

Fair today with south-easterly winds.

THREE CANDIDATES MAY OPPOSE TAFT FOR NOMINATION

La Follette, Cummins, Roosevelt, Each Leading Separate Progressive Faction, Expected to Participate.

SPLIT AMONG INSURGENTS SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION

None Able to Tell Just What Effect Candidacy of Iowan Will Have on Situation.

(United Press Special Wire.) Washington, Jan. 20.—That President Taft may be opposed at the Republican presidential nomination by three candidates, each commanding a separate faction of progressive Republicanism, became apparent tonight.

The possibility of the heretofore loosely bound progressive movement, splitting in three branches, with La Follette, Cummins and Roosevelt each leading his personal cohorts in pursuit of the nomination, was discussed widely as a result of Cummins' statement today that he will be a candidate.

Result Still in Doubt. "There is no way of telling now just what effect Senator Cummins' announcement will have on the progressive campaign," said Representative Norris, Nebraska, progressive leader in the house, tonight.

The two men who declined to lead the progressive movement when leadership was offered them, were, it was said, tonight, Roosevelt and Cummins.

The Iowa progressives were all in favor of Cummins' announcement. Their attitude was expressed by Representative Good's statement.

"We believe that the progressive's vote bids, split between Roosevelt and La Follette, Cummins offers a candidate who can win the support of followers of both of these."

La Follette supporters claimed that Cummins' declaration would help the Wisconsin candidate. Cummins will go into the convention as Iowa's favorite son.

The La Follette men say that this will take the delegation onto the floor of the progressive and after a complimentary vote for Cummins, they will line up for La Follette.

La Follette would not discuss Cummins' candidacy tonight. "Most all of his supporters likewise refused to comment," Chairman Houser of La Follette's campaign committee merely declared.

(Continued on Page Two.)

COLONEL WILL NOT TARRY TO SEE TAFT, 'IN HURRY,' HE SAYS

Roosevelt in Fine Humor, but Avoids Questions as to Reported Conference With Hitchcock.

(By the International News Service.) Oyster Bay, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Although Colonel Roosevelt would not admit it, a strong impression prevails that the former president and Postmaster General Hitchcock had a secret conference today in New York.

With this fact and the slight to President Taft prominent in their minds, a number of high officials of the government have declined invitations from Ambassador Reid to be present at his dinner and meet his royalty.

A diplomatic official of the United States declares tonight it was an unmistakable custom the world over for a royal visitor on an important governmental personage, even though traveling incognito, to make his presence known.

He vouchsafed the opinion that in failing to follow such precedent the Duke of Connaught acted with studied intent and that he had given deliberate affront to the White House.

800 of "400" to Attend. (By the International News Service.) New York, Jan. 20.—On behalf of Whitehall Reid, ambassador to the court of St. James, it was announced today that neither he nor Mrs. Reid would allow the non-official visit of the Duke of Connaught and the Princess Patricia to be an occasion for the setting up of a new list of society's elite.

Mrs. Ogden Mills will respect the ambassador's wishes. Her dinner dance to his royal guests therefore will be larger. Instead of cutting down what is known as the "400" to 300, she will include about 800.

TEN CLASSMATES GIVE BLOOD FOR YOUNG GIRL. (United Press Special Wire.) Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 20.—Ten young men of the Grand Rapids high school today gave up a pint of their blood and probably saved the life of Miss Theresa Sharp, a member of their class, who, physicians stated, would die unless there was a transfusion of blood.

Professor Jesse B. Davis, principal of the high school, told her classmates of the doctor's statement.

Practically the entire class clamored for a chance to help save the life of their classmate. Ten young men were selected.

Physicians say Miss Sharp will probably recover.

Colonel Roosevelt left his editorial office for Oyster Bay about the time that President Taft was coming in from New Haven.

Asked if he would not tarry and shake hands with the man he had boosted into the presidency, his erstwhile boom-chum, Mr. Taft, Mr. Roosevelt smiled broadly and exclaimed:

"I'm in a great hurry to get to Oyster Bay."

The ex-president was in fine humor, on top of the interview given up by former Governor J. Franklin Ford of New Jersey, in which Ford expressed the expectation that Mr. Roosevelt would

(Continued on Page Two.)

To Visit United States

Duke and Duchess of Connaught.

GOVERNMENT TO SHOW DUKE OF CONNAUGHT HOW TO SNUB SNUBBER

Uncle Sam Will Pay Absolutely No Attention to Royal Visitors; High Official Says "This is Altogether a Whitelaw Reid Show."

