

PUBLIC SENTIMENT STRONG FOR HARVEY TRIAL FOR MURDER

Clackamas County Court is Seeking Method to Aid in Prosecution of Milwaukee Nurseryman.

By long distance Mr. Tongue, who was at Astoria today, told The Journal that he had not advised the grand jury to indict Harvey or not to indict him.

Continuing, he said: "Since the grand jury's action, and not before, I have publicly stated that the evidence that went before the grand jury—the evidence that would be permitted in a court of justice—was not sufficient to hang a dog on."

He said that he had not been invited to appear before the grand jury here and explain, but that he would be in Oregon City in the morning and would make a statement to the county court, if that body so wished.

It was learned here from the best authority that an attempt was made to corrupt the testimony of one of the state's witnesses while he was under subpoena by the grand jury.

The county court is said to be a unit in a desire to get action in the Hill case, and there seems a strong probability that unless District Attorney Tongue deposes some one to carry on the case, the court will appoint a special prosecutor.

This may mean that all of the witnesses—14 in all—called before the February grand jury will have to be summoned again and their testimony gone over.

Defectives in Ranks of Railroad Shopmen and Machinists Put Up Union Pacific on Wall Street; Entire Rail Groups Affected.

New York, Feb. 22.—Wall street heard the report that the striking shopmen on the Harriman system were retreating to their labor and a survey advanced in railroad securities resulted.

The principal gain was in Union Pacific, which closed 14 points above the previous closing. Southern Pacific advanced a fraction of a point. The entire rail group was affected to the extent of a few fractions.

Green River, Wyo., Feb. 22.—Fifteen striking carmen, machinists and boiler makers have applied for reinstatement to their old positions, of whom 4 were put to work and four were promised jobs very soon.

Assistant General Manager M. J. Buckley of the O.S.W. Ry. company stated this morning that eight old employees who went out as strikers at Starbuck have applied to Superintendent Conkey at that place for reinstatement.

Portland Railroad Federation officials say they have received no information from the Harriman company as to whether the lines involved in the strike are going back to work, or that they are asking to be taken back. The strike bulletin received at local federation headquarters today contains no such information.

It is said that if all the men employed by the Harriman company at Green River were to go back to work, it would make a particular difference in the strike situation, as under normal conditions the payroll at that point never carries more than 10 or 12 names.

CHARGE HOLDUP PLOT OF DENTIST

Dr. F. D. Johnson of Centralia Has Hearing for Part in Bank Murder.

(Special to The Journal.) Chehalis, Wash., Feb. 22.—Dr. F. D. Johnson is being given a preliminary hearing this afternoon before Justice Beaufort on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the murder of Clark, who shot Mr. Bar while attempting to hold up the Farmers & Merchants bank of Centralia.

Dr. Johnson has said that he knew Clark only a short time before the attempted holdup. After the murder was committed, he said, he visited the county jail to see the murderer, and, to his surprise, found the prisoner was Clark. Dr. Johnson's brother, Dr. James Johnson, in Chehalis, is also a dentist, and his father, Charles Johnson, is employed by the Bee-Nugget Publishing company.

Dr. Johnson denies knowledge of the plan to rob the bank. The spirit of the evening at times reached exuberance, although the bill of fare included nothing that should produce artificial hilarity. It was announced at the banquet that Mr. Hill would from now on devote almost his undivided time to the upbuilding of the company, although as president he draws no salary.

Samuel Hill, president of the Home Telephone company, gave the second annual dinner to the employees of the company last night at the Portland hotel.

The spirit of the evening at times reached exuberance, although the bill of fare included nothing that should produce artificial hilarity. It was announced at the banquet that Mr. Hill would from now on devote almost his undivided time to the upbuilding of the company, although as president he draws no salary.

For the first time in its history, the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith will hold memorial services for its dead on Sunday. The services will be held in the Ahavai Shalom synagogue, corner Park and Clay streets, and will commence promptly at 3 o'clock.

Carl R. Gray, president of the Hill lines in Oregon, left for St. Paul last night for a general consultation, according to information given out at the North Bank offices this morning.

A second arrest for poaching on the Tualatin River by men trapping crawfish during closed season was made yesterday by Deputy Water Bailiff J. C. Worth of the state fish and game department.

Ed Mohler was arrested and a complaint will be filed against him today in the justice's court at Milwaukie.

Assistant General Manager M. J. Buckley of the O.S.W. Ry. company stated this morning that eight old employees who went out as strikers at Starbuck have applied to Superintendent Conkey at that place for reinstatement.

