

NEW OREGON PRISON REFORM INAUGURATED; CONVICTS TO BE EDUCATED DURING TERMS

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., Nov. 16.—Steps were taken yesterday afternoon to organize a school of extensive scope and practical courses for the convicts at the state penitentiary. The school will open about December 1 and after that recommendations for parole will probably depend largely upon the efficiency of the convict in his work in some of these courses. All courses are practical and generally lead to a trade, so when the convict educates himself out of prison he will have educated himself into a useful and profitable trade.

At the present time the following courses have been decided upon: American literature, practical arithmetic, spelling, United States history, geography, physical geography, English literature, grammar, bookkeeping, writing, reading, physics, Shakespeare, hygiene, agriculture, poultry, civics, mechanical drawing, bookbinding, cookery, music, laundry and gas engines. Volunteers to teach these branches will be called for and some responses have already been made. An instructor in cookery is especially desired at once. The two penitentiary chaplains, Rev. Father Moore of the local Catholic church, and Rev. Philip Bauer, will act as superintendents and do a great deal of the teaching. L. R. Alderman, state superintendent of public instruction, will assist in directing the school and deliver occasional lectures. Superintendent James of the penitentiary has begun the drainage of some swampy land nearby, where agriculture may be taught the convicts. Governor West, who has had this plan in mind for several months, has been waiting for the busy season to close before having it launched. Penitentiary officials here are a unit in working with enthusiasm for the new line of prison reform.

OREGON HOTEL MEN CONVENE HERE DEC. 5

For the first time in the history of hoteldom Oregon bonifaces will get together when they meet in this city December 5-6 for their first annual convention. The meetings of the convention will be held in the convention hall of the Portland Commercial club and in addition to the regular routine business, many interesting lectures and features have been planned. The first morning will be taken up with welcoming speeches and responses and with the organization of the convention. In the afternoon a number of pertinent addresses will be given. Wednesday morning will be devoted to committee reports and balloting on applications for membership. A short meeting will convene in the afternoon at which members will give brief discussions of important trade topics. The place for the next meeting will also be selected at this session. After adjournment the delegates will enjoy an automobile trip over the city. A banquet at the Hotel Imperial will close the convention in the evening. At present there are about 50 members in the Oregon State Hotel association, including every first class hotel in the city, but great hopes are held that this convention will greatly enlarge the numbers and influence of the association. The object of the association is to make a united bid for increased travel. This is especially so with regard to tourist travel and the hotel men hope to divert some of this class of tourists from California and northern points to Oregon. Among the topics which will be discussed will be the adoption of uniform rates for sample rooms, accommodations and service of a uniform class, the appointment of a committee to protect the hotel interests during the sessions of the legislature and other matters of importance. Murder Hearing Resumes Friday. (Special to The Journal.) Astoria, Or., Nov. 16.—Several subpoenas have been issued today by Deputy District Attorney Brownell for persons whose testimony is desired tomorrow morning when the hearing of John Erickson for the alleged murder of Ole Johnson will be resumed. It has developed that Erickson was with the slain man the last time he was seen alive and that the two of them made a trip to Alderbrook, where Johnson had been living, and where his personal belongings were. The police are endeavoring to ascertain where the effects are, for there was nothing belonging to Johnson in the room over the economic saloon, where he had been stopping, at Alderbrook, and the theory is that he met his death on the way back from the upper part of the city. A New Development. The "Greater Royal Bakery Lunch" in the new Royal building (old Tull & Gibbs building), will be opened soon. Watch for big announcement in a few days. $260—Autopiano—$260 In our bargain and exchange we have many player piano bargains. Autopiano, $360; another, $5 note autopiano, $345, free music rolls. Kohler & Chase, 375 Washington st.