(By the International News Service.) Washington, Jan. 20.—Mortified and exasperated beyond expression by the studied neglect, if not studied insult, offered by the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia in visiting the United States without the courtesy of a call upon President Taft, the government will pay absolutely no attention to the royal visitors.

It was announced today that contrary to custom a military attaché and a naval attaché would not be designated to accompany them. Never before has a royal visitor paid America the honor of a visit without being the recipient at least of that courtesy.

The unqualified statement was made by a high official of the government today in an important governmental personage, even though traveling incognito, to make his presence known.

He vouchsafed the opinion that in failing to follow such precedent the Duke of Connaught acted with studied intent and that he had given deliberate affront to the White House.

800 of "400" to Attend. (By the International News Service.) New York, Jan. 20.—On behalf of Whitehall Reid, ambassador to the court of St. James, it was announced today that neither he nor Mrs. Reid would allow the non-official visit of the Duke of Connaught and the Princess Patricia to be an occasion for the setting up of a new list of society's elite.

Mrs. Ogden Mills will respect the ambassador's wishes. Her dinner dance to his royal guests therefore will be larger. Instead of cutting down what is known as the "400" to 300, she will include about 800.

TEN CLASSMATES GIVE BLOOD FOR YOUNG GIRL. (United Press Special Wire.) Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 20.—Ten young men of the Grand Rapids high school today gave up a pint of their blood and probably saved the life of Miss Theresa Sharp, a member of their class, who, physicians stated, would die unless there was a transfusion of blood.

Professor Jesse B. Davis, principal of the high school, told her classmates of the doctor's statement.

Practically the entire class clamored for a chance to help save the life of their classmate. Ten young men were selected.

Physicians say Miss Sharp will probably recover.

Colonel Roosevelt left his editorial office for Oyster Bay about the time that President Taft was coming in from New Haven.

Asked if he would not tarry and shake hands with the man he had boosted into the presidency, his erstwhile boom-chum, Mr. Taft, Mr. Roosevelt smiled broadly and exclaimed:

"I'm in a great hurry to get to Oyster Bay."

The ex-president was in fine humor, on top of the interview given up by former Governor J. Franklin Ford of New Jersey, in which Ford expressed the expectation that Mr. Roosevelt would

(Continued on Page Two.)

ARMY IS GUARDING TEXTILE FACTORIES AGAINST STRIKERS

Militiamen, State Police and Private Detectives Patrol Town of Lawrence, Covering All Districts.

FINDING OF DYNAMITE FRIGHTENS OFFICIALS

Heads of Municipal Government Believe City in Grave Danger of Destruction.

(United Press Special Wire.) Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 20.—This city is an armed camp tonight.

Militiamen, to whom a double round of ball cartridges was served out tonight, patrol the business section and the mill region with their guns ready for instant action. State police and private detectives, with revolvers only half concealed, are much in evidence, not alone in the business section, but throughout the residence quarters.

The city officials all united in declaring that, as the result of the textile workers' strike the city is in grave danger of destruction.

Point to Causes of Dynamite. In confirmation of this declaration, they point to the discovery of the dynamite cache in the heart of the Syrian quarter in a clump of bushes less than a stone's throw from the big Arlington mills. The explosive they display is 80 per cent. double in its destructive power of the ordinary commercial dynamite, and they assert that it was fitted with caps and ready for detonation at a second's notice.

Because of its powerful nature the officials insist that there is no doubt it was brought here to blow up the town and assert that within a few hours they will arrest noted dynamiters who, they allege, have been connected with the Industrial Workers of the World and who were responsible for dynamite outrages in the big mining fields of the far west notably in the Black Hills Cripple Creek and Nevada.

Charge Explosive Was "Planted." The strike leaders openly charge the dynamite was planted by emissaries of the government. "Heads of the strikers," said tonight that the mill owners, frightened by the change in public sentiment which is now behind the strikers because of their obvious attempt to suppress the strike, have taken advantage of the publicity given the McNamara dynamite to discredit the workers who are "demanding a living wage."

In cells in the city prison are five men and three badly frightened women. The police call them dynamiters, but they protest their innocence in broken English, saying that they are "poor, law-abiding laborers, who only want a chance to earn a living for themselves and their families."

All Admit Gravity of Situation. The situation is admitted by both sides to be very grave. The mill owners say they will treat with their former employes as "individuals" and the majority of the strikers insist they will "starve" before they will abandon their union.

The strikers insist they have crippled every mill and that none will open on Monday. The mill owners, while keeping their plans secret, say they will have plenty of help here by then and if the state will furnish protection they will open up and keep going.

