

CITY MAY PAY FOR ARCHITECT'S PLANS

City Attorney Grant Holds That Appropriation Can Be Legally Made.

City Attorney Frank S. Grant gave a formal opinion today that the city may properly plan for its greater future and can spend money to this end. His opinion establishes the legality of the proposed $6000 appropriation ordinance which has passed its first and second readings before the city council and will likely come up for third reading at the next meeting.

Instead of a few public spirited citizens of Portland needing to take from their own pockets $21,000 to pay for the city plan evolved by Municipal Architect E. H. Bennett, Mr. Grant gives it as his opinion that the city might have employed Mr. Bennett in the first place and have met the entire expense, rather than by appropriating the comparatively small amount needed for printing the Bennett report and placing the plan for the "better building of the bigger city" in the hands of the citizens so that a general understanding of it might obtain.

Mr. Grant also says concerning the proposed appointing of a city plan commission of five that it should serve in an advisory capacity only. His opinion follows:

Mr. Grant's Opinion.

"The proposed ordinance, says Mr. Grant, further provides for the appointment of a commission of five citizens who shall have the authority to superintend the printing, publication and distribution of said plans, and the mayor and auditor are authorized and directed by the provisions of the ordinance to issue warrants upon requisitions of the chairman and secretary of such commission. The council, in my opinion, cannot delegate this authority to a commission. The printing must be done under the provisions of the charter, namely, by advertising for bids and awarding the contract therefor to the lowest responsible bidder. This work is done by the executive board upon the authority of the council. I see no legal objection to the appointment of a commission to act in an advisory capacity respecting the printing, publication and distribution of said plans, and I would suggest, if agreeable to the council, that the ordinance enclosed herewith be submitted in lieu of the ordinance now before the council."

SECOND STRANGE "VISIT" TO A WILDE JUROR REPORTED

carpenter, was being questioned when the noon recess came, and he gave evidence of also passing the test. If he does, the first peremptory challenge will be exercised early this afternoon.

Attorneys Have Clash.

Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald and Malarkey clashed this morning over the question of the possible reception of a plea of guilty by Morris as evidence. This has been a troublesome question from the first, and the result of half an hour's argument was to bring from Judge Kavanaugh an emphatic declaration that a plea by Morris cannot be considered by the jury as any evidence against Wilde.

"I had understood the attorneys were in accord on this question," said the court. "I certainly have understood the district attorney to say the plea could not be regarded as evidence."

"There is no question in my mind as to the law on the subject, and it may as well be understood now that the court will rule the plea is not evidence." The court's ruling came after Fitzgerald had declared that a ruling on the law at this stage of the case is premature, and after Malarkey had declared that it is essential in the examination of jurors for the defense to know whether the plea would go before the jury.

"If this is the way to try this case," said Fitzgerald, "we might as well dismiss the jury for a couple of days while the attorneys argue the law of the case. Then we could thresh it all out. This is not the time to settle these questions. We will ask the court to rule when evidence is offered. Some courts have held that a plea is evidence and some have said it is not."

Talesman Examined.

Malarkey, after reading authorities to support his contention, elicited the ruling of the court above given and being satisfied with it, proceeded with the examination of the next talesman.

"In the examination of La Jole it developed he had read another part of the advertisement inserted by Wilde in the newspapers, this being a commendatory letter by Mr. Jabour. Clark supplied a little humor by following this up and asking if the juror had read another part of the same advertisement in which Hugh Hume stated that "Portland suffered a great loss when Mr. Wilde left Portland." La Jole said he had not read that. C. D. Hamrell of 4394 Fort street, avenue southeast, under examination as to his qualifications at noon, is a man of family and has lived nine years in Portland. He is a contracting carpenter. He said he has no opinion and seems likely

HOSPITAL MAY HAVE TO QUIT FEEDING THE POOR

Unless St. Vincent's hospital can obtain an appropriation from the city it will discontinue serving free meals to the idle poor. Councilman Dunning yesterday asked the ways and means committee of the council to do something to reimburse the hospital, which has dispensed 16,000 meals within the past month.

Councilman Burgard believes there is a provision in the charter for the relief of paupers and that city funds can be used for this purpose. If the charter permits an appropriation will probably be recommended.

The committee recommended the passage of an ordinance providing that the city shall take the 5 per cent of the first payments made on all public improvement work. The city gets the money for engineering services, but heretofore has taken its share when the final payment on any piece of work has been made.

The committee has become very careful recently in scrutinizing estimates made by municipal officials. Councilman Burgard was at first disposed to hold up the estimate of the clerk of the free employment bureau for the coming month, as it included an item of $15 a month for janitor service. Another item of the estimate was for advertisements for laborers.

"It looks like the city could get its janitor service as cheap as I can mine," said Mr. Burgard. "It costs me only $10 a month."

