

CCINI'S grand opera, "The Girl of the Golden West." is to be pre-sented in Portland in English this The engagement will include three evening performances and a matinee, beginning Monday. January 22. It will be Portland's greatest musical treat of the season, and will be furnished by the Savage Grand Opera company.

The announcement that no doubt will be received with intense enthusiasm was made yesterday by W. H. Wright, general representative for Henry W. Savage, the New York producer, who is here making the preliminary arrangements. The opera will be produced at the Hellig. The company carries five casts of principals, all of them of about equal merit, and four of these will have opportunity to appear in this city. The fact that Portland will have four performances is strongly indicative of the impresarios realizing that Portland is rapidly developing as a city interested in good musical attractions.

The organization consists of a whole trainload of singers and musicians, the orchestra numbering 50 pieces, under the direction of Giorgio Polacco, of Venice and Milan, who is said to be a close personal friend of Puccini. Polacco is credited with having discovered Tetrazzini wifen she was singing in an obscure opera company. He has two

"The company left New York Octobe 27," said Mr. Wright, "on a continental trip of more than 10,000 miles. The most of the big cities will get but one performance. We carry carloads of scenery, electrical effects and paraphernalla necessary for the proper production of an opera on such grand scale.

the principals are Americans, English, French, Italians, Scandinavians and Germans, but all sing in English. These singers were col-lected by Mr. Savage and his agents after critically inspecting the performances in the leading opera houses of continental Europe.

"Mr. Savage, as is well known to music-lovers, has been absent from the ranks of the producers of grand opera for several seasons. Himself the pioneer in the field of grand opera representations in English, of which the publie retain such delightful memories, as witness his production of 'Parsifal,' 'Madam Butterfly' and 'Die Walkeure,' he felt that after the sensational suctess of 'The Girl of the Golden West' in New York last winter that it would be even a greater triumph if rendered in English tongue. The story, the characters, the atmosphere, is American, and to truly interpret the wonderful score and preserve its dramatic values the English text must be used.

chorus—a chorus which can sing—selected with great care from musical colleges and conservatories in all parts of America. The gold miners are repso faithfully portrayed."

the new Church of the Madeline, Irvington. The choir having been orhearsals had been held. The solos in the mass, Marzo's Fifth, were sung by Barett, Arthur Harbaugh, tenors, and evening tory, and Miss Evelyn Calbreath sang address the "Elen Spiritum" in the "Creado." At ered by Mr. Harbaugh sang an "O Salutaris" and the various numbers on the program, so line Soper, Vivien Julien, Nettle Rodg-Miss Lawler sang Luzzi's "Ave Maria." that they should be better understood. ers, Theodore, Otto and Louie Hauser, Miss Lawler sang Luzzi's "Ave Maria." Miss Ruth McGuiness presided at the organ and Miss Calbreath directed the large chorus.

Mrs. J. Curtys Simmons, soprano, will sing Campion's "The Ninety and Nine" at the offertory this evening at the fine opportunities. Sunnyside Methodist Episcopal church, East Thirty-fifth and Yambill streets.

Jasper Dean MacFall, musical director at the Sunnyside Methodist Episcopal church, will present next Sunday evening the sacred cantata, "The Prince of Peace." There will also be given a preliminary program preceding the cantata when the vested choir of fifty children will participate, assisting the adult the Enna Juniors Thursday evening at is growing every year. their home on Lucretia street. Dr. Enna gave a recital after which followed dancing and light refreshments. About forty young people took part in the evening's pleasure. The Enna Amateurs will give a recital January 17.

At the Holy Rosary church devotional 100 times before spring. music added much to the joyful plety of all. At the 8, 8:30 and 9 o'clock masses, Miss Elizabeth Hoben presided at the organ, with violin accompanying. her brother, Jack Peak Hoben, of Lewiston, Idaho.

Philip Pelz and his concert orchestra appearing next Sunday afternoon, Jan-uary 7, at the Hellig theotre will pre-

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC

Methods: Leschetizky, German and Virgil. ondon, Eng., and Berlin, Germany. Marie A. S. Soule, Mus. Bac. PIANO AND HARMONY 252 Thirtsenth Street. Fall Term Opened Sept. 1st. Both phones. Marshall 520. A-7292.

CHRISTINE BRAKEL VIQUINIST

TEACHER OF VIOLIN PLAYING 204-212 Tilford Bldg. and Morrison. Phone Main 36

SEIBERLING - LUCAS CONSDEVA-TORY OF MUSIC.

ALL INSTRUMENTS TAUGHT.

Band and Orchestra rehearsals a specialty. Mandolin clubs, etc.

None but competent instructors in charge. For terms, etc., phope-Main 1855 or call at our store 124 Second St., corner Alder.

Secretary Control of the Control of Scene from Puccini's Grand Opera, "The Girl of the Golden West," which is to be produced at the Heilig by the Savage Grand Opera company.

"At Parting," by Rodgers, the latter

For Ermann Wolf Ferrari's 'Le Donne

Farrar, Rita Fornia, Herman Jadlowker,

tan, the singers will be: Herman Weil?

Herman Jadlowker, Otto Goritz, Johanna

Gadski, Bella Alten and Marie Matt-

The Wednesday Afternoon Women's club, under the direction of J. William

Belcher, held its regular meeting last week. Mrs. J. Langguth-Link, dra-

Corl Hawkins, Albert Mason, Leon Bis-

choff and Paul Bradford. Mrs. Palmer

will present Katherine Freeman in re-tune being estimated at $2,500,000.

Mrs. Susie F. Pipes, of this city, who ment as a violinist. Mrs. Pipes was one of the soloists at the recent concert given by John Hutchison at the White Temple.

cital in January.

"May Day Morn," by Slater.

Mussher was the accompanist.

sang "Dixie."

sent Olga Steeb as soloist in the Grieg ist Thursday afternoon at the eleventh minor piano concerto. This will be annual convention of the western divi-Miss Steeb's first performance of this sion of the Oregon State Teachers' assooncerto in America, although she has ciation at the Lincoln high school. Mrs. played it on various occasions in Eu-Bauer sang "To You," by Nutting; rope and it was always one of her most "Love's Rhapsody," by De Hardelot, and rope and it was always one of her most successful orchestral numbers. Especially at Berlin was she successful when number for an encore. Mrs. W. A. she played it with the Philharmonic orchestra at the Singakademie, the seventeenth of last March, on which occasion the critics commented on the originality of her reading and her remarkable tone work.

At the meeting of the Monti-Choral club, held during the week under the direction of John Claire Monteith, Miss Verna Smith, contralto, was soloist. Her numbers were: "The Gay Gitana" (Harrison), "Melisande in the Wood" (Goetz) and "Der Asra" (Rubenstein), and they were sung with ease and good musical Antonio Scotti, Adamo Didur, Antonio interpretation. Following the solo Pini Corsi, Andrea de Segurola, etc. In numbers the regular choral work was Leo Blech's one act opera, "Versiegelt," also an early novelty at the Metropoli-

The Christmas cantata entitled, "The Story of Bethlehem" (W. R. Spence), which was sung by the choir of the First Unitarian church last Sunday morning under the direction of John "Not the least attractive feature of Claire Monteith, was sung for the first this trainload of grand opera is the time in Portland. It is a pleasing composition of Christmas music resented by 60 big, broad-shouldered, given January 21, a program which Buck, and Mrs. K. Keller sang "Hark as place. further illustrates the great variety and the Twilight Pale," by Metcaif, and "The blended together lend a peculiar charm scope of orchestral music. The principal to the atmosphere of the golden state offering this time will be one that is dear to the heart of every music lover, Mozart's celebrated G minor symphony. Many favorable comments are heard Of more than 40 symphonies which he about the music rendered Christmas at wrote, three remain in the modern conthe solemn high mass at 10:30 a. m. at cert repertory—the E flat, C major and the G minor. The last named is probably the best known. It displays Mozart ganized but a very short time, few re- to his best advantage, and is music in all its purity.

