

ULM AND WIFE AGAIN ARRESTED AT DEPOT

W. E. Elm and wife who have been found guilty in the grand jury on a charge of armed robbery with the intent to take the treasure in the money box at South Portland.

They were taken in custody again this morning at the depot, where they were found with the money box, which they had taken from the depot on the morning of last Thursday, when the couple were arrested. They were taken to the depot this morning, with the money box, and are immediately released.

to police headquarters. Finding that they intended to bring their goods to the depot, they had been furnished for their release pending appearance before the grand jury. Captain Miller ordered them brought to police headquarters where Judge Olson was asked to appear and settle the matter. The couple were returned to jail.
