The most remarkable sale we have ever attempted. Our garment buyer wires us from New York: "Close out every dress if possible. Must open the season with all new goods." And this is the way we propose to do it: Tomorrow at 8 a. m. the big slaughter will begin. All our charming and distinctive dresses of rich velvet, soft gracefully swinging crepe meteors, crepe de chimes and messalines, imported French serges, fine chiffon broadcloths, etc. Many are simple in design, with slightly raised waist lines, with high or round necks, peasant sleeves and side front fastenings, lace collars, cuffs, etc. Others are richly conceived with elaborate trimmings. Others are fashioned on plain tailored, neat fitting lines. All reduced as follows:
