Contestant Tells of Long Hunt Made for Crematory Containing Mother's Body.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Diego, Cal., Feb. 7.-Testimony of George W. Patterson, contestant in the Thurston will suit, and son of Mrs. Harriet Patterson-Thurston, who left the bulk of her fortune to Mrs. Kather-ine Tingley, leader of the theosophists, is today a part of the evidence already submitted to the jury. Patterson revealed the most intimate details of his family while he was on the stand. Only when he told of his mother's death did he show any emotion. Lowering his voice he told of receiving a telegram two days after her death, signed "Le W.," and of his long search for the crematory in Hoboken where the remains had been taken. He stated to the jury his frantic experience in calling on undertaker after undertaker in the hope of finding his bother's body, and how he finally discovered it was Dr. Lorin Wood of the theosophical soclety who had sent the telegram two days after Mrs. Thurston died. What happened in the crematory after he had found the body was barred by Judge Guy.

A local representative of the Bow Leong tong this morning asserted that the claims made yesterday by Lee Fung and Wong Tan of the Hop Sing tong to the effect that a price of $500 has been set on their heads, is absolutely false and was made for the purpose of making trouble and casting reflections at the Bow Leong tong.

"The Hop Sing tong is having trou-ble with two or three societies in San Francisco," he said. "The societies extend all over the country. In San Fran-cisco the 12 big societies have given notice to the Hop Sing tong that if they don't stop fighting at once, the 12 so-cieties will start a fight against them and the Hop Sing tong is so fearful of the rival tongs that it is trying to incriminate the Bow Leong tong, by de-claring that it has set a price on the heads of two of its members, should the fight ever extend to the northwest. Their animosity is due to the fact that the Bow Leong tong is trying to bring to justice the ones who murdered Seid Bing, a member of the Bow Leong tong." No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral of Seid Bing for the body may have to be held for another inquest, since Oi Sen has confessed to the details.

It is reported that since the murder of Seid Bing over 20 members of the Hop Sing tong have resigned and an-nouncements have been posted in various Chinese quarters to that effect. The reason for this is believed to be the men withdrawing fear they will be assessed very heavily for the defense of the two men and the wo-man accused. Others are wanting to withdraw, it is said, but before they are allowed to do so they are compelled to pay all assessments and then purchase their freedom for $100.

Of Sen this morning cried when Seid Bing's name was mentioned and begged NOT A WOMAN SCARED piteously for a photograph of the man.

When O'Grady Choked the Farmer. One of the favorite stunts of "Far-mer" Burns was to go around the coun-try letting ambitious stranglers try to choke him. Burns has muscles in his neck that would make good snowshoes, and in all his four decades of anti-choke stuff he never failed to get away with it. Down in a little Nebraska town there was an Irishman named O'Grady, who had done blacksmithing ever since St. Patrick drove the serpents out of Ire-land-and if O'Grady was long on any one thing it was his grip. He had heard the tales of the Farmer's throat, and his palms itched and his fingers twitched to get busy. He would have laid a wager of his shop and home to get a chance. He got it. After his preliminary work Burns an-nounced that evening that he was was ready to be choked-aching to be chok-ed-begging for it.

There was a moment of breathless pause, and down the aisle came the mighty D'Grady, puffed up with his own pride and trailing his big red hands like two sugar cured hams. As he stepped up on the stage he received a mighty cheer, for the popu-lace had been awaiting this chance for months - and the assemblage was divided as to opinion. "Do you want to choke me?" Burns asked politely. "That Oi do!" O'Grady answered, as he rolled up his sleeves. "For a side bet?" "Fer annythin'!" the Irishman resuggested. 'Make ut a t'ousand!" O'Grady snorted. "Split and call it a hundred!" the Farmer shot back. And the stakeholder held the two hundred.

Burns tightened the thews of his neck and stuck his head out invitingly to O'Grady. Mike spat on his hands and clamped
