Last Craft of Pacific Fleet Arrives for Naval Review, Scheduled in Southern Waters—Small Boats Dot Bay.

(By the International News Service.)
Los Angeles, Oct. 29.—The last warship of the Pacific fleet arrived here today. This completes the list of vessels that will take part in the naval review scheduled for the next three days, and brings the total tonnage of the 21 vessels of war up to 114,744. The fleet includes practically every vessel in the navy, aside from those that will participate in the big review at New York.

The fleet as well as the town has been being with flags and bunting. Thousands of visiting craft, yachts and commercial boats from all parts of the Pacific coast, crowd the bay for the review. Every craft capable of carrying passengers has been requisitioned and seats on board water craft for the day of the naval parade are at a premium.

Command Post Orderly.
The police report the conduct of the hundreds of sailors and marines who have been visiting Los Angeles on shore leave, as most orderly. The last of these will be rounded up tonight for duty on the battleships during the review.

The 21 ships comprising the Pacific fleet now lying off Los Angeles are:
Battleship—Oregon; tonnage, 14,344.
Armored cruisers—California, South Dakota, Maryland, West Virginia and Colorado; total tonnage 43,493.
Cruisers—Cincinnati and Raleigh; total tonnage, 23,604.

Names of Destroyers.
Destroyers—Whipple, Hopkins, Hull, Truxton, Paul Jones, Frisco, Stewart and Lawrence; total tonnage, 3341.
Torpedo boats—Farragut and Howan; tonnage, 453.
Submarines—Grampus and Pike.
Tender—Fortune; tonnage, 459.
Auxiliary—Buffalo (transport), Glacier (supply ship), Prometheus (collier); total tonnage, 23,910.

division will remain as a visitor until the second week in January.

Power of Army Fearful.
The prodigious power of this grim array is fearful to contemplate. In 15 minutes they could blow New York off the map. Dark, sullen, impressive, the spectacle of the big sea monsters by night provide thrills for thousands of Manhattanites and visitors who throng toward Riverside drive this evening and gloried in the play of searchlights, in the chug-chug of launches as parties of bluejackets left their floating homes on shore leave and in occasional flashes of martial music by the sailors' band wafter over the waters by the wind.

The vessels are grouped in three divisions and extend northward from Fifty-seventh street in the Hudson for a distance of eight miles. The first group is comprised of battleships, cruisers, armored cruisers and colliers. They face New York. The submarines are just astern of the battleships. The second group consists of destroyers and auxiliaries. The third group is made up of torpedo boats.

17,000 Officers and Men.
The fleet of battleships mount exactly 400 guns, manned by about 17,000 officers and men. The total displacement of the fleet is 577,599 tons.

The secretary of the navy and party will review the vessels from the deck of the Mayflower at tomorrow. In the evening of Halloween night, the whole 102 ships of war will be strung with electric lights. On the day following Secretary Meyer will inspect one vessel in each division.

"There are 21 battleships and armored cruisers in the harbor. In the destroyer class 13 of Uncle Sam's total fleet of 34 vessels are in New York. Nine torpedo boats out of a flotilla of 32, and 11 submarines out of 18 owned by the United States are also here. These smaller boats will play a prominent part in the maneuvers which will mark the mobilization.

Interference Planned Against.
Great care has been taken by Rear Admiral Osterhaus, ranking officer of the fleet, to see that the shipping of the harbor is not interfered with.

Much interest is manifested as to the exact nature of the maneuvers that will be undertaken by the fleet, but so far little light has been shed on this feature of the mobilization by the navy department. It is probable, however, that the maneuvers of the destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines will be augmented by experiments with the larger vessels.

Last Assembly of Warships.
(By the International News Service.)
Washington, Oct. 30.—Deductions made today by those well versed in naval affairs indicate that the coming naval mobilization at New York and Los Angeles, October 30 to November 2, will probably be the last assembly of warships that will show the United States of America standing second on the list of great maritime powers. According to the present rate of development, the shipbuilding plans of the powers will bring Germany into second place in three years. Naval officials state that another mobilization, of a magnitude to compare with the coming one, would probably not be made within that time.

It is thought in official circles that this fact will play a prominent part in the "greater navy" advocates' campaign for more battleships at the coming session of congress. To keep its lead in the race for ranking place on the seas, congress must double the present program of warship construction.

Father and Three Sons Face Trial.
Jackson, Ga., Oct. 30.—A special session of the Butts county superior court convened today for the trial of William Turner and his three sons, who are charged with murder. The four men are accused of having fired from ambush upon a party of Butts county citizens returning to their homes from Indian Spring, on the night of August 25, killing one of the party and seriously wounding another.