Portland Railroad Federation officials say they have received no information from the Harriman company as to whether the lines involved in the strike are going back to work, or that they are asking to be taken back.

Woman's Trial Set. Eleanor Maceo, the alleged wife of Sam Krasner and the woman who was back of the indictment of Attorney Max Cohen, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolmen Ennis and Stewart at 210 Clay street and charged with selling liquor without a license and with being a disorderly person.

The police have been asked to help search for Mrs. A. J. Zimmerman who disappeared from her home, 78 Idaho street, last Tuesday and from whom no word has been received since, when she left ostensibly to go to a party. Friends and relatives are making a search and have been working since Tuesday, but to no avail.

ROOSEVELT PLAYS "BUSINESS" TRIP

Colonel Leaves Tomorrow for Brief Journey to Massachusetts.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Feb. 22.—Colonel Roosevelt, it was announced today, will leave on a trip to Massachusetts tomorrow. The colonel declared that his trip has no political significance. He passed his day receiving callers at his office. He lunched with Ex-Governor Curry of New Mexico, a close friend.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, Wash., Feb. 22.—Plans for organizing the state to elect delegates to the national Republican convention pledged to Theodore Roosevelt were made by the adoption, at a banquet of progressives last night, of a resolution seeking to perfect a state wide movement.

Major George W. Dilling, who was toastmaster, declared: "If Mr. Roosevelt is nominated for president he is sure to be the advance guard of prosperity, as McKinley was in 1896."

The following message from Roosevelt, dictated in New York to Senator Ralph Metcalf of Tacoma, was read: "Mr. Roosevelt asks me to send you his best and hearty regards, to congratulate you on your meeting today, especially upon the fact that you and those like you, when they celebrate the birth-days of Lincoln and Washington, not merely pay homage to dead men, who fought for issues now dead, but are endeavoring to make the spirit of those men the living spirit with which we face the living issues of our day in the fight to secure genuine social and industrial justice through genuine popular rule."

RAILROADS PLAN TO 'ABSORB' TOLLS

Congressman Humphrey Says "Conspiracy" Will Juggle Canal Rates.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Feb. 22.—Definite charges that the transcontinental railroads are "conspiring" with foreign steamship lines to get rates enforced on the Panama canal by which they will receive all its benefits were made here today before the Navy league convention by Congressman Humphrey of Washington.

Humphrey asserted the plan is to have congress make the Panama tolls high and to provide for the free use of the canal for coastwise vessels. If such a measure passes, he predicted that the "conspirators" will purchase scores of cheap foreign ships for the coastwise trade, by which they will absorb rates via Panama so as to absorb all the benefits of the water routes from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Humphrey declares that it already costs less to ship a carload of crockery from Germany to Salt Lake than from Cleveland to Salt Lake, because of "shipping conspiracies."

Congressman Stevens of California and William Wheeler of San Francisco also discussed Panama tolls. President Taft will address the league late this afternoon.

Members of the Portland Railroad Federation are sending letters to United States Senators Bourne and Chambliss and to Congressman Lafferty, asking that they use their influence towards getting an investigation as to why laws regarding late mails and defective equipment are not being enforced against the Harriman lines, during the present strike of machinists, carmen, boiler makers and helpers.

Local strikers say they have been given to understand that no attempt has been made to collect the fines due the government when the railroad companies fail to deliver the mails on schedule time, and they say further that they have information that mail clerks have been instructed to report no deficiencies in mail car equipment or condition during the present strike.

The railroad workers believe that some action should be taken if such is the case, and to this end, they say, the letters are being sent out.

HE DOES NOT NOTE CALL FOR KIMMELL

Convict Reddies When He Fails to Recognize Name He Claims.

(United Press Leased Wire.) St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 22.—Despite repudiations of his claims by both his mother and sister of George A. Kimmell, the missing bank cashier, who is reported to have been killed in an Oregon forest, A. J. White of St. Louis on the witness stand here today retorted his assertions that he is the missing man. The testimony was given at the third trial in which an insurance company is fighting the payment of insurance money to relatives of Kimmell, basing their fight on the ground that White is Kimmell.

A snicker passed over the courtroom today when White was called to the stand. "Mr. Kimmell," said the insurance company's attorney, "please take the stand." White never budged. "George," repeated the attorney, "I said for you to take the stand." White reddened as he mounted the stand, the relatives of Kimmell shaking their heads knowingly.

