Idaho-Rain or snow tonight or Wednesday. EDWARD A. BEALS, District Forscaster. Tree Ferry Wanted.—A delegation of business men from St. Johns and Linn-ton called upon the county court this morning to request the operation of a free ferry between their two towns. The court agreed to pay all expenses of the ferry until the new county ferry is ready for use. Mayor Couch of St. Johns acted as spokesman for the dele-gation. He explained that a recent law gave the county court the right to operate a ferry. Complaint was made by the speaker of the way the county court has neglected the St. Johns districts in jail. Had he been tried and found guilty the minimum sentence would have been two years at McNelli's island.

the speaker of the way the county court has neglected the St. Johns districts in the matter of a ferry, and said that that district now pays taxes on property valued at $5,000,000. "Other parts of the county have free ferries and have had for a long time," said Mayor Couch. "The people of St. Johns and the west-ern part of the county feel they have been slighted by the court." The new ferry will be completed within five months. "Joke" Costs $10 .- James Finney and Harry Price, who are playing at one of the local theatres this week, were ar-rested last night by Patrolmen Hutch-ings and Niles on Park and Morrison streets, on a disorderly conduct charge, following an escapade at a small stand conducted by Al Hendricks. The two nurchesed a creb from the proprietor.

conducted by Al Hendricks. The two purchased a crab from the proprietor, and when he went back to wrap it up, one man concealed a crab under his coat and the other put one in his pock-et. When arrested the men claimed they were doing it for a joke but the joke cost them $10, the fine that was assessed against Price, with the un-derstanding that Finney pay half the time Court Malts Sale .-- The petition of "Mose" Bloch, administrator for the estate of Robert J. Hill, to sell property, filed with the county judge yesterday was refused on the ground that the selling price was below the price set by the appraisers. The county judge directed the administrator's attorney to obtain the affidavits of two responsible realty dealers as to the value of the property. Robert J. Hill died early last year. Among the items in the inventory filed. "I Am Paddy Mahar."-----While Patrol-man Jones was standing at the corner of Twelfth and Glisan streets at 11:30 o'clock last night, he moticed a man walking west on Glisan street, look carefully around both ways, size up the saloons on the corner and then motion to a friend who was a block away to come doors. to a friend who was a block away to come along. Jones, in a report of the affair to the chief, stated that the ac-tions of this man aroused his suspi-cions and he walked across the street, demanding to know who he was and what his business was. "None of your business who I am." replied the strang-er. Noticing that the man had his hands in his pockets, Jones pulled the hands out and found a black jack there. This still further aroused the suspicion "There be lots o' masters of men who can't master themselves." hands out and found a black jack there. This still further aroused the suspicion of Jones and he pulled his revolver and threatened the man if he made a false move. "You seem to be a preety blank smart fellow, I'll just show you who I am," he said as he pulled back the la-pel of his coat and displayed a star bearing the caption, "County Detective." "I am Paddy Maher; now I hope you are satisfied," the outraged man re-plied. plied.

May Lack Evidence.—After indicting Thomas Murphy and Joseph Locke, for-merly Portland horse traders, District Attorney Cameron has requested Gov-ernor West to hold up the extradition pa-pers for the reason that there may not be sufficient evidence to convict the two men. Both men are being held in San Francisco, where the sheriff's of-fice located them. The indictments against the two horse traders charge them with obtaining money by false pretense. The affair has to do with a horse trade. The arrain has to do with a namite caps in an attempt to slay Tong horse trade. The indictments were re-turned December 30. The warrants were placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Leonard, who located the men in Cal-ifornia last Thursday. They were tak-en into custody by the San Francisco officers. TOM SEATON SIGNS HIS PHILADELPHIA DIAMOND CONTRACT

With the arrival of a wire to With the arrival of a wire to The Journal from Philadelphia last night, all doubts about the status of Tom Seaton, the Beaver pitcher drafted by Phila-delphia, has been set at rest. Seaton's signed contract was re-ceived by President Fofel in the Quaker City yesterday, and the latter took time to remark to The Journal's correspondent that The Journal's correspondent that he regarded Seaton as quite a find, pointing out that Tom had won 24 games out of 49 pitched last year, and that he was going to give him a thorough trial upon the recommendation of upon the recommendation of his Pacific coast friends who had tipped him off in regard to Seaton. In the meantime Judge McCredie is bankering after the $1000 the Phillies owe Portland as the draft price for Seaton, as the money is needed in these days of new baseball parks.
