One set place which it is said will savor of gold, the Panama canal and the battleship Oregon leading the first fleet through the big ditch, will be 15 by 16 feet in its dimensions. And this set place is to be only one of the many decorative and unusual features that will combine with the menu to make the banquet, though short in time, a delight to all who attend and recompense each for the $10 surrendered to get the privilege of attending.

The Army will be in charge of the National Guard under command of Adjutant General Finer this evening. Its decorations, of an unusually elaborate and beautiful character, will be partly for the president and partly for the conclusion of Columbus day celebration of the Italian tomorrow, whose parade of floats during the day is to be concluded by an Army night meeting.

Steve Connell, chief of the secret service in the northwest, and Chief of Police Siver both said this morning that every possible detail for the president's protection while in Portland had been attended to.

Soldiers' Body Guard.
Colonel McGunnigle has detailed two crack companies under Lieutenants Malone and Burnett to constitute the president's body guard. Two hundred police have been detailed to keep order along the right of way. In accordance with the president's wishes, there will be no demonstration at the depot. He will promptly take his place in the automobile provided by T. H. Wilson with Mayor Hushlight and Major Archie Brille and the second car will be occupied by general service operatives and a newspaper man. Members of the Portland committee will follow in 15 automobiles.

After the parade those who expect to attend the banquet will go at once to the Commercial club. The banquet will not be formal, but dark clothes will be worn.

Donnan E. McKinley, congressman from San Francisco, arrived in Portland this morning and obtained permission to deliver a special message to President Taft when he arrives this evening. Congressman McKinley said that the message was of a private nature and it is expected to be in connection with the Panama ground breaking exercises in the bay city, at which the president will officiate.

After the reception tonight at the heights of Columbus hall the president will be taken to the Union depot, where he will board the Taft special, leaving here after midnight for San Francisco, via Salem.

Will Pass Along.
(Special to The Journal.)
Eugene, Or., Oct. 11.—The city council has granted the petition of property owners in the business district to pass a number of alleys adjacent thereto. The contract will be let to the Clark & Henry Construction company, which is at work on a street improvement. Some of the alleys were paved when the Warren Construction company was here two years ago and are the remaining alleys in the business district will be so improved.

White Bread Eaters

Beri-beri! What's That?

A recent press dispatch from Paris to the New York American quotes Thomas A. Edison as saying, that in France:

"They (the French) do not unbalance the wheat for the sake of appearance, but retain the gluten qualities in an extraordinary way. I think that most of the indigestion in America comes from the desire to make bread look pretty, and in so doing, unbalancing the wheat, taking from it qualities most essential to nutrition and health.

"It has been found in countries where that dreaded disease known as beri-beri flourishes (beri-beri is a fatal disease attacking the nerves and nerve centres) that in the process of polishing and whitening rice, elements are taken from the food that, if allowed to remain and be fed to patients suffering from the disease, actually cures them."

In the making of white flour, the vital elements of the hard, outer coat of the wheat are "thrown away," because they darken the flour. Nerve starvation is a natural result.

No one can "beat" Old Mother Nature. She places in wheat and barley certain elements (Diastase, Potash, Lime, etc.) up under the outer shell. Diastase is the element which helps to transform or digest starch and make it useful for the body. The Potash goes to rebuild the gray matter in the nerve cells.

In the making of Grape-Nuts

these brain and nerve-building elements are purposely preserved, among them the valuable Phosphate of Potash, (grown in the grain) the essential tissue salt of all gray nerve matter.

For growing children, for men and women who work with body and brain, there is no better food than Grape-Nuts.

Grape-Nuts contains all the meat of the wheat and barley from which it is made. A dish of Grape-Nuts and cream is the cereal part of the daily morning meal of hundreds of thousands of people all over the world.