The committee referred to City Health Officer C. H. Wheeler a bill for $81 for repairs done on the health officer's automobile. The machine was damaged about six weeks ago when Deputy Health Officer S. M. Geller ran it into a horse and buggy. Dr. Geller reported that the accident was due to the fact that the driver of the buggy disregarded the city traffic ordinance.

to make the twelfth man on the first panel.

F. E. Jackson was passed by Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald for the state after a brief examination this morning, having already been passed for cause by the defense. He is a commercial traveler, closing up with the McFall company the first of the year, and now entering the employ of the Route Seed company. He lives at 1218 Belmont street, has a family, and has lived in Portland the greater part of 22 years.

It developed that Jackson is a cousin by marriage of George Estes, once connected with the Oregon Trust. He said Estes had solicited him for business for the bank about the time Estes went into it. Jackson is also a nephew of Perry Morgan, an Associated Press operator, and said Morgan consulted him in regard to taking telephone bonds in settlement for a deposit in the Oregon Trust. He advised Morgan not to take the bonds, he said, but his advice was disregarded.

Jackson said he had an opinion "somebody was guilty of something" in connection with the affairs of the bank, but he had no opinion in this particular case. He declared he could disregard everything except the testimony and instructions of the court, and was accepted by both sides for cause.

Not a Citizen.

M. Tannier, a dairyman and farmer, was excused by the court yesterday afternoon on challenge by the defense, because he holds only his first citizenship papers. A man in this situation is not necessarily disqualified, but his removal follows as a matter of course if either side does not want him. After an examination of some length the defense decided it did not want him, and used the right of challenge.

J. A. McArthur answered all questions intelligently and satisfactorily. He was passed by both sides. He has been in Portland two years, engaged in the dry goods business at Woodstock. Formerly he was manager of an electric company at The Dalles. He is a man of family.

W. G. Eaton, an officer of the state humane society, horse breeder and real estate broker, was likewise passed by both sides, despite his intimate acquaintance with many of those connected with the case. He said he has known T. C. Devlin 12 years or more, and has known Cameron, Fitzgerald, Malarkey and S. G. Reed for a long time. He said his acquaintance would make no difference whatever to him in the trial of the case.

ITALIAN GOVERNMENT DOWNS WAR OPPOSITION

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Rome, Jan. 18.—Premier Giolitti has today made it known that he is taking steps looking toward the convocation of parliament the latter part of January, should he find conditions favorable to that end.

Parliament was to have convened the last week in November, but the premier feared that Socialist opposition in the chamber to the war in Tripoli might prove embarrassing to the government. It is believed that the government now has the situation well in hand, and that opposition to the government carrying on the Tripolitan war will not prove serious.

1000 NEW MEMBERS Y. M. C. A.'S SLOGAN

"One thousand new members and the world at our feet" is the slogan that has been adopted by the Portland Young Men's Christian association for the week of January 29 to February 2. During that week a membership campaign will be conducted by the association by which it is hoped to increase the enrollment by 1000 names and make the Portland association the largest in the world.

The local association is already one of the largest in existence. It has more than 5200 members, and less than a half dozen associations have reached the 5000 mark. It would take much less than 1000 names to put Portland in first place at present, but about 600 memberships will expire on February 1. It is the purpose of the present contest to renew these memberships as well as to sign up new members.

Final details of the contest will be outlined at a supper to be held in the auditorium on Friday night, January 29. At that time all the members of the 29 teams that are to compete in the membership campaign will get together and discuss the plans after an address by H. W. Stone, the general secretary. These teams will be made up of the live wires of the association and they propose to make things hum during the week that the membership contest is in progress.

SALEM SCHOOL CHILDREN TO JOIN GARDEN CONTEST

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Jan. 18.—A plan similar to the one launched in Portland recently to get the school children to growing garden produce on the vacant lots was launched in Salem last evening. Committees from the women's clubs, the commercial organizations and the educational bodies were appointed to start the work going. Superintendent Alderman and Dr. Withycombe of the Oregon Agricultural college were the chief speakers. The meeting was called by the Salem Board of Trade. To make the soil of Marion county yield $50 per acre on an average is a goal of the movement set out by Dr. Withycombe. The produce grown and the industrial work done will be exhibited at the state fair.

CHINESE "POTATO KING" HELD, OPIUM SMUGGLER

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—Mack Tin Loy, arrested in Monterey, is believed by the federal secret service men to be the real king sought "king of the opium ring." He will be brought to San Francisco to answer the charge. He is one of the richest orientals in California and is known as the "Chinese potato king." Mack was arrested two months ago, charged with complicity in a conspiracy to smuggle opium into the United States. Later seven tons of unstamped opium were found in his safe deposit box at the Bank of Monterey.
