

DORRIS B. WELLS THE FIVE MIREMAN

Court's Upholding of Challenge Against Civil War Veteran Starts Row Between Judge and Counsel for Defense.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 7.—(To the Editor of the Journal.)—Being the owner of some lots in a suburb of the city that is about the shape of a teardrop of more or less, and in an unimproved state, and a building thereon, I would be grateful for your assistance in the matter.

My case is somewhat unusual, in that I have the privilege of building on the lots, and the improvements I was made thereon are of the best. The value of the lots is $154.11, and the improvements thereon are $154.11. I was a big man, but today I am a little man. I was a big man, but today I am a little man.

Monthly Only Question.

In his decision Judge Bordwell positively declared that a man's belief in socialism or in the fact that both capital and labor are vitally interested in the success of the present trial does not necessarily disqualify him from jury service in this case.

Decision Is Reversed.

When the evidence had been completed Judge Bordwell reserved decision and when it was announced at 2:15 p. m. that the decision of the court was reversed.

Rich Soil, Fine Climate, Beautiful Scenery. An Ideal Country to Make Your Home In

READ WHAT ONE OF OUR MANY BUYERS SAYS

MEDFORD, Or., Nov. 4th, 1911. Southern Land Co., Portland, Or.

Gentlemen: After looking over your Rogue River Valley 10 Acre Orchard Tracts, I thought so well of them that I purchased three tracts, and am now making my home there. The soil is deep black and rich and the climate is perfect. I have picked fruit from the old uncared-for family orchard, located on the Rogue River Valley Orchard Tracts, equal in size and flavor to the best in the valley, and by request I placed some on exhibition at the headquarters of the Medford Commercial Club.

I can safely recommend this land as a splendid investment, and the terms you are selling it on gives everybody a chance to buy. Yours truly,

J. G. MELIUS.

Yesterday, in spite of the unfavorable weather, we sold more pianos than during any day since we moved into our fine new building.

But no wonder! At the prices we are giving away pianos, people are justified making a special 500 mile journey to participate in the present opportunity. There are only 19 of the P. G. M. Co. pianos left. All will be taken by Thursday, if not sooner. If you want one act quickly. Bring all the money or bring $5 for a first payment, it is all the same to us. We must have the pianos out of the way at once, hence the strenuous price cutting. And while we are closing out these bankrupt pianos we have decided to dispose of all the accumulated pianos in our Piano Exchange at the same time.

Many people nowadays have obligations to meet in many directions. In many homes the insistent demands of the wife who, once played, or the growing children who should be taking lessons are simply ignored from day to day because of the relatively high prices of good pianos and the difficulty of meeting the comparatively large payments. No home wants a cheap piano and since, even now, under the Eilers Music House many-salvage system, really fine pianos cannot be had without some effort, we say, in all earnestness to all that are so situated, investigate at once the sale of this bankrupt stock. You'll own a good piano if you do.

We had to take the pianos, as we have stated; in order to get the stock of music and musical merchandises. We have plenty of pianos of our own to sell. These bankrupt stock instruments are simply in the way. We want to get rid of them at once. We got them cheap, and according to our well known policy, we pass our good fortune along to our friends.

No one has ever seen pianos new ones, or slightly shopworn ones, sold at such regular auction, knock-down prices heretofore.

If you want one of these pianos for an even $100, come and get one right away, because the supply is rapidly diminishing.

Many have come in, however, to purchase these $100 and $150 styles, and when they found what was to be had for $200, instead of paying cash, they paid the additional premium and bought one of the $200 styles on time payments.

The result is that there are but very few of the $200 instruments left, but we have a very excellent selection of those to be closed out at $150.

It is not necessary to bring all the cash, as stated heretofore, we now arrange to let any family in this city and state have any one of these pianos on payments of $4.35 or $5 a month. Write or telephone us if you live out of town.

People who call and investigate find the exchange privileges that we grant with the sale of one of these pianos very attractive. At any time within two years Eilers Music House obligates itself to accept any of these bankrupt pianos at the full amount now paid for it toward payment of any of the fine high grade pianos that a purchaser may wish to buy later on.

This positively insures against dissatisfaction in every way. If the piano you now receive, after you have tried it for a month, or a year, or two years, does not prove exactly to your liking, we take it back and allow you all you have paid for it toward payment of one of the instruments in the regular Eilers Music House line.

Nothing could be more generous nor more helpful, particularly to the many families situated as indicated at the outset of this article.

There are left for sale today and tomorrow three very high grades—numerous medium grades and a number of cheap ones.

There are brand new pianos and some slightly used pianos, and quite a number that have been out on rent a very short time.

Pick out your piano right away. We propose to make the quickest possible kind of work of this sale, hence this preposterous sacrifice.

They're upright pianos, all of them, undamaged, they're good ones and go for exactly the prices put upon them, namely: $100, $150, $200.

We arrange payments at $4 and $5 or $6 a month if desired.

There are also four elegant player pianos, all to go for $425; also three used baby brands.

Payment may be made as best suits each buyer's convenience.

Our guarantee goes with each instrument sold, and we agree to accept at any time at these sale prices these instruments in part payment for any new Chickering or Kimball or other highest grade piano, or for a baby grand, or a player piano that we regularly sell.

Remember, this is the one great piano buying opportunity of years; come right away; telephone or write Eilers Music House; now at the corner of Seventh and Alder streets, the Nation's largest dealers in Pianos and Talking Machines.
