Washington, Oct. 26.—One of the most vexatious problems confronted in the United States army is how to stop the practice of soldiers selling or other-wise disposing of their clothing, according to Brigadier General Crowder, judge advocate general, who has discussed the question in his annual report, just made public.

There were last year more than 200 trials for this offense alone in the army, It is most prevalent in the Philippines, where there are men who make regular practice of buying the heavy clothing brought by soldiers arriving from the

To meet the problem the army advocated successfully the passage of a law making it unlawful to buy or receive in pledge from soldiers clothing and equipment which rightfully belonged to the United States government. Under this law there have been several convictions, carrying with them fines and short jail sentences. This has not al-leviated the trouble in the Philippines, however, as the Philippines commission held that the law was not applicable in the insular territory.

"All of the European police," he said, "have easy work, for they have only to deal with populations that are 'tamed' to authority."

He thinks the Royal Irish constabu-lary are the finest lot of policemen in Europe, but that they resemble soldiers more than civic officers.

DECLARE HE BROKE GAME LAWS TO GIVE TAFT DEER MEAT

The fact that President Taft is beyond the reach of the law, and him from molestation at the hands of the game authorities at Roseburg and another "goat" is being sought to take his place.

When his train passed through Roseburg on his recent tour, Ben Shields, a resident of Roseburg, loaded a carcass of a deer on board for the delectation of the presidential party. Unlucky for his peace of mind, he forgot that the train would leave the state long before the steaks and roasts had been consumed.

The loading of the deer was seen by hundreds of residents of Roseburg who had gathered to see the "big smile." Among the crowd were one or two of those busybodies who are determined that laws must be enforced to y last letter. Now they demand that Shields be made a "goat." They even go so far as to hint that the deer was shot at the instance of the Roseburg Commercial club, and that Shields was hired to do it. What action will be taken will await the return of State Game Warden Finley from the east.
