

SCHUMANN-HEINK SAYS "NO OTHER"

"No Wedding Bells for Me," Declares Singer—"Not Even for Millionaire."

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Jan. 17.—"Even if you produced a millionaire willing to have me I would say, 'No more wedding bells for me.'" Madame Schumann-Heink stopped eating a meal that would have delighted an epicure to deny the report from New York that there is a "millionaire in the case." She also made a few additional denials concerning statements made by William Rapp, her young husband, whom she is suing for divorce. He said that he had practically made the diva's fortune as her manager, and had received nothing in return but the title of "Madame Schumann-Heink's husband."

Does Every Woman Long to Be Beautiful?

"(Eather" in Household Helps.)
"If you want light, fluffy and lustrous hair, don't shampoo with soap and water, which leaves the hair dull and brittle. To make a dry shampoo, put a couple of corn meal in a fruit jar, add the contents of a small original package of Hymol, and shake well. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush out thoroughly. This makes your hair clean, soft and silky and heightens its color."
"If you want a fine complexion, with soft and lovely skin, use a simple home made preparation made by dissolving an original package of mayonaise in a half pint of witch hazel. Apply to face, neck and arms in the morning, rubbing gently.
To reduce swelling, allay inflammation, to stop ache in back or joints, to relieve pain from sprain, bruise or any cause apply Mother's Salve before retiring, rubbing in well. It is a most wonderful healer."

place I will prove it, and tell just how much he received," she said between sobs. "He never was my manager. He was my husband and secretary. My manager is connected with a New York musical organization."
"As for the other man in the case—there is none. If there is I never heard of him. Here I am, all alone, out here, eating my supper. Do you see any millionaire's about?"

TALESMAN AVERS HE WAS QUERIED AS TO WILDE CASE

of the Burns agency and Constable was formerly employed by that agency. Sattler said he did not know any of them. Not to be outdone in suggesting the idea of detectives on the opposing side, Mr. Clark came back by asking Sattler if he knew Al Cody, Billy Mitchell, Louis G. Carpenter and J. S. Morrison, who are said by the state to be detectives employed by Wilde. Sattler was likewise unacquainted with this list.
"If you see the man that came to you around the courthouse any day will you point him out to an officer," asked Clark.
"Why should I?" asked Sattler in turn.
Clark said he would suggest that Sattler do so, in order that the man may be identified, but Sattler made no promise, and a moment later Clark passed the talesman for cause.

The net result of the morning's work in examining a jury for Wilde's trial on the charge of embezzlement from the Oregon Trust & Savings bank was the addition of Sattler to the list of men passed for cause by both sides, making seven in all thus passed. This maintains an average of two men passed each day, at which rate the box will not be filled with 12 qualified men before Friday afternoon.
Sharp protest was made by Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald to remarks made by Malarkey in questioning Sattler when Malarkey was explaining the way in which Morris is involved in the case. Sattler remarked:
"They had to bring Morris in to get a smack at Mr. Wilde—is that the idea?"
"That's the idea exactly," said Malarkey. "They had to bring Morris in to get a smack at Wilde four or five years after the time the offense is charged."
Fitzgerald said that if the state were allowed to take exceptions he would be able to reverse the case 50 times because of improper remarks by attorneys for the defense. Malarkey defended himself vigorously, but the incident was then allowed to subside.

As to Morris, Sattler said so far as Morris' testimony is concerned, it would not weigh much with him. At the same time, answering a counter question by A. E. Clark, special prosecutor, Sattler said he realized it sometimes becomes necessary to use one rascal to catch another. He said that while he had no objection to a large commission on the sale of bonds to the bank, he would regard the matter in another light if it were shown that Wilde and Morris secretly schemed to cover an embezzlement by falsifying the value of the bonds.

Sattler's examination brought out two new names that Mr. Clark was curious about, those of C. N. McArthur and W. H. Abel. Both are lawyers having offices on the same floor of the Yeon building as Jay Bowerman and C. E. Sumner, attorneys for the defense. Sattler said he did not know either of them.
Herman Sauer was excused after brief examination by Malarkey for the defense. It developed that he holds only his first citizenship papers, and these he obtained only two weeks ago. He was challenged by the defense on this ground and excused. He is a native of Germany, lives in South Portland and is an employee of the Portland Lumber company.

