TILLAMOOK WILL AGAIN VOTE ON DEBT LIMIT. (Special to The Journal.) Tillamook, Or., Nov. 11.—An ordinance which will aid in securing a sewerage system in this city was passed by the city council and will be submitted to the voters on December 4. The ordinance amends the city charter to increase the limit of indebtedness from $40,000 to $150,000. If the ordinance is favorably acted upon, a scheme for the building of sewers will be submitted. Until the bond limit is increased, sewers cannot be considered, as the municipal water supply, which was constructed several years ago made the issuance of bonds necessary almost to the limit now fixed. A similar ordinance was defeated at an election held several months ago...

WOMEN VOTERS RUSH IN AT LAST MINUTE. (United Press Leased Wire.) Los Angeles, Nov. 11.—Putting to rout all liberal estimates made yesterday of the number of registrations obtained up to the hour the books closed, County Clerk Leland today announced that not less than 290,000 persons, men and women, had qualified to vote at the next general election on December 5. Of this number, 23,897 are women. Just before the registration books closed more than 15,000 affidavits were poured into the office of the county clerk. The last two-thirds of the affidavits were of women voters and the county clerk falls to understand just when this flood of eleventh hour registrations came from. Just now many registrations of the grand total of 290,000 will have to be thrown out because of duplications and errors cannot be accurately estimated, but it was predicted that some 290,000 would probably be found to be valid.