FUND FOR CRIPPLED YOUTH NOW IS $53.25

Fund for Crippled Boy. Previously acknowledged, $51.75. Mr. Mountjoy, .50. D. V., 1.00. Total, $53.25.

Two subscriptions today bring the total of the fund being raised by The Journal for Quincy Adams Lewis to $53.25. The fund is being raised for the purpose of buying the boy an artificial leg to replace the shrunken limb which was removed a couple of weeks ago. Lewis is walking about the Multnomah hospital with the aid of crutches and is in fine spirits. The stitches were removed yesterday and within a couple of more weeks he will be able to make use of the artificial limb which is to be secured for him.

PATROLMAN SAVES MAN FROM DEATH IN RIVER

Peter Johnson, a laborer, was saved from death in the Willamette river at 3 o'clock this morning, by the heroic action of Patrolman E. T. Rablor, one of the new members of the police department, who risked his life to pull the drowning man from the river.

Attracted by cries for help, Rablor, who was at Water and Hawthorne streets, rushed to the bridge and saw the man in the water. Crawling out on the iron beams that are suspended just above the river, the patrolman held his head above water until the arrival of the bridge tenders, who threw Johnson a rope. Johnson, however, was so cold that he could not hold the rope in his hands, and he took it between his teeth until a boat could be summoned into which he was lifted from the water.

The police patrol was called and Johnson was taken to the city jail, where a drunk charge was made against him. When his case was called this morning, Judge Taxwell suspended sentence.

GOVERNMENT SUBMITS ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE

Another day has been spent by Deputy United States District Attorney McGuire in submitting documentary evidence to the jury in the federal court in the case of the United States versus F. B. Holbrook and John E. Aftichson, former officers of the Titus Guarantee & Trust company and the Oregon Land & Water company, for conspiracy to defraud in connection with entries on desert lands. Evidence of the same nature is being introduced this afternoon.

A list of 60 who are to be summoned as jurors during the March term of the federal court, which opens March 4, has been prepared and summons will be served at once.

Address on Niagara Falls. Reverend William Parsons, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, is to speak this evening at the East Side library on "Niagara Falls."

REJECTS OVERTURES TO STAY OUT OF CONTEST FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEYSHIP

Rejects Overtures to Stay Out of Contest for District Attorneyship

Rejecting overtures which he says were made to him by a rival candidate to remain out of the Republican primaries and hold himself in reserve for an independent race, Walter H. Evans, United States deputy district attorney, today filed his declaration at Salem as a candidate for the Republican nomination for district attorney of Multnomah county.

Mr. Evans, in a statement issued by him, declares it will be his endeavor if chosen to name reliable assistants and create a sentiment of confidence in the office, promising also to conserve the public funds and to execute the duties of the office without allowing wealth or any outside influence to affect prosecutions.

The statement of Mr. Evans follows: "Owing to the fact that our office has been swamped with investigations of orchard companies, land promotion fakes, and other complaints for violation of the law in stock jobbing matters, it has been impossible for me earlier to prepare my formal declaration, but I have today sent in the secretary of state the statement upon which I am going before the public. It reads thus:

"If I am nominated and elected I will appoint capable and honest deputies; give to the office the undivided attention of myself and assistants; carefully attend to all complaints and prosecute with vigor whenever the evidence warrants; endeavor, by courtesy and impartiality to merit the confidence of the public, and by a respectful and thorough presentation of all matters in court to secure and hold my confidence and cooperation of the judges. Neither wealth, political ambition, nor any other influence shall control prosecutions. I will endeavor to conserve the public funds in every possible manner, consistent with efficient prosecution."

Refuses to Stay Out. "There is absolutely no foundation for the rumor that I have been tendered or am now seeking any appointment. The only office I want is that of district attorney for Multnomah county and I am in the race to get it. If I can do so by any legitimate means, the declaration above stated I consider a conservative one; in fact, more conservative than I was prompted to file, but I preferred to exceed my promises in the matter of execution rather than to fall short.

"I consider the office of district attorney one of the most important if not the most important office in the gift of the people of this district and if elected it shall be my first duty to provide the best and most reliable assistants I can command, best qualified to execute a sentiment of confidence and trust in the office and in the official efforts that may be put forth therein."