Unfamiliar With Language.
Because of his unfamiliarity with the English language, Fred Gaebler, a native of Germany, was challenged for cause by the defense and the challenge was allowed, although resisted by the state. Gaebler is a laborer living in Woodstock. He speaks German at home and said he could understand only part of the questions asked him.
M. Tannier of 1024 Mallory avenue, a dairyman and farmer, was under examination when the court recessed at noon. He was making good progress in answering questions satisfactorily, but he has only his first citizenship papers and his elimination by the state on this ground should be passed by the defense as regarded as a certainty. This will make seven men passed for cause out of 18 examined.
F. E. Jackson and L. A. La Jole were called to the box and sworn, taking the places vacated this morning by Gaebler and Sauer. They will be examined later, as will J. A. McArthur and W. G. Eaton, who were added to the list yesterday afternoon.
Barney Haffey qualified himself for cause yesterday afternoon in spite of a vigorous fight against him by the state. E. Clark, special prosecutor, challenged Haffey on two grounds and provoked the most animated contest over a juror that has yet taken place.

Haffey is proprietor of a saloon and rooming house in North Portland. At first, in answer to Clark's questions, he said he had never been prosecuted on any charge by the district attorney. Clark then forced him to admit he had been convicted in three state cases for selling liquor on Sunday, once in 1908, again in 1909 and a third time the following year. He said the fact he had been convicted three times would not prejudice him against the prosecution or cause him to lean in favor of a defendant.
Clark challenged Haffey on the ground of bias and also on the ground of conviction of an offense involving moral turpitude.

Passed for Cause.
Judge Kavanaugh said no actual bias had been shown, and that the offense does not involve moral turpitude, denying the challenge on both grounds. Clark then passed Haffey for cause and the state will be compelled to use one of its three peremptory challenges to get him out of the box.
Le Roy Hadley, who lives on Council Crest and is an employee of the Omnibus & Baggage Transfer company, was excused on a challenge for cause by the defense after Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald had tried in vain to qualify him. He said he had heard the case discussed frequently and always

THINK OF IT
Stop and think a moment about that cough that bothers you so much. You must have been run down when you got it, for if you had been perfectly strong your system would have thrown it off in two or three days.
Take our advice about this—what you really need is to build up your strength and enrich your blood; then the cough will disappear. We know it.
Carl Schultz of Coney Island, N. Y., says: "It only took two bottles of your reliable cod liver and iron preparation, Vinol, to put me on my feet again when I was all run down with a severe cough and cold which had lasted two months. I am recommending it to all my friends."
Vinol is the greatest strength creator and body builder we have ever seen, and besides its value in healing up weak sore lungs, it gives new strength and vitality to all weak, pale, run-down people. We guarantee Vinol to do this and give back your money if you are not satisfied. Woodward, Clarke & Co., Drug-gists, Portland, Oregon.

had the idea there had been collusion between Wilde and Morris in the affairs of the Oregon Trust. He doubted his ability to lay aside the impression he had gained unfavorable to Wilde and said he did not believe he would be a fair and impartial juror.
Rich, Foot Equal.
Louis Heartlein qualified as the sixth man shortly before court adjourned yesterday afternoon. He resides at 869 Mallory avenue, is an iron molder, is married and formerly was a member of the molders' union. After lengthy explanations of many legal questions which Heartlein at first seemed not to understand, he answered all questions to the satisfaction of both sides.
During the testing of Heartlein a brush took place between Fitzgerald and Malarkey, resulting in a rebuke to the prosecutor by the court. Fitzgerald had asked the juror as to any partially for a rich man and added:
"You realize, do you not, that a poor man is entitled to the same treatment as a rich man before the law and if anything you should be inclined to favor the poor man?"
Malarkey objected to this as improper and Judge Kavanaugh agreed with him.
"You will disregard that remark," said the court, addressing the jury. "Rich and poor are equal before the law."