SANTA FE LIMITED WRECKED IN NEW MEXICO

(By the International News Service.) Williams, Ariz., Jan. 20.—The California limited on the Santa Fe railroad which left Chicago Thursday night, ran into an open switch at Manguelito, New Mexico, 16 miles east of here shortly before 5 o'clock this afternoon, dashing into a work train that was standing on the siding, and the engine and baggage car of the limited were derailed and turned over. The only persons injured were the engineer and fireman of the limited who were slightly hurt. Traffic will be delayed for about six hours.

WILEY WANTS DRINKER LICENSED; SAYS CLUBS BREED DRUNKENNESS

Pure Food Expert Declares Treating Habit One of Worst of All Evils; Believes That Treaters Should Be Muzzled in Some Manner.

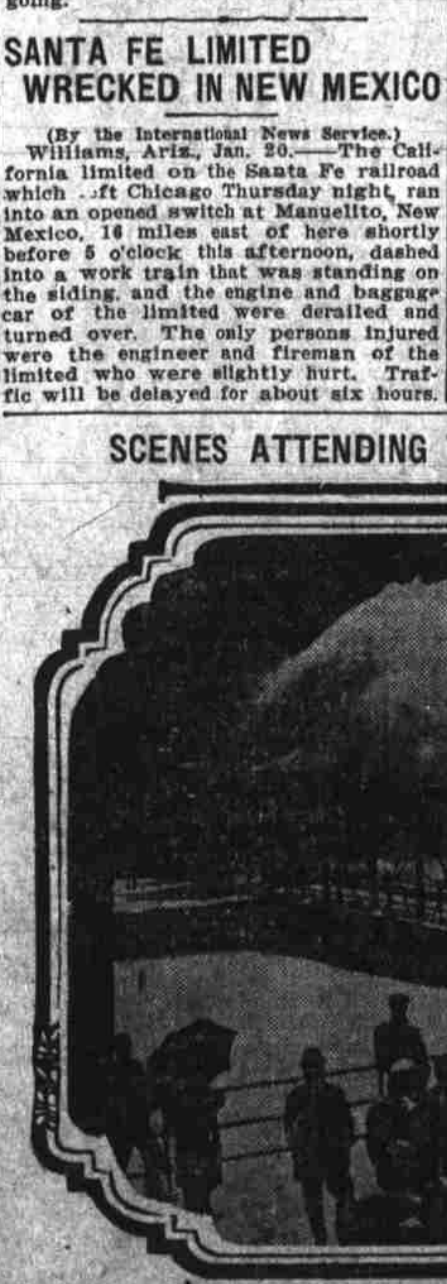

(By the International News Service.) Washington, Jan. 20.—Declaring his belief that most of the drunkenness in America originates in clubs, Dr. Harvey Wiley, pure food expert for the government, today advanced as a solution for a critical situation that all drinking men and women who treat be forced to take out individual licenses.

"I have stopped drinking in my club," explained Dr. Wiley. "Not because I am stingy. Things have come to the state that where six or seven meet and one offers to buy a drink, they keep right on treating until every man present has bought something. Pretty soon they are all drunk."

"If I had my way we would stop making saloon keepers pay huge licenses. Why not charge them a nominal fee and regulate them? Then put the real tax on the drinkers. Make every person who wants a drink take out a license and pay $1 a year for it. If a person is seen to be drinking too much or his family needs the money or he has a weak constitution, then refuse to give him a license."

"When a man goes into a saloon, make him present his license number and pay 1 cent internal revenue tax for every drink. Make him write his name on a slip of paper for every drink. If it is seen that a saloon keeper is giving too many drinks to any one man, then stop the saloon man's license. Do these things and you stop drunkenness."

SCENES ATTENDING TEXTILE WORKERS' STRIKE AT LAWRENCE, MASS.

First photograph of the strike riots at Lawrence, Mass. The photograph shows the methods employed by the police in keeping the threatening strikers away from the mills.

"WHIP BEHIND, FELLOWS!"

Albert Cummins is shown pulling the sleigh of the G.O.P. Presidential Sleigh.

WILEY WANTS DRINKER LICENSED; SAYS CLUBS BREED DRUNKENNESS

Pure Food Expert Declares Treating Habit One of Worst of All Evils; Believes That Treaters Should Be Muzzled in Some Manner.

(By the International News Service.) Washington, Jan. 20.—Declaring his belief that most of the drunkenness in America originates in clubs, Dr. Harvey Wiley, pure food expert for the government, today advanced as a solution for a critical situation that all drinking men and women who treat be forced to take out individual licenses.

