

JURY'S REPORT IS DUE IN TWO DAYS

Los Angeles Federal Grand Jury Expected to Spring Dynamite Sensations.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Los Angeles, Jan. 3.—That the present federal grand jury, which has been investigating the dynamite cases will conclude the investigation for the government and may take sensational action within the next two days, possibly in the shape of more true bills against labor leaders on the Pacific coast, was the statement made today by an official high in the councils of the United States authorities.

It was also positively stated that the members of the Jay Fox colony, near Tacoma, will not be summoned to Los Angeles. Their testimony, which was rumored to be of much importance, will not be needed by the investigators. It has been the general impression here that the grand jury inquiry would not be finished until these witnesses were summoned.

SAYS "BURGLARS" DID NOT BREAK IN LAWYER'S OFFICES

that the burglary of both offices was committed by persons working in the interest of Wilde. Furthermore, he says he suspects two men in particular, and several detectives are working from his office.

Cameron further asserts that no detectives were in his employ at the time of the burglary, denying statements of the attorneys for the defense. His theory is that Clark's office was entered first, and that upon failure to find what was wanted there, his own office was entered. The men who did the work evidently had an intimate knowledge of the books of the Oregon Trust & Savings bank, from which pages involved in the Wilde case were torn, and he added that memoranda for locating the

INDIGESTION KILLS SON OF NOVELIST

Alfred Tennyson Dickens.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 New York, Jan. 3.—A sudden attack of acute indigestion is the cause given today for the death of Alfred Tennyson Dickens, son of the celebrated novelist, whose body lies in the Hotel Astor, where he was stopping. Dickens was on a lecture tour of the United States. His home was in Melbourne, Australia, and the funeral arrangements are being delayed until word is received today from his children there. He was a widower.

interinformation until its accuracy could well be doubted.

3—Books of the Oregon Trust bank formerly were kept in the safe of John T. Richardson, expert accountant, and it is alleged they were only recently removed to the district attorney's office, where there was no safe to protect them.

4—Story of an effort by agents of Wilde to influence action of the August grand jury, in which it was given out that C. E. Sumner, one of the attorneys for the defense, tried to learn from the grand jury foreman where the evidence was being kept.

5—Another story, alleged to have emanated from the prosecution, concerning a man named Cody, said to have come from Seattle with a corps of private detectives to work for Wilde. The story, as well as the grand jury incident, denounced as false and alleged to be given circulation to prepare the public mind for the burglary.

6—No vital evidence was lost to the state, as shown by the immediate announcement that the trial of the defendant will be proceeded with on the date fixed.

7—The state has copies of all, or nearly all, the stolen documents. The defense likewise has copies, attested as correct by a deputy district attorney. Even without copies, contents of documents could be proved after showing inability to produce them.

8—The Burns' Detective agency alleged to have detailed secret operatives several days ago to assist the district attorney's office in "getting" Wilde. Dan J. Maloney, counsel to counsel for Wilde, today gave out the following statement supporting the theory that the burglaries were committed by persons interested in the prosecution:

"I cannot conceive that any intelligent person can, after a careful consideration of all of the facts and circumstances surrounding this alleged burglary of the offices of the district attorney and Attorney Clarke, conclude that the same was done or tampered to be done by Mr. Wilde or anyone in his behalf. Mr. Wilde and his attorneys are certainly entitled, at the hands of the public, to the presumption that they are possessed of ordinary common sense."

"Whoever pulled off this burglary stunt must have known it would have been discovered. In fact, he not only took no pains to cover up his work, but was exceedingly careful to leave manifest traces thereof. He must also have known that it would be reported to the newspapers as soon as discovered, and that Mr. Wilde would naturally be accused. It is not plain that, in view of the fact that Mr. Wilde's case is set for trial next Monday, nothing could be done by him or anyone in his behalf that would be more disastrous to his interests in that trial than to undertake, through the crime of burglary, to destroy or become possessed of any documentary evidence in possession of the prosecution?"