Miss Nona Lawler, soprano, Mrs. Tuck-et and Miss Gleason, contraltos, Frank Barett, Arthur Harbaugh, tenors, and evening at which a number of the fa-Vic Cullan, basso. Mrs. John Daly sang mous composer's works were interpreted. Zet Inomas, Laverta Bona, and Leona tory, and Miss Evelyn Calbreath sang address on the life of Liszt was delivory, and Miss Evelyn Calbreath sang address on the life of Liszt was delivory. Miss Mil- Freeman, Myrtle Hummel, Margaret Bathe benediction which followed the mass dred Churchill read a paper describing ker, Marle Knecht, Bertha Taylor, Lur-

Riccardo Martin, who is to create the leading tenor role in "Mona," the Parker-Hooker opera which won the Metropolitan Opera company's $10,000 prize, says that the character offers many Wilhelm Bachaus, the English pian-ist who sails from Europe shortly to Miss Delta Chambreau, Miss Hazel make his first tour of this country, will Koontz, Miss Helen Stribling, Miss Dorbe heard with many of the principal othy Lewis, Miss Cleo Nickerson, Miss symphony orchestras in addition to giv- Maurene Campbell and Miss Ellen Driing numerous plano recitals.

Before the current season is finished New York will have spent more than $5,000,000 for its opera and concert music. It is estimated that the country at large will expend considerably above Dr. and Mrs. Emil Enna entertained that amount, for musical entertainment

Paulo Gruppe, the Dutch cellist, just nome from the other side, has brought a rare instrument with him, the gift of a wealthy admirer in England. Though Gruppe is not yet of age, he will appear United States and Canadian cities

The glant Czech tenor, Leo Slezak, is preparing for his departure from Austria for New York, where he begins his season with a song recital early in Jan-Slezak is to sing several conerts before rejoining the Metropolitan Opera company, where he is one of the Charles W. Clark, the American bari-one, is busy with his recital and orchestral appearances in England and France, and will depart to commence his our of this country shortly after the New Year.

A Berlin publishing house offers a prize of $1200 for the best opera text submitted before April 1, 1912. The contest is international in scope. sical journals say that it is hoped to at last, and by this means, discover a really good opera librettist.

From Chicago comes the report that Ludwig Wullner, who recently appeared in vaudeville, has returned to the scene of his former triumphs, the concert stage, his most recent appearance being at the Studebaker theatre, presenting a program of wide range. It was particularly strong in Schubert, Schumann, Wolf and Brahms, together with Strauss and some examplars of the new and older schools. The mannerisms that hung about the gaunt and grizzled expressionist, who was the sensation wo seasons ago, have rather intensified than diminished. The voice has not increased in beauty. However, his interpretations still have a deep drift and wonderful power.

Make Most of Him, Says Club-Woman: Don't Worry Him, Because You Might Get a Worse One.

New York, Dec. 30 .- Make the most of your husband," epitomizes the address of Mrs. Mildred Manly Easton, that is ringing today in the ears of 300 or more club women who attended the meeting of Life as a Fine Art club, held at the Hotel Astor.

Mrs. Easton is the founder of the club which has for its aim human happiness and she summed up her remarks on marital happiness with a happy injunction that "to be happy is to make the best of what you already have." Among other things, Mrs. Easton said:

"If you are dissatisfied with your husband, don't plan how to get rid of him. Make the most of him. "If your husband drinks, endeavor

"Don't be changing husbands, You might get one much worse than the one you have now. "If you feel your husband has his limitations," she continued, "remember also that he has latent possibilities which it is your duty to develop until you bring him up to your standard of ideals. But to be helpful to him don't be aggressive. If your husband has his faults it is your duty to correct them, not cast him aside for another who may have greater faults." Decries Extravagance. Easton warned the women against their growing extravagance. ing fine rugs and bric-a-brac to enhance your personality. Polish up your personality by right thinking, so your friends will see only you and not your furniture. "The reason for many old maids and bachelors is the lack of love thoughts they should send forth. When you criticise men you build up a stone wall. Most women who marry, marry the man they want because they send forth the kind of love thoughts that are recip-rocated. Remember, we are never too old to transform ourselves.

Mrs. Delphine Marx, contralto, was one of the sololsts at the spectacular production, "America," at the Heilig "Cultivate an attractive personality if you want to be happy. Not the kind Thursday evening for the benefit of the of personality that tries to get all they Child Welfare movement. Mrs. Marx can out of everybody they meet, but the kind that will attract friends, love and wealth. No one is born with a personality. It simply arrives through Curlose," soon to have its premiere at development of thinking, whether bad the Metropolitan, Signor Gatti-Casazza or good. has chosen these principals: Geraldine

In the belief of Mrs. Easton the spinster is getting ahead of her married sister in the ambition to reach the goal of happiness.