Miners Observe Mitchell Day.
Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 30.—The United Mine Workers throughout the three anthracite districts of Pennsylvania today held their annual celebration of Mitchell day, in honor of the successful termination of the great strike conducted by former President John Mitchell in 1900.

Most Notable Assembly of United States War Vessels

Rear Admiral Hugo S. Osterhaus, commander of the Atlantic squadron, now assembled in New York harbor; his flag ship, the Connecticut, the torpedo boat destroyer Reid, and the battleship North Dakota. These ships will play a prominent part in the review and maneuvers that will mark the mobilization of the 102 war vessels at New York.

obligations, and there is believed to be little likelihood of France and England supporting the military action under the strong probability that the loan would be repudiated.

San Francisco, Oct. 29.—Manchu government in any form will not be accepted by the Chinese revolutionists, say local supporters of the revolution in discussing the demand made by the 17,000 troops under General Yuan Shi Kai forming the main body of the imperial forces, that a constitutional assembly be established.

This proposition is denounced as a scheme favored by the government as a last effort of the Manchu dynasty to maintain itself in China. Tong King Chong, editor of the Chinese Free Press and secretary of the Kwok Min association, the leading revolutionary society in the Pacific coast, declared today that the rebels will be content with an arrangement which leaves a vestige of power in the hands of the Manchus. "We will not stop," he said, "until every Manchu has been driven from China and a republic established."

General Yuan Shi Kai, appointed as successor of General Yen Ching, assassinated last week, in the instigation of the demands made by his troops and before taking command had given no sign of revolutionary intention. He is generally regarded with distrust.

A clash between rebels and imperialist troops in the streets of Canton occurred Saturday, according to a cable received by the Free Press from its Hong Kong correspondent, but with what result is not stated. A later dispatch says that the merchants of Canton have prevailed upon the officials of Kwang Tung province, of which Canton is the capital, to treat with the revolutionists. An official named King Hsin Yen has been appointed for this purpose and is to prop up the rebels that they refrain from further bloodshed and that the province will be permitted to feature independence of the Manchu government without resistance.

Shanghai, Oct. 29.—Confirmation of reports that the imperial troops had recaptured Hankow from the rebels prompted the reports of the burning of the city. Strategists here think the rebels abandoned the city after heavy losses, finding it difficult to hold.

The wireless dispatches from the battleships say that after the imperialists entered the city they slaughtered thousands of unarmed non-combatants. It is feared that some of the European residents may have suffered in the burning of the city.

More than 500 rebels were killed and 1000 wounded in Friday's fight. The Rev. A. H. Kaylor, an American, was among those wounded during the battle and is in a critical condition. He was struck in the neck by a bullet while watching the fight from a roof. There was no intention apparently to assault the missionary, whose wound was relieved from a stray bullet.

A Crop of Early Cabbage

A crop of early cabbage, followed by one of later celery, will produce enough on three-quarters of an acre to pay for your PARKROSE tract in three years. AVERAGE yields of cabbage run about $200 per acre, and cabbage is a good crop, because it can be stored to advantage if the market is not favorable. The rich soil of PARKROSE is particularly adapted to the growing of all kinds of vegetables, and the location—just one mile beyond Rose City Park—offers the added advantage of being "close in."

Establish your home in PARKROSE. You could not choose a better place to live. You will have good car service, electric lights, water, phones, modern city conveniences, and you will be in a good neighborhood.

THINK, TOO, OF THE INVESTMENT POSSIBILITIES. You can buy a whole acre in PARKROSE for $1150 up—less than you would have to pay for one lot a little closer in. And PARKROSE lies in a straight line in the direction of the city's most rapid growth. In a few years PARKROSE LOTS will be worth the price of a PARKROSE ACRE today. Come to our office and we will tell you more about the money-making possibilities for all who invest NOW. We will take you out to the tract and show you one of the most beautiful pieces of property you have ever seen. Come while the weather is fine. Phone for an appointment if you wish—Main 208, A-2050.

Mistaken for Another, Avila Walking With Arm About Wife, Is Shot Dead.

San Bernardino, Cal., Oct. 30.—Mistaken for another man, Santiago Avila was shot and killed early today by an unidentified assassin while walking to his home with his arm around his wife's waist. When within a few feet of his home, a stranger accosted Avila asking "Is this Juan?"

"No," replied Avila. "This is not Juan. I am Santiago Avila."

These words were hardly out of his mouth before the stranger opened fire, firing six shots, all but one going wild. The last bullet pierced Avila's body, causing instant death.

Mrs. Avila fainted at the first shot, falling unconscious into her husband's arms. She narrowly escaped death. Pedestrians found Mrs. Avila unconscious with her husband's arms about her in a death clasp.