PASCO STREET LIGHTING HELD UP BY COURT
(Special to The Journal.)
Pasco, Wash., Jan. 17.—The injunction filed against the city officials of Pasco last week by R. L. Ross restraining further expenditure of municipal funds for the reason that the 1912 expense estimate is already overdrawn, was thrown out of the superior court. However, another order was issued yesterday to J. E. Steffens and others which forbids the city from closing the contract for street lighting posts with the power company.
The gloves were received for the posts yesterday, but as the contract has not been signed by the city officers the lights have been turned off since Thursday.

Child Drinks Acid.
(Special to The Journal.)
Pasco, Wash., Jan. 17.—Edwin Jones, 3-year-old son of E. J. Jones, editor of the Pasco Express, drank a quantity of carbolic acid yesterday. The acid had been left in reach of the child in the confusion incidental to moving. Physicians worked with the child two hours and report that he will recover.

PRINCE BEGINS SERVING SENTENCE OF 20 YEARS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Yvonne, Jan. 17.—Prince David Dadiano, a prominent member of the family from which the czars of Russia originally sprang, to day started serving his sentence of 20 years imprisonment at hard labor for instigating the murder of Prince Dadeschkelevi, with whose beautiful wife he was in love.
Prince Dadiano, a lieutenant of the guards and popular in society, lived part of each year in St. Petersburg, where he was often seen at court, but spent the summer months in his native wilds in Caucasus. Prince and Princess Dadeschkelevi lived on a neighboring estate. While on a visit with her husband to Kutais the princess met Dadiano. Her husband later was compelled to return home but the princess invented a pretext to remain. Gossip reached his ears that his wife was constantly with Dadiano. He returned to Kutais and told Dadiano that his visits to his wife must cease.
A short time later Prince Dadeschkelevi was waylaid by two ruffians in broad daylight and killed. At the trial it was proved that each of the assassins received $250 from Prince Dadiano. One of the assassins was sentenced to twelve years and the other to ten years imprisonment.

MAIL-CLERK SMALLPOX VICTIM; PACKET HELD UP
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 17.—All the mail in the Canadian capital is tied up following the quarantining of the postoffice when two sorters were found to be suffering from smallpox. Letters will be fumigated and about 100 postoffice clerks will be vaccinated.
New Councilmen at Astoria.
(Special to The Journal.)
Astoria, Jan. 17.—J. J. Robinson and George Kaboth were Monday night elected by the city council to fill the unexpired terms of former Councilmen Kearney, now chief of police, and Chris Schmidt, resigned. The committee on streets and public ways, composed of L. O. Bolland, C. J. Curtis and Karl Knobloch will go to Portland this week to investigate hard surface paving.

SUPERVISOR WILL TEST AIRSHIP FOR FOREST FIRE PATROL SCOUTING

Los Angeles, Jan. 17.—Forest Supervisor E. H. Charlton is preparing today to make an extensive test of aeroplanes for forest fire patrol. During the next week Aviator H. W. Gill will, under the direction of Charlton, conduct a series of experiments in the San Gabriel range. He will test the value of this service by the government.

Fine for Croup

Mothers Should Cut This Out and Never Be Unprepared.
In any home where a child has a tendency to croup a bottle of HYOMEI (pronounce it: High-o-mey) should be kept constantly on hand.
A sudden attack of croup with difficult breathing and extreme distress is apt to come on at any time.
The course to be pursued is plain. Send for your doctor at once, and in the meantime drop 30 drops of Hyomel into a bowl of boiling water and hold the child's head over it, cover with a towel or cloth, so that only the air filled with Hyomel vapor is breathed.
This method of treatment has saved many a child's life, and mothers of croupy children should see to it that HYOMEI is always on hand. Full instructions for prompt relief of croup is in each package.
A 50 cent bottle of HYOMEI is all you need for croup. It is sold by druggists everywhere.
HYOMEI is made of Australian Eucalyptus and other antiseptics. It contains no cocaine or other harmful drug. Money returned if it does not give satisfaction in treatment of catarrh, coughs, colds, croup and catarrhal deafness. Complete outfit, including inhaler, $1.00.