In speaking of this, she says: don't mean that husbands are behaving werse or that the life of the wife is more undesirable, but that the spinster is making her life more carefree and hap-pier every day. It is due to her right thinking that she has found the great secret of happiness in making a fine art of life."

New Type of Spinster. Mrs. Easton declares that the cranky "I remember," says Emerson, to have vinegary type of old maid of 50 years heard Mr. Samuel Rogers in London The Portland Symphony orchestra is matic soprano, sang. "Good-bye," by vinegary type of old maid of 50 years heard Mr. Samuel Rogers in London preparing for the third concert to be Tosti, and "Fear Not, Ye, O Israel," by man 80 years "young" has taken her Duke of Wellington that a lady, having man 80 years "young" has taken her

> "There are no longer any old women," Mrs. Easton says. The soloists for the next meeting of years young has come to take her place. This new creation of which Ellen Terry the Monday Night Male Chorus, J. Wiland Sarah Bernhardt are shining exliam Belcher, director, will be Everett Knott, bass-baritone, and A. J. Campbell, life beautifully."

Saturday afternoon, December 23, Mrs. Dorothy K. Palmer entertained her music class with a musical program and Christmas tree. The following were Bertha Hauser, Margaret Boland, Lillian Hockstra, Ione Forte, Ha-

Madame de Thebes Calls 1912 shall not take off my boots. "Black Year" for All European Nations.

A program will be given at the next (By the International News Service.) meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club, Thebes issues an almanac which usually contains some disconcerting forecasts. Not less uneasy are her predictions for 1912, which she calls "the black year" pierced, however, by rays of light.

Mercury will be the dominant planet, but subjected to the planet of Mars. Military men will be most in the public Franz Lohar, composer of "The Merry Widow," is now a millionaire, his for eye; that is to say, there may be trouble. The chances of peace and war are about large dinner in the evening and next equal, but if a cataclysm occurs, not morning rode 18 miles to Triexada to Oregon Conservatory of Music. All only Europe, but other continents, and inspect the cavalry division. It was particularly Asia, will be upset. Trouthis marvelous union of resolution and branches taught by staff of teachers. . floods will occur, and we are told that if "men of good do not unite, the capi-tal will be a ruin."

Paris Will Stand Trials. In spite of these terrible happenings, the daily life of the city will not be interrupted. There will be the usual contingents of dramas and adventures. Though for the moment paralyzed, art and letters will furnish their contributions to glory. An actress, having changed her condition by marriage, will play an import-ant role from a political and social point of view. A second actress, who is applauded on the boulevards, will commit sulcide after having murdered some-

Foreign countries will not be immune from troubles. In Spain there will be before the siege of Rodrigo, when the a conspiracy and fusillading in the proximity of the allies to Marmont's streets, but the monarchy will be saved, army placed them in considerable danstreets, but the monarchy will be saved.

Germany in Danger. Mme, de Thebes' forecast regarding Germany may well inspire all good Ger-"There will neither be Hohenzollern nor Prussian domination,' she says. "That is what Germany will gain by her violence and barbarous policy. I have said, and I repeat it, that the days of the emperor are numbered, and that after him everything will be and that after him everything will be changed in Germany. I mean his days of reigning, not his days of living." As for England, she is menaced with a bad destiny. There are signs of death, wounding and fires. "And it is the same everywhere," she adds. "It is the Disk Records. Even if you did not get a Victrola for Christmas, you should soon learn that the Victor record is the best in the world. It wears longer. Sherman, has attracted much favorable com- Clay & Co., Sixth at Morrison.

> Select patronage with efficient service makes Oaks rink popular place. Coal $6.00 up. Edlefsen Fuel Co.