Refuses to Stay Out. "In the matter of conserving the public funds, it is my observation that a prosecutor can save a great deal of money and time of the grand jury by a careful study of all preliminary complaints, especially if he has the stamina to take those matters in hand which ought not to be put up to the grand jury, and end them. Many times it would be easier to shift the responsibility of determining whether to prosecute, but my conception of the duty of prosecutor is to not only prosecute when the facts warrant but to head off prosecutions that are based simply on personal spite or that are brought for personal gain, rather than with a view to protect criminals from the punishment of criminals."

"One of the candidates brought to me a rumor that the Democrats are registering in large numbers for the purpose of supporting a rival candidate in the field, and solicited me to keep out of the race inasmuch as the remaining matter of the election is a matter of fact. The Democrats expected to support this candidate because he was believed to be the weakest man in the field, and that if they could vote as Republicans they would thereby procure his nomination and later on bring out a strong Democrat."

Stands on Record. "The inducement held out to me was that if this so-called weak Republican procured the nomination I could be brought out as an independent candidate against both the Democrat and Republican and that the remaining matter of the election would be a matter of fact. My observation that Democrats are as loyal to their principles as are Republicans, and I do not believe any considerable number of the voters of either party would resort to such a trick, especially when it remains a matter of fact, led me to believe that a man whose voter did not feel was capable of holding the office.

"As I said before I am in the field to win if I can win by clean and honorable methods, and I am standing on my record as a public official, a lawyer, a citizen, and I will promise the voters of Multnomah county the same character of service, when elected that I have given to the government during the past four years in the office of the United States attorney."

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., Feb. 22.—Four filings were made today, all by Republican office seekers.

Walter H. Evans filed for the nomination for district attorney of Multnomah county.

"Strict enforcement of the law; fair and reasonable rates; no discrimination," is the slogan of Henry J. Schulerdarm of Portland, who filed for railroad commissioner of the second district.

D. V. Kuykendall of Klamath Falls, filed for prosecuting attorney of the second district, comprising Klamath and Lake counties.

Charles W. Jackson of Portland filed for delegate to the national convention. The circuit judgeship of the eighth judicial district, comprising Baker county, is vying with the judgeship of department No. 4 in Multnomah county from the point of attractiveness for would-be judges. Another Republican candidate for the Baker judgeship is Emmett Callahan of Baker. He announces no platform or slogan. Callahan's competitor for the Republican nomination is Gustav Anderson. The Democrats have filed for the nomination at the hands of their party—M. D. Clifford, J. B. Messick and William Smith—all of Baker.

CATTLE KING ARDENT BOOSTER FOR OREGON

William Hanley, who was elected president of the Oregon Irrigation congress which met in this city this week, is rapidly becoming known as one of the famous characters of the state. Mr. Hanley made the tour with the governors' special exhibit train and attracted much attention at every point visited by this train and its distinguished passengers.

Mr. Hanley, because of his large holdings of land and livestock, is often referred to as the "Cattle King of Harney County," while others insist on calling him "Colonel Bill" Hanley, because of his resemblance to a southerner.

"No, I am not a southerner," said Mr. Hanley, when invited to address the regular weekly gathering of southerners at the Portland Commercial club tomorrow noon, "but I will be glad to respond, if I can possibly find the time. No, I was born in Oregon. However, many have mistaken me for a southerner."

Mr. Hanley is president of the Central Oregon Development league and is one of its strongest boosters. Although extensively engaged in the raising of livestock, Mr. Hanley is a firm believer in the theory that Oregon will become a great state only by intensive farming of the soil, and for that reason he thinks the large holdings should be divided into smaller tracts, irrigated and placed under the highest state of cultivation. He is a big booster for a Greater Oregon and a believer in the slogan, "Oregonians for Oregon, instead of Oregon for Oregonians."

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 22.—After being buffeted three hours in a 40-mile gale while endeavoring to run from San Pedro to San Diego, two submarines, A-5 and A-2, were compelled to return to port here today. The little craft encountered the storm 40 miles from the outer San Pedro harbor. Constantly increasing and rougher seas made further progress dangerous and the order to return was given. The storm is said to be one of the severest these waters have known in the last year.

Policemen's Ball Success. The patrolmen's annual ball, which was held last night at the Army, was said to be the most successful that ever has been held by the local department, and the police band which furnished the music for the dance made a new and brilliant record for itself. It is estimated that 2500 people assembled at the hall. The proceeds will amount to nearly $4000, which will go to the policemen's relief fund.

