

BENNY HENDERSON UNDER SUSPENSION

Manager McCredie Says Big Hurler Has Probably Played Last Game.

(United Press Special Wire)
San Francisco, Oct. 18.—Benny Henderson has probably played his last game of baseball on the Pacific coast, declared Walter McCredie, manager of the Portland Beavers, this morning. McCredie is evidently thoroughly satisfied with the pitcher. "The last game," he said, "is probably his last. He has pitched like a champion all these years."

WAYWARDNESS OF BOYS LAID TO POLICEMEN

J. J. Murphy, Portland's philosophical policeman, has a new theory for the cause of waywardness in children. He says it is the fault of the policeman. "When you find a bunch of bad kids in a neighborhood, it is a sure bet the policeman on the beat is at fault," says Patrolman Murphy. "The trouble is this—a policeman don't pay much attention to kids. The average officer goes along and never sees any of the petty things that they do. The kids know they will not be molested, and go from bad to worse. It is not long until they begin to destroy property. Too many policemen are looking out for the big fellow, and allow the boys to do anything they choose. They've got to behave on my beat. I have 12 kids now before the juvenile court, and think they should be punished. They are from the vicinity of Oakley given station on the peninsula, and have been allowed to do as they pleased. The result is they have destroyed more property and done more damage than all the thieves and other crooks on the east side." Patrolman Murphy has been on this beat five months, and has succeeded in breaking up youthful gangs that have existed for years. He is after the little fellows as soon as the curfew is in effect, and the boys know this. They keep their distance, and their mischievousness is less annoying. The patrolman is one among the oldest members of the department, and his jovial disposition has won him the title of "Portland's philosophical policeman."

Americans Wed in Paris.

(United Press Special Wire)
Paris, Oct. 18.—American society in the French capital was much interested in the wedding today of Miss Madeleine L. Engle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. L'Engle of New Orleans, and Adrian Iselin, second son of C. Oliver Iselin of New York. Both bride and bridegroom are well known to society on both sides of the Atlantic. The bride is of long and notable lineage, and through her father by the paternal line she is a descendant of the younger son of the Marquis de l'Engle de Bretagne, who settled in America in the early part of the last century. By her father on the maternal side she comes of English stock which leads back to Lawrence Washington, the great uncle of George Washington. Mr. Iselin's family has long been prominent in New York. C. Oliver Iselin is noted for his interest in yacht racing. The son was educated at Oxford and has spent much of his time abroad.

COBLE MURDER AVENGED; WILSON IS CONVICTED

George H. Wilson, found guilty in only second degree because of mental condition.

(Special to The Journal)
Olympia, Wash., Oct. 18.—Murder in the second degree was the verdict returned by the jury after 14 hours' deliberation in the case of George H. Wilson, charged with the murder of Archie and Nettie Coble last July. The prisoner listened to the verdict with the same apathy and stolidness which has marked him all through the trial. Mrs. Wilson burst into loud weeping and clung to her husband as he was returned to his cell, their children clustering around Wilson and adding their childish laments to Mrs. Wilson's weeping. Judge Mitchell will give time for the defense to file a motion for a new trial before pronouncing sentence. It is possible the judge will not reach Wilson's case again this week. It is said the jury at one time stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. Not once did the jury report to Judge Mitchell, although Monday night, just before being locked up for the night, it asked him to "wait 10 minutes." The jurors sent word at the end of that time that they could not agree and nothing was heard from them again until late yesterday afternoon, when they reported they had agreed. Mrs. Wilson says she can easily support herself, but that she will be unable to care for the five small children if her husband is not freed. The minimum penalty for second degree murder is 10 years in prison. The court instructed the jury that if they believed Wilson committed the crime without realizing what he was doing the verdict should be second degree murder.

Women's Prejudice Stand Test.

(United Press Special Wire)
Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 18.—Three women jurors who awarded damages to the Langston liquor company against the Western Union Telegraph company were pro-unionists but they did not affect their judgment, said Superior Judge Clifford today. He said he wanted to compliment them in open court for resisting "an unwholesome test verdict."