"I have stopped drinking in my club," explained Dr. Wiley. "Not because I am stingy. Things have come to the state that where six or seven meet and one offers to buy a drink, they keep right on treating until every man present has bought something. Pretty soon they are all drunk."

"If I had my way we would stop making saloon keepers pay huge licenses. Why not charge them a nominal fee and regulate them? Then put the real tax on the drinkers. Make every person who wants a drink take out a license and pay $1 a year for it. If a person is seen to be drinking too much or his family needs the money or he has a weak constitution, then refuse to give him a license."

"When a man goes into a saloon, make him present his license number and pay 1 cent internal revenue tax for every drink. Make him write his name on a slip of paper for every drink. If it is seen that a saloon keeper is giving too many drinks to any one man, then stop the saloon man's license. Do these things and you stop drunkenness."

G. W. BETTY CARRIES THREE PASSENGERS IN RECORD FLIGHT IN AIR

Aviator Accomplishes New Feat in America by Flying at Height of 500 Feet With Adult and Two Boys as Passengers.

(By the International News Service.) New York, Jan. 20.—Four persons flew simultaneously in one aeroplane this afternoon at Nassau boulevard at a height of 500 feet for over 10 minutes. It was the first time the feat had been accomplished in America.

George W. Betty, who holds a number of American flight records, was the pilot and Dr. Alexander G. Belden of Terre Haute, Ind., Master Jack Findlay of Garden City, L. I., and Master Herbert Pratt of Garden City, L. I., were the passengers. The flight was made in Betty's Wright biplane with which he recently made a sensational flight over Brooklyn.

The combined weight of the four aerial joy riders was in the neighborhood of 600 pounds. The two boys who unexpectedly achieved the distinction of being two of the first people to fly together over the American continent, are 11 and 12 years old respectively. Until they were hoisted into the air on the craft they did not know they were to make a longer flight but descended when he saw the boys were shivering with cold, not being properly clad for an air voyage.

Dominguez, Field, Cal., Jan. 20.—Flying from Dominguez field to Compton, two miles in two minutes, Glenn Martin, this afternoon delivered the first aerial mail in the history of the Pacific coast. He returned to the field for a second consignment, collected from the spectators, which was to be carried to the Los Angeles city limits.

LOUIS HILL MAY QUIT GREAT NORTHERN FOR OREGON LAND PROJECT

Rumor He Is to Resign is Prevalent in Oregon and Washington; Colonization of 750,000 Acres is Said to Be Proposed.

(Special to The Journal.) Seattle, Wash., Jan. 20.—A rumor that Louis W. Hill is soon to resign the Great Northern presidency has been current in local railroad circles for several weeks.

However, Seattle men in touch with railroad politics, profess to have no details, although they assert that Hill is likely to retire to look after his private business interests, particularly his Oregon land project. John A. Miller, Seattle general agent in the freight department, who is supposed to be in the Great Northern's inner circles, stated today that he is not interested in Hill's land scheme and had heard nothing definite regarding the rumor. He has not been advised when Hill is coming west.

H. A. Noble, general passenger agent, is in Seattle today, but his visit is said to have no special significance.

Some Seattle railroad men say Carl R. Gray, head of the North Bank railroad, in one of the logical candidates for the presidency of the Great Northern.

It has been reported in Portland frequently the past month that Louis Hill would resign the presidency of the Great Northern to take over active management of a great land project including the Miller D. Lux, William Hanley and other big ranches in Harney county. A feature of the report has been that President Carl Gray of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle would be present at the western division of the Great Northern. Some weeks ago when the rumor first became current here, Mr. Gray denied that there was any truth to it so far as he knew.

STAND IN LINE SINCE CHRISTMAS; WIN NOTHING

(Special to The Journal.) North Yakima, Wash., Jan. 20.—Forty-six people who have been standing in line here since Christmas before the door of the United States land office awaiting the restoration to public entry of half a hundred homesteads of 40 acres each under the government Tifton reclamation project here, learned tonight that it is the intention of the department of the interior to open the land under some lottery system by which all citizens of the United States will have equal chances of winning. There were many women in the line.

LATIN BRITISH HOLDS UP GUNBOAT STEAMSHIP

(United Press Special Wire.) London, Jan. 20.—Following close up on the recent seizure of two French liners, the British steamship Africa was held up late today at Perim by the Italian gunboat Voltorno. Twelve Turkish army officers who were traveling in civilian garb were placed under arrest and the ship is being detained pending instructions from the Italian government.