Harrington May Be Called. Los Angeles, Feb. 22.—The federal grand jury investigating the matters growing out of the McNamara trial was scheduled to resume its sessions late today. After meeting this morning without hearing a witness, recess was taken. The county jury also was scheduled to meet today. It was believed that John R. Harrington of Chicago, associate counsel for the McNamaras, would be called to the witness stand during the day.

DANISH CAPITAL PUT ON A BOAT LINE

Capitalists Ask for Facts Regarding Wheat Exports From Portland.

That Danish capital is figuring on placing a line of steamships in service between this coast and Denmark was announced this morning through a letter received by the Portland Chamber of Commerce from Acting Danish Consul J. E. Bogild at San Francisco.

The letter seeks information relative to shippers and exporters and particularly those engaged in the shipping of wheat, much of which finds way to Denmark and other parts of northern Europe. Says the letter: "A Danish firm in Copenhagen which is a large importer of American wheat from the eastern states, wants to get in touch with wheat dealers on the Pacific coast, the establishment of a Danish line of steamships to and from this coast being in view."

Occasional tramp steamers flying the Danish flag have visited Portland. In the past, but no regular line has ever been operated on this coast. It is expected that the proposed line is being planned for the opening of the Panama canal and that one of its sources of revenue will be passenger traffic from northern Europe, particularly Scandinavia.

Information was received here some time ago that both Swedish and Norwegian steamship companies are preparing for the operation of regular liners to this coast upon the opening of the canal.

SENATOR BOURNE NOT INTERESTED IN MOTT

Washington, Feb. 22.—Senator Bourne did not exhibit much interest today when told that Dr. J. Mott, lifelong Republican, of North Carolina, had taken a bitter exception to the remarks made by Senator Bourne about the flagrant use of patronage to get a Taft delegation in North Carolina as evidenced by recent withdrawal from the senate of a number of federal appointments.

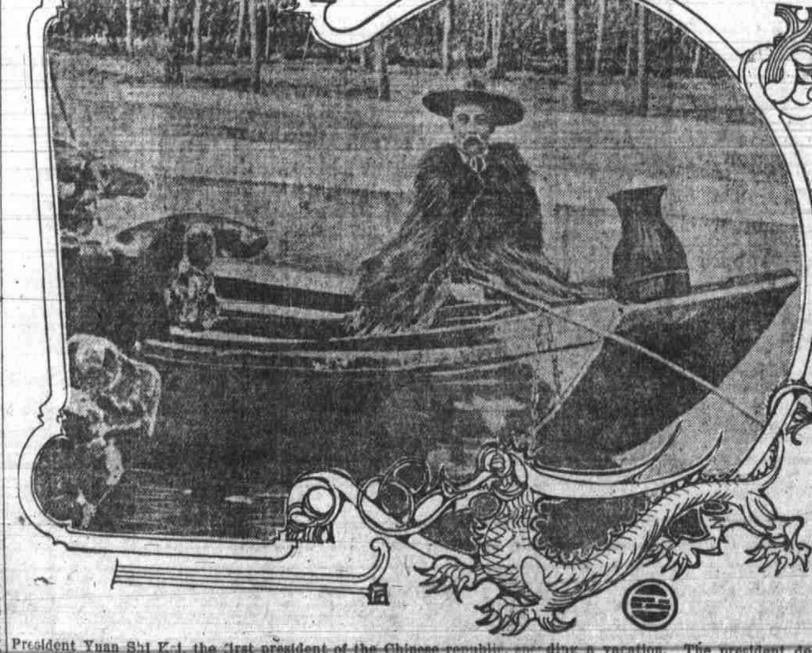

Dr. Mott is quoted in an interview as saying: "I shall send him my photograph and ask him to send me his, with the request that he give me a promise of a notice of the first day he goes out of the District of Columbia, and at a point where I can join him, and see the length of his eyelashes, and we will go over this thing face to face."

PUGILIST KETCHEL DIES; WALTERS IS ARRESTED

(United Press Leased Wire.) Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 22.—Joe Ketchel, pugilist, died here today as the result of injuries suffered in his bout with Billy Walters. Billy Walters was arrested here today by Captain William Fullam, commandant of the naval training station at which the bout occurred. Captain Fullam appointed a commission of three officers to investigate the affair.

Harrington May Be Called. Los Angeles, Feb. 22.—The federal grand jury investigating the matters growing out of the McNamara trial was scheduled to resume its sessions late today. After meeting this morning without hearing a witness, recess was taken. The county jury also was scheduled to meet today. It was believed that John R.