FIRST DUKE OF WELLINGTON CELEBRATED BRITISH SOLDIER AND STATESMAN.

was an odd circumstance which | but by the knitting of his brows was gave to Arthur Wellesley, the duke of Wellington, the nickname of "The Iron Duke." Like Prince Bismarck's "Blood and Iron" speech tured him his nickname through fitting his character, the duke of Wellington obtained his through an iron steamship which was named "The Duke of Wellington," but which came to be called for short "The Iron Duke." Finally the nickname for the vessel came also to be applied to the great English general, for it so well expressed the popular idea in the minds of his country men of the sternness of Wellington's character.

Wellington showed the iron element of his nature in almost everything in which he engaged, but his whole life is so closely associated with the English arms of his period, that it is practically as a soldier alone that he is admired, is referred to and reflected upon.

It was the wonderful generalship of Wellington which finally encompassed the defeat of the great Napoleon, after Don't run your husband into debt buy- the greatest soldiers of Europe had been matched against him. In the wonderful Peninsular campaigns seven of Napoleon's marshals were foiled or defeated by the "Iron Duke." The last of this great series of encounters was fought between Wellington and Soult at Tououse, April 10, 1814, and was won by the former

When Napoleon returned from Elba Wellington, on account of his previous remarkable success, was appointed to command the army of British, Hanovarians, and Belgians, gathered in the Netherlands to help annihilate the French emperor. The field of Waterloo was the final struggle.

At Waterloo Soult said of the English: "They will die on the ground upon which they stand before they will lose it." That Wellington said, at a critical moment of the battle, as asserted by "Up guard and at them," is not discredited; but Victor Hugo states in "Les Miserables" that at 5 o'clock Wellington drew out his watch and was heard to murmur, "Blucher or night," Upon one occasion when Wellington was asked by a lady to describe the battle of Waterloo, he modestly replied: 'We pummelled them, and they pummelled us, and I suppose we pummelled the hardest and won the day. In a dispatch in 1815 Wellington made use of the remark, which has become celebrated, "nothing except a battle lost can be half as melancholly as a battle

Duke of Wellington, that a lady, having er any old women," wish to witness a great victory, to which "The woman 80 Wellington replied, "Madame there is nothing so terrible as a great victory -except a great defeat."

In after years when Wellington was ambassador to Paris, Louis VIII apologized to him because the French marshals turned their backs upon their former antagonists and retired from the king's levee. 'Don't distress yourself, sire," replied Wellington, "it is not the first time they have turned their backs upon me."

Wellington never lost his iron nerve Upon one under any circumstances. occasion, during a storm at sea, he was told that it would soon be all over with them. It was bed time and he was getting ready to retire. To this he coldly remarked: "Very well, then I

The Iron Duke's great power of en-durance was most astonishing to his officers. A biographer relates an incident of his starting at seven o'clock one morning on horseback for the Castle Rodrigues, 28 miles distant, and upon his arrival he received General Cole's division and was back at his starting point again in time for dinner between four and five o'clock in the afternoon. A few days later, hearing of the damage to the pontoon train at Sabugal, off he galloped, 26 miles and back to satisfy his own eyes as to what was necessary. Two days later he rode to the front and inspected a light division under General Anson, gave a ble is promised at Brest, Toulon and at physical energy which rendered so fe-Paris, where conspiracies, epidemics and licitous and so imperishable the sobriquet applied to Wellington, "The Iron

His daily routine, though liable to be interrupted by the enemy's movements, remained the same throughout his campaigns. Arising each morning at six o'clock he used to write until nine, when he had breakfast. The forenoon he spent with the quartermasters and adjutant generals and other heads of departments, business which generally lasted until two or three in the afternoon. Then he would mount and afternoon. ride until six o'clock, return to dinner and write again from nine o'clock until midnight, which was his regular hour for going to bed,

As an example of the "Iron Duke's" coolness in danger it is told that just ger by reason of the non-arrival of their flank divisions, a Spanish general was astonished to find the English commander lying on the ground in front of his troops, serenely and imperturbably awaiting the issue of the peril.
"Well, general," said the Spaniard,

"you are here with two weak divi-sions, and you seem to be quite at your ease; it is enough to put one in a fever." "I have done the best," the duke replied, "that could be done according to my own judgment, and hence it is that I don't disturb myself, either about the enemy in my front, of about what they may say in England."

