ELEVATING A HUSBAND

By Dorothy Dix. SCHOOLMARM who knows more than she does about men because she has been engaged to marry a youth who was sitting on a throne...

The main thing for wives to remember in this connection is that an affectionate ever survives constant criticism.

What men have suffered from superior wives would make a second book of martyrs, and certainly any one who gets an inkling before marriage that he is likely to be the subject of his spouse's reform shows only common sense...