After the two days balloting the parties in the reichstag stand as follows: Socialists, 72; net loss, 25. Conservatives, 46; net loss, 24. Centerists, 93; net loss, 8. Liberals, 65; net loss, 19.

Socialist Vote Falls Off in Germany.

Berlin, Jan. 20.—A decided falling off in the Socialist vote was shown by the results of the second ballots held today for members for the reichstag in 77 districts.

After the two days balloting the parties in the reichstag stand as follows: Socialists, 72; net loss, 25. Conservatives, 46; net loss, 24. Centerists, 93; net loss, 8. Liberals, 65; net loss, 19.

FIVE DROWN WHEN GASOLINE LAUNCH CAPSIZES ON BAR

North Star No. 1, Bound From Coos Bay to South Slough, Carried Out to Rough Water When Engine Stops.

CREW AND CAPTAIN ALL SOUTH SLOUGH CITIZENS

Numerous Passengers Had Got Off at Empire; Craft Is Washed to Sea.

(Special to The Journal.) Marshfield, Or., Jan. 21.—Captain Britt, of the Coos Bay life saving station, was not lost as was at first feared in the accident to the gasoline launch North Star, on the Coos Bay bar this afternoon. It was reported here that he had been washed overboard and much uneasiness was felt until his safety was assured.

The North Star was thrown up on the end of the jetty. None of the five men who were on the launch have been found and a close watch is being kept for bodies.

Marshfield, Or., Jan. 20.—With four passengers and the skipper aboard, the little gasoline launch North Star No. 1 capsized on the bar of Coos Bay this evening. All were lost.

The little boat was seen to turn over from the lookout of the life saving station and the crew went to its assistance but could not arrive in time. The North Star No. 1 was owned and run by Joe Yonkers.

Those lost were: Joe Yonkers, the skipper; Will Bratnard, Frank Tanner, Ira Abbe and Con Ferris. All live on South Slough. Bratnard was married and had four children, Tanner was also married. The launch ran regularly between Coos Bay and South Slough. The latter is a stream emptying into the bay very near to the bar. A number of ranchers and others live along the slough and there is a logging camp there and the launch was the only means of transportation to that locality.

Engine Probably Froze Down. When the boat left Marshfield this afternoon a large number of passengers were aboard but all got off at Empire excepting the four men and the captain. The engine of the boat evidently broke down and as there was a strong ebb tide, the boat was carried out on the bar. It struck the jetty and capsized. It is a small gasoline boat about 20 feet long with a cabin and engine room. The crew had no chance for their lives on the bar.

A year or two ago Yonkers had an accident in the bay. The boat he was running sprung a leak and sank but

(Continued on Page Four.)

HIDEOUS DEATH BY STARVATION CAME SLOWLY, SLOWLY

Initial Diet of Williamson Girls Was Half Cup of Water Strained From Vegetables; Bribery Rumored.

(United Press Special Wire.) Port Orchard, Wash., Jan. 20.—Rumors of attempts to bribe the state's witnesses and the discovery that Dorothea Williamson's summer home at Stellacon had been broken into and her personal effects and private papers ransacked only served to add to the sensational aspect assumed by new developments in the trial of Dr. Linda Burfield Hazard, charged with the death of Claire Williamson by slow starvation. Dorothea Williamson, the sister, told her harrowing story on the witness stand in the superior court here today.

Struggling to keep the tears back and to keep her eyes from protruding, the sight of Dorothea Williamson as she told the horrible details of her sister's life while they were being treated by Mrs. Hazard, was a pitiable one. The simple, artless manner in which she told the story made it more than dramatic. It seemed to carry with her every person in the courtroom; jurors leaned forward in their chairs; the defendant, Mrs. Hazard, charged with murder in the first degree, lay back in her chair and did not move so much as an eyelash all through the recital, though during most of the trial she has consoled with her country frequently while other witnesses were testifying.

Faith Continues to the End. The tale of the trustfulness of the two English women and their total innocence for months of the criminal intent with which Dr. Hazard is charged, is in itself pathetic. When, according to Dorothea's testimony, Mrs. Hazard took from their jewelry and the rings from their emaciated hands, they even had faith in her. When she promised from day to day that some morning they would awaken and would be in a perfect state of health, they believed they would get well.

Faithing From Starvation. Dorothea told of the beginning of the diet, which consisted of half a cup of water in which a few sprigs of asparagus or tomato had been boiled and the vegetable matter drained off; how, after a few days, because of constant fainting spells and her sister becoming thinner and thinner and more and more emaciated, her sister began to have the fainting spells and her own

(Continued on Page Seven.)