

PLEASED CONVICTS HASTE TO PUT UP WINTER QUARTERS

Should One Take Flight, the 26 Others Would Bring Him Back, Declares Honor Man; Cooking and Camp Success.

(Special to The Journal.)
Medford, Or., Nov. 2.—Should of honor men, hear of me and words of evil are heard in the air at Camp No. 1, a beautiful, wooded spot in the midst of the forest, a group of 27 "honor men" are building a winter's home, while they will eat and sleep while working on the Center Lake highway. The honor men are a cheerful and more hopeful bunch of men, all of them delighted at the prospect of out-of-door work and all intent upon justifying the trust placed in them by Oregon's rehabilitation governor. Here, surrounded, watched only by a giant tree that surrounds them, these prisoners are working out the success or failure of the plan of treating prisoners as human beings instead of beasts.
"What would happen," one of the honor men was asked, "if one of the 27 broke faith and ran away?"
"He would find 26 men hounding after him and wouldn't get out of the hospital for a long time when caught."
The prevailing feeling among the men are grateful loyalty to the governor, an eagerness for work and pleasure at the beautiful surroundings.
The honor men arrived fast and weary late Tuesday evening, most of them having walked all the way from Medford. Wednesday the work of building the camp began in earnest. There are four bunk houses, consisting of board floors and sidewalks, the tent roof, a board cook house, a board and tent dining house, and a commode and lounge house for rainy days. Road work began today.
Charlie Gay has charge of the commissary and John Greive of the road work. Wednesday the camp was visited by County Judge Bell, County Attorney Harmon, and Warden Curtis of the penitentiary, accompanied by B. T. Van De Car, J. D. Bell and George Putnam. They ate dinner in the open with the "honor men" and are fully satisfied that Oregon's Camp No. 1 has some of the best cooks in the county.

GIRL STOPS RUNAWAY; SAVES LIFE OF YOUTH

(Special to The Journal.)
Aberdeen, Wash., Nov. 2.—Miss Claire Ayres, a high school girl, distinguished herself by her bravery yesterday in stopping a runaway team as it was dashing down Simpson avenue. By her action, Jerry Armsdale, aged 17 years, son of a rancher on the Hoquiam river, who had lost control of his team, was saved from almost certain death. He is now in the hospital suffering from bruises on his chest and a cut on his leg. He had been thrown from the wagon and became entangled in the reins. Miss Ayres at first started to run when she saw the runaway team, but as soon as she discovered the movement of the driver she caught the nearest horse by its bridle, and hung on until she stopped the team and then telephoned for an ambulance to take the injured lad to the hospital.

Gertrude Stanley.
Appearing at the Empress this week George A. Beane and company, in a merry farce "The Show Girl." Mr. Beane will be remembered as the funny sultan in Henry Savages' production of the "Dollars of Sin," and this is his initial vaudeville appearance. The playlet gives him an opportunity of portraying a character of "The aged farmer" who has advertised for a wife, and which permits of an end of bright comedy. The action is swift, the dialogue clever, with just a touch of pathos and a splendid moral is brought out. Miss Beane is ably supported by Gertrude Stanley, an accomplished young woman with a charming personality.

Peeling the Face

From Modern Housekeeping.
Women are beginning to realize how dangerous and how unnecessary is the painful and expensive surgical operation known as "face-peeling." Many clever society women noted for their exquisite beauty, accomplish the desired result themselves at home, with perfect safety and no pain, expense or detention indoors. They simply use ordinary mercurized wax, which can be obtained at almost any drug store. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning. The mercurized wax slowly absorbs the half dead outer skin, causing it to flake off day by day in fine, almost imperceptible particles like flour. The fresh, vigorous young skin underneath soon shows forth, blooming radiantly with health and beauty. The face begins to look years younger, though the use of the process absolutely defies detection by the closest observer. Naturally this process also removes all such minor facial blemishes as freckles, tan, moth patches, liver spots, fine wrinkles, pimples, etc.