9—The motive of bringing the nature of the alleged stolen evidence must be eliminated in view of the fact that Judge Gatens some weeks ago ordered the prosecution to exhibit and permit the defendant to make copies of all documentary evidence proposed to be used against Mr. Wilde, and the further fact that under the prosecution, did on December 16, exhibit to the defendant's attorneys and permit them to make copies of the documentary evidence upon which it relies in this case. Under that order and that exhibition the prosecution could not introduce any other documentary evidence than what was so exhibited and copied by the defendant's attorneys.

"If the loss of any documentary evidence would deprive the prosecution of the benefit thereof, there might be some ground for claiming Mr. Wilde was responsible for these alleged burglaries, but, as is well known to the district attorney and to Mr. Clarke and to every other attorney, the loss of any documentary evidence would not prejudice the prosecution from introducing copies of what was lost. The only effect from this standpoint of the alleged stealing of this documentary evidence would be to permit the prosecution to introduce at the trial copies or other secondary evidence thereof, together with evidence of the stealing of the originals, which latter evidence would in itself be highly prejudicial to Mr. Wilde."

10—Mr. Wilde has been threatened with this prosecution for over two years and it is only fair to him to presume that if he would undertake such desperate methods as are now charged to him he would not have waited until the eve of his trial to resort thereto.

"Furthermore, we understand the physical evidence shows that neither the office of Mr. Clarke nor that of the district attorney could have been entered from the outside as must have been the case if the defense had anything to do with the alleged disappearance from these offices of the documents in question. Mr. Keon, proprietor of the Yeon building, can and will demonstrate to anyone that Mr. Clarke's office could not have been entered from the outside in the manner claimed by the prosecution."

"On the other hand, a frameup by someone interested in or in collusion with the prosecution that would have the effect of making it appear that Mr. Wilde was guilty of these acts is only in line with the tactics of inciting and prejudicing the public against him that have marked the prosecution of this case from its inception. What the next play of the prosecution will be we can only surmise. Probably some of the attorneys for the prosecution will be held up and robbed.

11—Why, we ask, was the beginning of this prosecution deferred so long? Why was the alleged tampering with the grand jury held in reserve by the district attorney until just before the trial and then played up in the newspapers so strong, when at the same time the grand jury which investigated the same found nothing upon which to base an indictment or even an unfavorable comment in its report? For the very same reason that this latest stunt is pulled off—that is, to prejudice the community against this persecuted man and prevent him from securing a fair and impartial trial at the hands of an unprejudiced jury.

12—Replying this afternoon to the statement of John E. Yeon, that the door of A. E. Clark's office in the Yeon building could not have been entered from the outside in the burglary reported yesterday morning, Mr. Clark said: "I made no personal inspection of the lock. Some of the boys in the office examined it, and they told me the tongue of the lock apparently was sprung back far enough to permit the door to open by pressure upon the knob and escutcheons after the screws had been removed from the escutcheon. That permitted considerable play to the lock, I will admit, so it could be forced back, the lock being all in one piece. Anyway, however it was done, someone broke in, and someone broke open my desk and took papers from it."

REGULATIONS OF OFFICIAL SEND BIG FIRM TO WALL

New York, Jan. 3.—Complaint against Treasurer Percy Vandenberg, of the Van Keuren & Thorion White Goods company, made to District Attorney Whelan, today, by members of the firm states that the treasurer is short $140,000 in his accounts. He is alleged to have speculated with the money. As a result, the firm's affairs are in the hands of a committee of creditors. It is reported that the accounts must be wound up at 50 cents on the dollar.

 From your druggist get two ounces of Glycerine and half an ounce of Concentrated Pine Compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake well. Be sure to get only the genuine (Globe) Concentrated Pine. Each half ounce bottle comes in a tin screw-top sealed case.