Like Ceasar, who is said to have written an essay on Latin rhetoric as he was crossing the Alpa, Wellington passed the night previous to one of his battles devising a scheme for a Portu-

The Duke of Wellington, in the Peninsular campaign, was sitting at breakfast with Picton and other officers just be-fore an engagement. Orderlies were riding up to the tent every few minutes with news of the steady approach of the enemy. The duke said and did nothing.

tical method of arousing farmers to the immediate profit of building up instead of depleting their farms was given new ently he turned to his companion and he know exactly how the enemy would advance, and what he should do to counteract them. The following incident is related of the great self control of the "Iron Duke." "I am Apollyon," said a crank who invaded the library of the duke: "I am sent to kill you." "Kill me? Very odd." "I am Apollyon, and must put you to death." "Obliged to do it today?" "I am not told the day or the hour, but I must do my mission."

"Very inconvenient," said the duke.

Duke" was not careless of the issue of

made his arrangements long before, and

"Very inconvenient," said the duke, busy,-great many letters to write. Call again and write me word,-I'll be ready for you."

The duke went on with his correspondence. The maniac was appalled and calmed by the matter-of-fact coelness of the stern, immovable old man, and backed out of the room.

When Arthur Wellesley completed his military career in 1815, with the title of duke, and a multitude of other marks years of age. The great character of ranch, the English generals stands untarnished So I by ambition, by avarice, or any low pas-sion. Though a man of powerful individuality, he yet displayed a great variety of endowment. The equal of Na-poleon in generalship, he was as prompt, great Wellington left behind him an en-during reputation, founded on tollsome campaigns won by skillful combination, by fortitude which nothing could ex-haust, by sublime daring, and perhaps by still sublimer patience.

MAKE POOR FARMS MODELS SUGGESTED

Chicago, Dec. 30 .- "Make the county poor farms the model farms of every county where the lessons of good seed, good fertilizing and good methods shall be taught," this is the slogan soon to be proclaimed by a committee seeking a practical plan of soil conservation and general agricultural education.

The need for some nation-wide, prac-impetus by the speech of James J. Hill at the opening of the great land show in Chicago recently. "If American resources are to be conserved the farmer must be educated on his own ground and in a practical way," said Mr. Hill. "Practically all of the so-called expert supposed to be in deep thought. Pres- or practical information on farming disseminated by our colleges today is too asked, "Was your egg well cooked, Pic. technical to be understood by the farmton? Mine was abominable." The "Iron er. It goes over his head. If the farm-er is to be made to understand the value the battle about to he fought, but had of the soil and how to replace its fertility, he will have to be met on his land and shown how to do it there. He doesn't pay any attention to present ounterest them.

The following incident is related of going ahead in the same way that farm-

AUTO SPEEDER SLEEPS: CAR MOVES PHONE POLE

Ventura, Dec. 30.—Falling asleep at the wheel while his machine was traveling at a high speed down the Ocean View road, Henry Maulhaudt, a wellto-do rancher had a narrow escape from death when his car went crashing into of the public gratitude, he was only 46 a telephone pole in front of the Olds

So hard did the machine hit the pole that the pole was moved 11 inches from its position and broken. Wires, also, wereb roken and all lights in the section extinguished.

The machine was demolished. Maulrigorous and daring as Clive, as wise hardt was fished out from beneath the a statesman as Cromwell; and as pure car by Charles Olds and his condition and high minded as Washington. The was decided not necessarily serious.

OLGA STEEB

WILL BE THE SOLOIST PLAYING THE

Grieg A Minor Piano Concerto

PHILIP PELZ

Concert Orchestra

2:30 SUNDAY AFTERNOON

JANUARY 7-12

POPULAR PRICES

Admission $1, 75c, 50c, 35c, 25c; Box Seats $1.50

PHILIP PELZ was musical conductor for the Czar at his palace, and has been decorated by the Czar, the Kaiser of Germany, the Sultan of Turkey and the Prince of Montenegro, from each of whom he has the warmest personal indorsement. Mr. Pelz was a highly favored pupil of Tschaikowsky.

OLGA STEEB will use The Chickering Piano. Chickering, Sohmer, Hazelton, Decker & Sons and 30 other strictly high-grade pianos are handled exclusively by Eilers Music House, Alder St. at 7th.